Skiffington Charges State Wants More School Power

By JOHN KUGLIN
Gazette Telegraph Staff Writer

State Sen. Lawrence T. Skiffington (R-Manitou Springs) this morning said the State Department of Education wanted the power to consolidate all school districts in El Paso and other "unreorganized" countries.

"They wanted to do more than just close rural schools," the veteran legislator said.

A proposal by the State Department of Education to close 18 small high school, including six in El Paso County, was turned down last week by Sen. Skiffington and other members of the state legislature's Interim Committee on Education.

The Manitou senator revealed additional details of the proposal which will not be made public until July or August, according to Dr. Elbie Gann, assistant commissioner of education.

"If our committee had approved the entire proposal and it would be passed by the legislature in January," Sen. Skiffington said, "the State Department of Education would have been given the power to consolidate school districts without consulting the legislature.

Nikita Charged With Sacrificing World Revolution

TOKYO (AP) — Communist North Viet Nam accused Soviet Premier Khrushchev today of sacrificing world revolution to the needs of Moscow policy and of trying to bludgeon Red-ruled nations into doing his bidding.

An article in Hoc Tap, theoretical journal of the North Vietnamese Communist party, also blasted Khrushchev's attempt to marshall all Communist nations' economies under Soviet leadership in what he calls "Socialist division of labor."

The article was written by Deputy Premier Pham Hung and distributed by Peking's New China News Agency in summary form.

The article implied that Khrushchev was interested primarily in the needs of the Soviet Union, and building up Soviet forces while withholding military help

Exile Anti-Castro Chief Captured In Bahamas

By THEODORE A. EDIGER

NASSAU, Bahamas (AP)—Cuban exile anti-Castro leader Manuel Ray, captured by British authorities on a Caribbean island after missing an announced rendezvous with his Communist-ruled homeland, vowed today that he will be there soon.

"Sooner than most people think," said Ray. "It is a matter of days."

Ray and seven companions were reported heading for Miami after being fined $14 each on illegal firearms possession charges and ordered deported.

"But my destination is Cuba," said Ray, 39, who defected from Fidel Castro after serving as his Havana underground leader in the revolution that toppled Dictator Fulgencio Batista.

As to why he missed his May 20 Cuban infiltration deadline, Ray said: "Cuba was placed on an emergency war footing at that time. Troops were mobilized. We have to use common sense. We must adjust plans to conditions."

Ray's statements were relayed by a spokesman for his organization, Revolutionary Junta in Miami. He said Bahamian authorities had forbidden him to speak to newsmen here.

"I will miss my May 20 date by just a short time," said Ray. "Such a short time that from a practical standpoint it makes no difference."

Boys Accused Of Torturing Parade Horse

The animal's heartbroken owner, Art Vi[illegible], said he rode Chief, the horse, in President Eisenhower's inaugural parade in 1953.

Reports said the boys climbed over a five-foot-high fence Thursday and methodically maimed the 17-year-old gelding.

"I'll never have a horse like that again," grieved [illegible] who said he must decide whether to put the animal [illegible] out of its misery.

By ROBERT S. ALLEN and PAUL SCOTT

WASHINGTON —(Special) — The State Department is secretly engaged in one of the most astounding "refugee relocation" operations on record.

Involved in this extraordinary affair are thousands of Russians whom Red China mysteriously is permitting to "flee" from their long-time settlements in the Harbin area in northeastern Manchuria.

Already more than 10,000 have reached Hong Kong, several thousand miles from Harbin, and other "refugees" are arriving at the rate of several hundred a month.

Aim of the State Department is to resettle these unscreened Russians, who have lived for years under Communist Chinese rule, in various countries, among them Australia, New Zealand, Canada, Latin America and the U.S. — if congressional authorization can be wangled.

Anticipated cost of this huge and so-far-carefully-unannounced operation is $25 million — to be borne entirely by the U.S.

Various agencies are being tapped for these funds, including foreign aid.

All this is being done with the full knowledge and approval of President Johnson. The necessary backstage directives have been handled by Secretary Dean Rusk.

In immediate charge is Abba Schwartz, controversial head of the Bureau of Consular & Security Affairs, who has been in Hong Kong for several weeks setting up the resettlement machinery.

In this unpublicized project, Schwartz is encountering two embarrassing difficulties:

One is the sinister record of several thousand of these Russian "refugees" resettled in 1960, with U.S. assistance, in Brazil, Ecuador, Colombia and Mexico. In all of these countries, a number have been expelled or jailed on grounds of espionage, violence and joining local Communists in attempts to overthrow the government.

The other problem is the vehement opposition of U.S. and British authorities in Hong Kong, who are bombarding Washington and London with blunt warnings against the operation.

Stamp Dealers Skeptical About 'Lost Cosmonauts'

LONDON (AP) — One of the world's leading stamp dealers cast doubt today on a report that the Soviet Union has issued a commemorative stamp honoring three astronauts lost in orbit.

A Soviet stamp expert at Stanley Gibbons Ltd. said, "We get all new issue stamps from the Soviet Union. We know nothing about this one."

He was commenting on a report published in a Sidney, Ohio philately weekly, the tabloid Linn Stamp News, saying the Soviet Union had issued a stamp in honor of astronauts "Fedorenko, Usiskin and Wasenok," who "are perpetually circling the globe in their special coffins."

The account, written by the stamp weekly's London correspondent, said the stamp was "snatched out without further promotion" by the Soviets and that a memorial had been erected in honor of the space men at a place called [illegible]

Two Men Keep Appointment After 15 Years

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—In Florida on June 4, 1949, at exactly noon, Peter Sholley and Miles McDonnell vowed to meet again—in 15 years, to the very hour—on the northeast corner of Hollywood and Vine.

Sholley searched the crowd—then rushed over and threw an emotional bearhug about the slender, ill-clad figure of a woolly-bearded news vendor.

It was McDonnell.

Sholley recognized him in a flash, even though McDonnell, an attorney from Winter Park, Fla., had disguised himself in an attempt to fool his friend.

The pair made their vow while students at Rollins College in Winter Park. The penalty for not showing up: Half of the forgetful one's 1963 income.

And why the northeast corner of Hollywood and Vine? because, they reasoned, it was so famous they'd have no trouble finding it.

Two Men Die in Plane Crash in Pike Forest

FAIRPLAY, Colo (AP)— Pilot Miles B. Woods and Charles W. Bishop, both of Lakewood, died Thursday in the crash of their light plane into the rocky slopes of Stoll Mountain, in Pike National Forest, Sheriff Joe Hurst said.

Woods and Bishop, both about 40 years old, were burned beyond recognition by fire following the crash. The flames spread to some underbrush and trees in the area, 53 miles west of Colorado Springs, but Pike National Forest Rangers quickly put out the fire.

Hurst said the four-passenger plane failed by about 200 feet to clear the summit of the mountain, three miles north of Eleven Mile Lake. Fishermen at the lake reported the crash and fire.

The sheriff said no vehicles could reach the crash scene and the last mile "was real hard to climb." He said efforts would be made to take pack horses to the site today for removal of the bodies.

ITU Election Challenged; 'Irregularities' Charged

The International Typographical Union election will be challenged, said Jesse R Manbeck of Washington, a member of the three-man board of electors for the recent election

Manbeck said the election will be challenged on grounds that irregularities were reported in returns from 62 locals, involving about 7,000 votes.

ITU headquarters reported President Elmer Brown and other incumbent officers reelected. They said Brown was elected to his fourth two-year term over Fred R Hunt of Chicago by a vote of 40,945 to 38,094

Manbeck was defeated by incumbent 1st Vice President John J. Pilch, 41,999 to 36,463, wire services reported

He said 35 locals submitted returns after the deadline for reporting, four locals submitted revised returns, seven local ballot boxes did not have the official seal of the union, and there were other discrepancies.

Manbeck said the challenge would also contend that the electors' board, which recessed Wednesday, conducted its business in a "chaotic" manner and that ITU headquarters in Colorado Springs had issued "misleading statements" to the press before final results were in

Before the final tabulation of votes, a spokesman for the union said majorities would be smaller than in the last election and officials could not attribute this development to any particular factor.

The Independent Party, which opposed Brown and the incumbents, made the operation of the Free Press in Colorado Springs one of the controversial issues in the campaign.

The Free Press has cost the ITU membership $2.25 million in strike benefits and special assistance, according to the financial reports of the ITU as published in the official ITU journals since May 1947, said The Independent Newsletter, official publication of the Los Angeles, Calif., Independent Club.

According to the ITU insurgents, the ITU paid the Free Press $185,535.08 for the six month period ending May 1963 and $206,000 for the six month period ending November 1963.

The Independent Newsletter said:

"It will be interesting to see what the next six-month report will show as justification for this expenditure of $2.25 million.

"The only rational reason advanced so far is, that we must have a Union paper in the city where the ITU is located."

During the election Independent Party organizers paid at least one visit to the Free Press.

A campaign argument used by the Independent Party was that though the Free Press was subsidized by the ITU it failed to hire ITU mailers The mailers union is a subsidiary of the ITU.

The union - supported Free Press has refused to let the Newspaper Guild organize its news staff.

Hope Reported For Settlement At Hillsdale

LANSING, Mich (AP)—Michigan's mediation director today sounded hopeful that a weekend settlement could be reached in the violent Essex Wire Corp strike which brought the National Guard to Hillsdale

Malcolm R Lovell Jr., chairman of the State Labor Mediation Board, said he was "hopeful that we can finish this (bargaining) up today or Saturday."

"We're meeting in an atmosphere that is cordial and constructive," he said after company and union negotiators emerged from a 10-hour session at 2:30 a.m. They scheduled another meeting for 3 p m.

"Most of the minor issues have been cleared up," Lovell said. "We're down to the major issues."

There also were developments outside the bargaining room. A union leader accused Gov. George W. Romney of ruining chances for a settlement soon And a leader of a non-involved union added his criticism of Romney for allowing Essex to operate with nonunion employes, while using the National Guard to keep peace.

Scranton Is Best Choice for Veep, Nixon Declares

By BARRY SCHWEID

WASHINGTON (AP) — Two potential challengers of Sen. Barry Goldwater for the Republican presidential nomination—Richard M. Nixon and Gov. William W. Scranton of Pennsylvania—have announced they will have no part of any stop-Goldwater drive.

Some Republican leaders who oppose Goldwater's candidacy have hoped that one or the other would leap into the GOP race, become the rallying point for a coalition and take the play from the Arizona conservtive at the national convention.

But as Goldwater rested away from the political storm and strife and his bandwagon appeared to be taking on more steam, Nixon, the party's standard bearer in 1960, said on Long Island Thursday night he would not take part in any stop-Goldwater movement.

The former vice president said such a move "would so badly split the party that whoever got the nomination would find it wasn't worth anything at all."

In Harrisburg, Pa., Scranton said he would not be "part and parcel" of any movement to stop Goldwater and that after

'Peace of Mind' Credited For Lack of Heart Attacks

ROSETO, Pa. (AP) — "We have peace of mind."

That's the answer Mayor George Giaquinto, 50, of Roseto has for medical experts who are somewhat puzzled by the low incident of heart attacks in this little Italian-American community of fat, yet healthy and happy people.

A seven-year medical study conducted in the northeastern Pennsylvania community made up of 1,630 has shown a death rate from heart attacks that is strikingly low—despite a passionate love for fattening foods and wine.

Medical researchers, who Thursday published their report on the eating habits and social behavior of the residents of Roseto, said the most striking feature of the community "was the way in which people seemed to enjoy life. They were gay, boisterous and unpretentious.

"Whether or not their sensible way of life contributed to their good health is still to be determined," the report added.

Roseto's mayor tends to agree with the tentative conclusions of the report.

"We're a cultural people. The main thing is that we have peace of mind. I guess there's a little bit of heredity in it, too," said the mayor.

In Roseto, 95 per cent of the residents are first, second or third generation Italians who have maintained many of their traditional Italian customs.

Yet the incidence of death due to heart attacks among these people overweight by medical standards, was considerably less than ethnically-different neighboring towns — Bangor, Nazareth, Stroudsburg, and East Stroudsburg.

It's a puzzle to scientists who have been pointing at America's rich diet as a prime factor in arterial diseases and heart attacks.

Amos 'n' Andy Stir Chicago Negro Protest

By BOB OLMSTEAD

CHICAGO (AP) — Amos 'n' Andy returned to Chicago television Thursday night with an off-screen chorus of protest from Negro civil rights spokesmen.

"Tonight inaugurates the long, hot summer," snapped Chuck Stone, editor of The Defender, a Negro daily newspaper.

But as much as civil rights leaders deplored it, some said they wished there were more indignation among average Negroes.

Stone, whose paper largely serves Chicago's 900,000 Negroes, said he thinks the program introduced "the long, hot summer" of troubled race relations for two reasons: "First, white people all like it. Amos 'n' Andy really is funny. No doubt about it.

"But I doubt that most white people can watch that show and say to themselves that all Negroes aren't like that. They can't. And first thing you know, one of them is going to be calling some Negro, 'Hey, Amos.'

"Second, I'm a littlle disturbed about what it can do to young Negroes who are growing up, who are searching for racial pride. I'm afraid it will make them hate white people even more."

But, he conceded, there hasn't been an uproar in the Negro community. "Most Negroes are just going to watch it and enjoy it."

John Weigel, president of WCIU-TV, defended the show on

Invasion Jitters Renewed on Troubled Cyprus

NICOSIA, Cyprus (UPI)—New invasion jitters troubled Cyprus today with reports of a buildup of troops and ships in the port of Iskenderun, Turkey, 120 miles north of this Mediterranean island.

Turkey has threatened to invade Cyprus if necessary to protect the Turkish Cypriot minority from the Greek Cypriot majority.

Unofficial reports said Iskenderun was beginning to look like the headquarters of a military operation. Gen. Cemal Turla, commander of the Turkish Second Army, was reported to have moved his headquarters there from Konya Wednesday.

The situation was reminiscent of invasion fears earlier this year when Turkish ships with troops aboard took part in exercises off the south coast of Turkey while Greek and Turkish Cypriots battled on the island.

Rebels Score Victory Over Congo Troops

ELIZABETHVILLE, Congo (UPI) — Communist-backed rebels, including boys as young as 12, have scored new victories over Congo troops near Bukavu in Kivu Province, it was reported today.

An army source said "there have been some losses and the number of wounded is considered heavy."

An army source said figures reaching here said the rebels involved in Monday's attack on Kamanyola, a key provincial town 40 miles south of Bukavu, suffered 150 dead during a frontal charge.

He said many of the attacking rebels were children no more than 12 or 13 years old carrying lances and short spears.

The situation at Kamanyola is still serious, the source said. He said the town is encircled by rebels.

Other towns and villages in the 90-mile Ruzizi Valley also are still in rebel hands despite a sporadic six-week army campaign to clean up the area.

Comparative Lull Settles Over Viet Battlefield

By PETER ARNETT

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — American officers in South Viet Nam can't agree whether to be relieved or suspicious about the comparative lull that has settled over the country's battlefields.

"Communist Viet Cong activity runs in cycles," a senior American officer commented. "I guess they are slowing down for the time being."

Other Americans view the lull with foreboding.

"We haven't had word of hard-core Viet Cong activity in weeks," an adviser to a Vietnamese division said. "We get action, but only from the local Communist militia. Those hard-core units must be planning some new strategy, and that can only mean bad business for us."

Communist activity was intense during April and part of May. Several major engagements were fought.

Late May and early June, however, has been a period of lull.

"The rainy weather, which started a couple of weeks ago, is not really a factor because it is no deterrent to Viet Cong action," one officer said.

Other Americans suggested the lull may have something to do with developments in Laos.

"With the pressure on in Laos in recent weeks, the West was so edgy that continued aggressiveness by the Communist here might have panicked everyone into doing something drastic," one commented.

"The Communists don't like to face drastic action from an angry West. They prefer to nibble a little, and chew it over at their leisure. That's why they have slowed down in Viet Nam."

Many Americans see more vigorous action by the South Vietnamese military forces as a factor contributing to the Viet Cong's comparative quiet.

"Those troops are getting out there and beating the bushes," an American helicopter pilot said. "They aren't killing many Viet Cong, but they must be keeping them off balance."

Exile Anti-Castro Chief Captured In Bahamas

By THEODORE A. EDIGER

NASSAU, Bahamas (AP)—Cuban exile anti-Castro leader Manuel Ray, captured by British authorities on a Caribbean island after missing an announced rendezvous with his Communist-ruled homeland, vowed today that he will be there soon.

"Sooner than most people think," said Ray. "It is a matter of days."

Ray and seven companions were reported heading for Miami after being fined $14 each on illegal firearms possession charges and ordered deported.

"But my destination is Cuba," said Ray, 39, who defected from Fidel Castro after serving as his Havana underground leader in the revolution that toppled Dictator Fulgencio Batista.

As to why he missed his May 20 Cuban infiltration deadline, Ray said: "Cuba was placed on an emergency war footing at that time. Troops were mobilized. We have to use common sense. We must adjust plans to conditions."

Ray's statements were relayed by a spokesman for his organization, Revolutionary Junta in Miami. He said Bahamian authorities had forbidden him to speak to newsmen here.

"I will miss my May 20 date by just a short time," said Ray. "Such a short time that from a practical standpoint it makes no difference."

Boys Accused Of Torturing Parade Horse

The animal's heartbroken owner, Art Viargues, said he rode Chief, the horse, in President Eisenhower's inaugural parade in 1953.

Reports said the boys climbed over a five-foot-high fence Thursday and methodically maimed the 17-year-old gelding.

"I'll never have a horse like that one," grieved Viargues, who said he must decide whether to put the animal mount out of its misery.

By ROBERT S. ALLEN and PAUL SCOTT

WASHINGTON —(Special) — The State Department is secretly engaged in one of the most astounding "refugee relocation" operations on record.

Involved in this extraordinary affair are thousands of Russians whom Red China mysteriously is permitting to "flee" from their long-time settlements in the Harbin area in northeastern Manchuria.

Already more than 10,000 have reached Hong Kong, several thousand miles from Harbin, and other "refugees" are arriving at the rate of several hundred a month.

Aim of the State Department is to resettle these unscreened Russians, who have lived for years under Communist Chinese rule, in various countries, among them Australia, New Zealand, Canada, Latin America and the U.S. — if congressional authorization can be wangled.

Anticipated cost of this huge and so-far-carefully-unannounced operation is $25 million — to be borne entirely by the U.S.

Various agencies are being tapped for these funds, including foreign aid.

All this is being done with the full knowledge and approval of President Johnson. The necessary backstage directives have been handled by Secretary Dean Rusk.

In immediate charge is Abba Schwartz, controversial head of the Bureau of Consular & Security Affairs, who has been in Hong Kong for several weeks setting up the resettlement machinery.

In this unpublicized project, Schwartz is encountering two embarrassing difficulties:

One is the sinister record of several thousand of these Russian "refugees" resettled in 1960, with U.S. assistance, in Brazil, Ecuador, Colombia and Mexico. In all of these countries, a number have been expelled or jailed on grounds of espionage, violence and joining local Communists in attempts to overthrow the government.

The other problem is the vehement opposition of U.S. and British authorities in Hong Kong, who are bombarding Washington and London with blunt warnings against the operation.

Stamp Dealers Skeptical About 'Lost Cosmonauts'

LONDON (AP) — One of the world's leading stamp dealers cast doubt today on a report that the Soviet Union has issued a commemorative stamp honoring three astronauts lost in orbit.

A Soviet stamp expert at Stanley Gibbons Ltd. said, "We get all new issue stamps from the Soviet Union. We know nothing about this one."

He was commenting on a report published in a Sidney, Ohio philately weekly, the tabloid Linn Stamp News, saying the Soviet Union had issued a stamp in honor of astronauts "Fedorenko, Ussiskin and Wasenok," who "are perpetually circling the globe in their special coffins."

The account, written by the stamp weekly's London correspondent said the stamp was "sneaked out without further promotion" by the Soviets and that a memorial had been erected in honor of the space men at a place called Saransk.

The correspondent writes un-

Two Men Keep Appointment After 15 Years

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—In Florida on June 4, 1949, at exactly noon, Peter Sholley and Miles McDonnell vowed to meet again —in 15 years, to the very hour— on the northeast corner of Hollywood and Vine.

Sholley searched the crowd— then rushed over and threw an emotional bearhug about the slender, ill-clad figure of a woolly-bearded news vendor.

It was McDonnell.

Sholley recognized him in a flash, even though McDonnell, an attorney from Winter Park, Fla., had disguised himself in an attempt to fool his friend.

The pair made their vow while students at Rollins College in Winter Park. The penalty for not showing up: Half of the forgetful one's 1963 income.

And why the northeast corner of Hollywood and Vine? because, they reasoned, it was so famous they'd have no trouble finding it.

'Peace of Mind' Credited For Lack of Heart Attacks

ROSETO, Pa. (AP) — "We have peace of mind."

That's the answer Mayor George Giaquinto, 50, of Roseto has for medical experts who are somewhat puzzled by the low incident of heart attacks in this little Italian-American community of fat, yet healthy and happy people.

A seven-year medical study conducted in the northeastern Pennsylvania community made up of 1,630 has shown a death rate from heart attacks that is strikingly low—despite a passionate love for fattening foods and wine.

Medical researchers, who Thursday published their report on the eating habits and social behavior of the residents of Roseto, said the most striking feature of the community "was the way in which people seemed to enjoy life. They were gay, boisterous and unpretentious.

"Whether or not their sensible way of life contributed to their good health is still to be determined," the report added.

Roseto's mayor tends to agree with the tentative conclusions of the report.

"We're a cultural people. The main thing is that we have peace of mind. I guess there's a little bit of heredity in it, too," said the mayor.

In Roseto, 95 per cent of the residents are first, second or third generation Italians who have maintained many of their traditional Italian customs.

Yet the incidence of death due to heart attacks among these people overweight by medical standards, was considerably less than ethnically-different neighboring towns — Bangor, Nazareth, Stroudsburg, and East Stroudsburg.

It's a puzzle to scientists who have been pointing at America's rich diet as a prime factor in arterial diseases and heart attacks.

Two Men Die in Plane Crash in Pike Forest

FAIRPLAY, Colo. (AP)— Pilot Miles B. Woods and Charles W. Bishop, both of Lakewood, died Thursday in the crash of their light plane into the rocky slopes of Stoll Mountain, in Pike National Forest, Sheriff Joe Hurst said.

Woods and Bishop, both about 40 years old, were burned beyond recognition by fire following the crash. The flames spread to some underbrush and trees in the area, 53 miles west of Colorado Springs, but Pike National Forest Rangers quickly put out the fire.

Hurst said the four-passenger plane failed by about 200 feet to clear the summit of the mountain, three miles north of Eleven Mile Lake. Fishermen at the lake reported the crash and fire.

The sheriff said no vehicles could reach the crash scene and the last mile "was real hard to climb." He said efforts would be made to take pack horses to the site today for removal of the bodies.

ITU Election Challenged; 'Irregularities' Charged

The International Typographical Union election will be challenged, said Jesse R. Manbeck of Washington, a member of the three-man board of electors for the recent election.

Manbeck said the election will be challenged on grounds that irregularities were reported in returns from 62 locals, involving about 7,000 votes.

ITU headquarters reported President Elmer Brown and other incumbent officers reelected. They said Brown was elected to his fourth two-year term over Fred R. Hunt of Chicago by a vote of 40,945 to 38,094.

Manbeck was defeated by incumbent 1st Vice President John J. Pilch, 41,999 to 36,463, wire services reported.

He said 35 locals submitted returns after the deadline for reporting, four locals submitted revised returns, seven local ballot boxes did not have the official seal of the union, and there were other discrepancies.

Manbeck said the challenge would also contend that the electors' board, which recessed Wednesday, conducted its business in a "chaotic" manner and that ITU headquarters in Colorado Springs had issued "misleading statements" to the press before final results were in.

Before the final tabulation of votes, a spokesman for the union said majorities would be smaller than in the last election and officials could not attribute this development to any particular factor.

The Independent Party, which opposed Brown and the incumbents, made the operation of the Free Press in Colorado Springs one of the controversial issues in the campaign.

The Free Press has cost the ITU membership $2.25 million in strike benefits and special assistance, according to the financial reports of the ITU as published in the official ITU journals since May 1947, said The Independent Newsletter, official publication of the Los Angeles, Calif., Independent Club.

According to the ITU insurgents, the ITU paid the Free Press $185,535.08 for the six month period ending May 1963 and $206,000 for the six month period ending November 1963.

The Independent Newsletter said:

"It will be interesting to see what the next six-month report will show as justification for this expenditure of $2.25 million.

"The only rational reason advanced so far is, that we must have a Union paper in the city where the ITU is located."

During the election Independent Party organizers paid at least one visit to the Free Press.

A campaign argument used by the Independent Party was that though the Free Press was subsidized by the ITU it failed to hire ITU mailers. The mailers union is a subsidiary of the ITU.

The union-supported Free Press has refused to let the Newspaper Guild organize its news staff.

Hope Reported For Settlement At Hillsdale

LANSING, Mich. (AP)—Michigan's mediation director today sounded hopeful that a weekend settlement could be reached in the violent Essex Wire Corp. strike which brought the National Guard to Hillsdale.

Malcolm R. Lovell Jr., chairman of the State Labor Mediation Board, said he was "hopeful that we can finish this (bargaining) up today or Saturday."

"We're meeting in an atmosphere that is cordial and constructive," he said after company and union negotiators emerged from a 10-hour session at 2:30 a.m. They scheduled another meeting for 3 p.m.

"Most of the minor issues have been cleared up," Lovell said. "We're down to the major issues."

There also were developments outside the bargaining room. A union leader accused Gov. George W. Romney of ruining chances for a settlement soon. And a leader of a non-involved union added his criticism of Romney for allowing Essex to operate with nonunion employes, while using the National Guard to keep peace.

Scranton Is Best Choice for Veep, Nixon Declares

By BARRY SCHWEID

WASHINGTON (AP) — Two potential challengers of Sen. Barry Goldwater for the Republican presidential nomination—Richard M. Nixon and Gov. William W. Scranton of Pennsylvania—have announced they will have no part of any stop-Goldwater drive.

Some Republican leaders who oppose Goldwater's candidacy have hoped that one or the other would leap into the GOP race, become the rallying point for a coalition and take the play from the Arizona conservtive at the national convention.

But as Goldwater rested away from the political storm and strife and his bandwagon appeared to be taking on more steam, Nixon, the party's standard bearer in 1960, said on Long Island Thursday night he would not take part in any stop-Goldwater movement.

The former vice president said such a move "would so badly split the party that whoever got the nomination would find it wasn't worth anything at all."

In Harrisburg, Pa., Scranton said he would not be "part and parcel" of any movement to stop Goldwater and that after

Amos 'n' Andy Stir Chicago Negro Protest

By BOB OLMSTEAD

CHICAGO (AP) — Amos 'n' Andy returned to Chicago television Thursday night with an off-screen chorus of protest from Negro civil rights spokesmen.

"Tonight inaugurates the long, hot summer," snapped Chuck Stone, editor of The Defender, a Negro daily newspaper.

But as much as civil rights leaders deplored it, some said they wished there were more indignation among average Negroes.

Stone, whose paper largely serves Chicago's 900,000 Negroes, said he thinks the program introduced "the long, hot summer" of troubled race relations for two reasons: "First, white people all like it. Amos 'n' Andy really is funny. No doubt about it.

"But I doubt that most white people can watch that show and say to themselves that all Negroes aren't like that. They can't. And first thing you know, one of them is going to be calling some Negro, 'Hey, Amos.'

"Second, I'm a littlle disturbed about what it can do to young Negroes who are growing up, who are searching for racial pride. I'm afraid it will make them hate white people even more."

But, he conceded, there hasn't been an uproar in the Negro community. "Most Negroes are just going to watch it and enjoy it."

John Weigel, president of WCIU-TV, defended the show on

Invasion Jitters Renewed on Troubled Cyprus

NICOSIA, Cyprus (UPI)—New invasion jitters troubled Cyprus today with reports of a buildup of troops and ships in the port of Iskenderun, Turkey, 120 miles north of this Mediterranean island.

Turkey has threatened to invade Cyprus if necessary to protect the Turkish Cypriot minority from the Greek Cypriot majority.

Unofficial reports said Iskenderun was beginning to look like the headquarters of a military operation. Gen. Cemal Turla, commander of the Turkish Second Army, was reported to have moved his headquarters there from Konya Wednesday.

The situation was reminiscent of invasion fears earlier this year when Turkish ships with troops aboard took part in exercises off the south coast of Turkey while Greek and Turkish Cypriots battled on the island.

Rebels Score Victory Over Congo Troops

ELIZABETHVILLE, Congo (UPI) — Communist-backed rebels, including boys as young as 12, have scored new victories over Congo troops near Bukavu in Kivu Province, it was reported today.

An army source said "there have been some losses and the number of wounded is considered heavy."

An army source said figures reaching here said the rebels involved in Monday's attack on Kamanyola, a key provincial town 40 miles south of Bukavu, suffered 150 dead during a frontal charge.

He said many of the attacking rebels were children no more than 12 or 13 years old carrying lances and short spears.

The situation at Kamanyola is still serious, the source said. He said the town is encircled by rebels.

Other towns and villages in the 90-mile Ruzizi Valley also are still in rebel hands despite a sporadic six-week army campaign to clean up the area.

Comparative Lull Settles Over Viet Battlefield

By PETER ARNETT

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — American officers in South Viet Nam can't agree whether to be relieved or suspicious about the comparative lull that has settled over the country's battlefields.

"Communist Viet Cong activity runs in cycles," a senior American officer commented. "I guess they are slowing down for the time being."

Other Americans view the lull with foreboding.

"We haven't had word of hard-core Viet Cong activity in weeks," an adviser to a Vietnamese division said. "We get action, but only from the local Communist militia. Those hard-core units must be planning some new strategy, and that can only mean bad business for us."

Communist activity was intense during April and part of May. Several major engagements were fought.

Late May and early June, however, has been a period of lull.

"The rainy weather, which started a couple of weeks ago, is not really a factor because it is no deterrent to Viet Cong action," one officer said.

Other Americans suggested the lull may have something to do with developments in Laos.

"With the pressure on in Laos in recent weeks, the West was so edgy that continued aggressiveness by the Communist here might have panicked everyone into doing something drastic," one commented.

"The Communists don't like to face drastic action from an angry West. They prefer to nibble a little, and chew it over at their leisure. That's why they have slowed down in Viet Nam."

Many Americans see more vigorous action by the South Vietnamese military forces as a factor contributing to the Viet Cong's comparative quiet.

"Those troops are getting out there and beating the bushes," an American helicopter pilot said. "They aren't killing many Viet Cong, but they must be keeping them off balance."

Today in Washington

WASHINGTON (AP) — In the news from Washington:

NO EXIT: A Republican "space task force" accused the National Aeronautics and Space Administration today of failing to provide rescue means for Gemini spacecraft.

The task force said "the hazard planning of the Gemini program and the apparent lack of interest in assuring a reasonable level of safety for our astronauts is highly irresponsible and merits further investigation by Congress."

Rep. Charles S. Gubser, R-Calif., task force chairman, noted that Dr. Edward C. Welsh, acting chairman of the National Space Council, has said the United States must be prepared to accept casualties on space flights.

Gubser said this could be accepted only if every possible step has been taken to prevent such tragedies by developing adequate safety gear and space rescue equipment, and by improved manufacturing methods.

There was no immediate comment from the space agency.

ANOTHER LOOK: A second Senate inquiry into the impact on the nation's business of defense spending shifts and cutbacks was announced today by Sen. John Sparkman, D-Ala.

He said the Small Business Committee, which he heads, will open hearings June 24, concentrating initially on military relocations in New Jersey. Problems affecting other areas involved in military economies will be aired at hearings later this year, Sparkman said.

Sparkman noted in a statement that much has been said and written about the impact of defense reductions on big business. But, he said, there is a need for his committee to start assessing the effects on small business.

AIR CRASH: A tape recording of the last radio transmission from the airliner that crashed near San Francisco May 7, killing all 44 aboard, seems to confirm that a passenger shot the pilot.

"Skipper's shot. We've been shot. Tryin' to help," was the desperate cry on the tape released Wednesday by the Civil Aeronautics Board and the FBI.

The voice was identified as that of copilot Ray E. Andress. A revolver found in the plane wreckage was traced to one of the passengers who had taken out a large amount of flight insurance.

Bell Telephone Laboratories, Murray Hill, N.J., assisted the CAB in analyzing the blurred conversation, the final communication between the Pacific Air Lines F27 and the Federal Aviation Agency control tower at San Francisco. The plane was approaching the city on a flight from Reno, Nev.

WORTH THE RISK

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — J. R. McAfee, a retired Methodist minister, recalls the time a young girl rode to church on a horse and was left in an embarrassing position.

As she started to dismount, her dress caught in the saddle and she hung suspended, feet off the ground, in a sea of petticoats.

The minister, noticing a bunch of teen-agers gaping at the spectacle, warned them to "look the other way, or you're liable to be struck blind."

One of the bigger boys smiled as he slapped a hand over his left eye. "I think I'll risk one eye."

Anti-Castro Plane Flight Is Denied

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Pentagon told a House Committee today that investigation by four government agencies showed that a reported flight May 25 by an anti-Castro plane to Cuba and return without detection never took place.

The Pentagon said the story was concocted for publicity purposes.

The Defense Department said also that Frank Fiorini, president of the International Anti-Communist Brigade, which was supposed to have conducted the flight, had signed a statement saying:

"To the best of my knowledge a so-called 'Operation Phantom,' a raid in Cuba on May 25, 1964, did not take place. I declare that U.S. radar defenses were not violated while leaving or entering U.S. territory."

Anti-Castro Plane Flight Is Denied

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Pentagon told a House Committee today that investigation by four government agencies showed that a reported flight May 25 by an anti-Castro plane to Cuba and return without detection never took place.

The Pentagon said the story was concocted for publicity purposes.

The Defense Department said also that Frank Fiorini, president of the International Anti-Communist Brigade, which was supposed to have conducted the flight, had signed a statement saying:

"To the best of my knowledge a so-called 'Operation Phantom,' a raid in Cuba on May 25, 1964, did not take place. I declare that U.S. radar defenses were not violated while leaving or entering U.S. territory."

DEMANDS WHOLE TRUTH

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—Mrs. Harry Muldowan's youngster proudly told a neighbor "I'm 4 years old today. How old are you?"

She smiled and replied: "I'm 5."

"I know," the boy said. "But how many 5's?"

The hurricane season in the United States officially begins June 15, although the worst storms are expected in August, September and October.

Sheriff's Office Nabs Armed AWOL Soldier

An AWOL soldier from Ft. Lewis, Wash., who was armed with a .22 calibre pistol was picked up by the sheriff's office and handed over to the military Thursday.

According to the report, Deputy Sheriff Harry Orvis received a disturbance call and was told that Johnnie Bailey, the missing soldier, was in the area. Deputy Sheriff Jack Ames went to Bailey's home at 81 Easy St. where Bailey's car was parked. He talked with the man's father who said he did not know the whereabouts of his son.

As Ames was talking with the father, Orvis was keeping an eye on the house and saw young Bailey run through one of the rooms. He was apprehended hiding in a closet.

D.C. WASH

By G. VAN DER HEUVEL

WASHINGTON — Architect John Carl Warneke has completed drawings of the gravesite memorial for President Kennedy. The plans, which will incorporate the eternal flame, were drawn up by Warneke after months of studying similar historical monuments. They now await the approval of the Kennedy family.

Warneke is the architect President Kennedy chose to head the restoration of Lafayette Square across from the White House. He is also adviser to the architectural comittee for the Kennedy Memorial Library to be built at Harvard.

Jacqueline Kennedy, who spends most of her time working on projects she thinks will best serve to perpetuate her husband's memory, suddenly found her immediate projects all coming to a climax. She has been working for months assorting personal mementos of her husband's and deciding which should go into the traveling exhibit which began its cross-country tour in New York this week.

She has been working on the John F Kennedy memorial stamp that was issued May 29 and she appeared on the Telstar program commemorating his 47th birthday the same day. She has also completed the taped interviews with former Presidential assistant Arthur Schlesinger Jr. for the memorial library.

JACKIE TO SPEND SUMMER AT CAPE COD

Last weekend found her in Hyannis Port, Mass., with her children and she will spend the summer there as she has every summer since she was married. In August, she will go to Newport where she has rented a house next door to her mother and stepfather, Mr. and Mrs. Auchincloss. She has said that she wants to bring her children up in the atmosphere in which their father grew up and she wants to continue their routine much as it has always been.

Whenever possible she has taken the children to their country home on Rattlesnake Mountain in Atoka, Va., which she designed and which she has named Wexford after the Kennedy ancestral county in Ireland. There Jacqueline Kennedy can relax and Caroline and John Jr are free to run through the woods and play or ride their ponies Macaroni and Leprechoun, away from the watchful eyes of the American public (Tex, the western pony given to them by President Johnson was broken and schooled last year and will soon join the stable.)

Pam Turnure, Mrs. Kennedy's press secretary, said the house would not be rented this summer. Eyebrows went sky high here last summer when the Kennedy's leased the house for the summer after spending only one weekend there after it was completed.

INTENDS TO LIVE IN WASHINGTON

Despite reports to the contrary, there are no apartments in New York, no government posts, and no extensive traveling abroad in Mrs. Kennedy's immediate plans. Next fall Caroline and John will be in school in Washington and their mother intends to stay at home with them.

John, who will be 4 on Nov. 25, will attend a nursery school conducted by Alice Grimes of Providence, R. I., who was in charge of the White House school for two years. The play school will meet in the homes of the various children attending. The White House school, which moved into the British embassy last winter for the rest of the school year, has been disbanded.

Caroline, who will be 7 two days after her brother's birthday, will go to Stone Ridge Country Day School of the Sacred Heart, where her cousins, Maria Shriver and Kathleen and Courtney Kennedy, go. Marie is the daughter of the Peace Corps (and Poverty Corps) Director Sargent Shriver and Eunice Kennedy Shriver. Kathleen and Courtney are the daughters of Attorney General Robert Kennedy and Ethel Kennedy.

SECRET SERVICE GUARD EXTENDED

Congress has approved the assignment of a 10-man Secret Service detail to guard Mrs. Kennedy and the children for the next two years. Consideration is also being given to an extension of time and funds for Mrs. Kennedy's three-member secretarial staff. Thousands of letters continue to pour in each week and 20 volunteer workers come in every day to help handle them.

Goldwater jokes are as plentiful these days as elephant jokes were a few months ago. And the senator himself gets a chuckle out of them. The latest one here is: "Sen. Goldwater, if nominated will you campaign in all the states?" "Yes, sir, all 13."

And have you hard this one? "Senator, if you were President and there was an atomic attack, what would you do?"

"First I'd have all the wagons form a circle."

But have you heard that the senator is promoting a new secret weapon? A supersonic catapult.

Speaking for real, Barry Goldwater has one distinction none of his opponents can claim. His name is part of the Navajo lexicon. It started several years ago when the Indians in the vicinity of his home outside of Phoenix would see him taking off and landing in his plane. They got so they would recognize the plane flying overhead and would say: "Here comes Goldwater." The children thought they meant the plane and now an airplane is referred to as a goldwater.

Joan Hackett Knows About Video Tears

By CYNTHI ALOWRY

NEW YORK (AP) —When a woman's role that demands a flood of tears turns up in a television dramatic series, one of the first names that pops into a director's mind is Joan Hackett.

Sylvia Sidney once was the top feminine crier of the movies—a fan just knew that her name among the stars was sufficient warning to equip himself (more likely herself) with at least three handkerchiefs.

Joan, in spite of her ability to produce big, beautiful sad tears on cue is a happy, ambitious and carefree young woman.

Joan will be weeping again tonight, in the NBC Bob Hope Theatre program, "Echo of Evil," but although slightly bored with her specialty, she enjoyed the part.

"I play a drug addict who becomes what I suppose you call a lady of the evening," she said. "It isn't a very big part but it's pretty good, aside from the tears. And after all the nuns I've played, the character—not nice—is in an area in which I need to stretch myself. It is very important for an actress to keep all her skills limber."

Her profitable and convincing weeping really started after the sudden end of what started out as a glorious television romance. Originally she was cast as the fiance of the younger lawyer in CBS' "Defenders." But after a couple of episodes had been shot of the then-new series, it was decided that a permanent romance would restrict the activities of character Kenneth Preston, so she disappeared with a stroke of the writer's pen.

Joan is a New Yorker with the native's suspicion of Southern California and its film folkways.

"I insist on living in New York and commuting to Hollywood acting jobs. Here I am surrounded by things I want to be with—the theatre, importantly," she continued.

"Nobody out in Hollywood ever tells you that you were rotten in a show. No matter what they really think, they keep saying, 'Baby, you were just great, really great. It's tremendous.'"

Most interesting weekend program is tonight's 90-minute CBS documentary with General Dwight D. Eisenhower recalling, during a return to the scene the D - Day invasion of France on the eve of the 20th anniversary.

Child Dies, Five Safe In Gravel Pit Cavein

BRIGHTON (UPI)—One child was killed and five others narrowly escaped serious injury Wednesday in a cave-in at a nearby gravel pit.

The victim was identified as Carol McManus, 10, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald McManus of Denver. The girl's sister, Lynn, 8, suffered a broken leg. Another sister, Margie, 11, and three other children, were not hurt.

Adams County Coroner Jack St. Germain said the children were playing in a sand and gravel pit north of Denver. He said a large chunk of sand and gravel, weighing about 500 pounds, suddenly collapsed on the young girl, killing her almost immediately.

D.C. WASH

By G. VAN DER HEUVEL

WASHINGTON — Architect John Carl Warneke has completed drawings of the gravesite memorial for President Kennedy. The plans, which will incorporate the eternal flame, were drawn up by Warneke after months of studying similar historical monuments. They now await the approval of the Kennedy family.

Warneke is the architect President Kennedy chose to head the restoration of Lafayette Square across from the White House. He is also adviser to the architectural comittee for the Kennedy Memorial Library to be built at Harvard.

Jacqueline Kennedy, who spends most of her time working on projects she thinks will best serve to perpetuate her husband's memory, suddenly found her immediate projects all coming to a climax. She has been working for months assorting personal mementos of her husband's and deciding which should go into the traveling exhibit which began its cross-country tour in New York this week.

She has been working on the John F. Kennedy memorial stamp that was issued May 29 and she appeared on the Telstar program commemorating his 47th birthday the same day. She has also completed the taped interviews with former Presidential assistant Arthur Schlesinger Jr. for the memorial library.

JACKIE TO SPEND SUMMER AT CAPE COD

Last weekend found her in Hyannis Port, Mass., with her children and she will spend the summer there as she has every summer since she was married. In August, she will go to Newport, where she has rented a house next door to her mother and stepfather, Mr. and Mrs. Auchincloss. She has said that she wants to bring her children up in the atmosphere in which their father grew up and she wants to continue their routine much as it has always been.

Whenever possible she has taken the children to their country home on Rattlesnake Mountain in Atoka, Va., which she designed and which she has named Wexford after the Kennedy ancestral county in Ireland. There Jacqueline Kennedy can relax and Caroline and John Jr. are free to run through the woods and play or ride their ponies Macaroni and Leprechoun, away from the watchful eyes of the American public. (Tex, the western pony given to them by President Johnson was broken and schooled last year and will soon join the stable.)

Pam Turnure, Mrs. Kennedy's press secretary, said the house would not be rented this summer. Eyebrows went sky high here last summer when the Kennedy's leased the house for the summer after spending only one weekend there after it was completed.

INTENDS TO LIVE IN WASHINGTON

Despite reports to the contrary, there are no apartments in New York, no government posts, and no extensive traveling abroad in Mrs. Kennedy's immediate plans. Next fall Caroline and John will be in school in Washington and their mother intends to stay at home with them.

John, who will be 4 on Nov. 25, will attend a nursery school conducted by Alice Grimes of Providence, R. I., who was in charge of the White House school for two years. The play school will meet in the homes of the various children attending. The White House school, which moved into the British embassy last winter for the rest of the school year, has been disbanded.

Caroline, who will be 7 two days after her brother's birthday, will go to Stone Ridge Country Day School of the Sacred Heart, where her cousins, Maria Shriver and Kathleen and Courtney Kennedy, go. Marie is the daughter of the Peace Corps (and Poverty Corps) Director Sargent Shriver and Eunice Kennedy Shriver. Kathleen and Courtney are the daughters of Attorney General Robert Kennedy and Ethel Kennedy.

SECRET SERVICE GUARD EXTENDED

Congress has approved the assignment of a 10-man Secret Service detail to guard Mrs. Kennedy and the children for the next two years. Consideration is also being given to an extension of time and funds for Mrs. Kennedy's three-member secretarial staff. Thousands of letters continue to pour in each week and 20 volunteer workers come in every day to help handle them.

Goldwater jokes are as plentiful these days as elephant jokes were a few months ago. And the senator himself gets a chuckle out of them. The latest one here is: "Sen. Goldwater, if nominated will you campaign in all the states?" "Yes, sir, all 13."

And have you hard this one? "Senator, if you were President and there was an atomic attack, what would you do?"

"First I'd have all the wagons form a circle."

But have you heard that the senator is promoting a new secret weapon? A supersonic catapult.

Speaking for real, Barry Goldwater has one distinction none of his opponents can claim. His name is part of the Navajo lexicon. It started several years ago when the Indians in the vicinity of his home outside of Phoenix would see him taking off and landing in his plane. They got so they would recognize the plane flying overhead and would say: "Here comes Goldwater." The children thought they meant the plane and now an airplane is referred to as a goldwater.

Joan Hackett Knows About Video Tears

By CYNTHI ALOWRY

NEW YORK (AP) —When a woman's role that demands a flood of tears turns up in a television dramatic series, one of the first names that pops into a director's mind is Joan Hackett.

Sylvia Sidney once was the top feminine crier of the movies—a fan just knew that her name among the stars was sufficient warning to equip himself (more likely herself) with at least three handkerchiefs.

Joan, in spite of her ability to produce big, beautiful sad tears on cue is a happy, ambitious and carefree young woman.

Joan will be weeping again tonight, in the NBC Bob Hope Theatre program, "Echo of Evil," but although slightly bored with her specialty, she enjoyed the part.

"I play a drug addict who becomes what I suppose you call a lady of the evening," she said. "It isn't a very big part but it's pretty good, aside from the tears. And after all the nuns I've played, the character—not nice—is in an area in which I need to stretch myself. It is very important for an actress to keep all her skills limber."

Her profitable and convincing weeping really started after the sudden end of what started out as a glorious television romance. Originally she was cast as the fiance of the younger lawyer in CBS' "Defenders." But after a couple of episodes had been shot of the then-new series, it was decided that a permanent romance would restrict the activities of character Kenneth Preston, so she disappeared with a stroke of the writer's pen.

Joan is a New Yorker with the native's suspicion of Southern California and its film folkways.

"I insist on living in New York and commuting to Hollywood acting jobs. Here I am surrounded by things I want to be with—the theatre, importantly," she continued.

"Nobody out in Hollywood ever tells you that you were rotten in a show. No matter what they really think, they keep saying, 'Baby, you were just great, really great. It's tremendous.' "

Most interesting weekend program is tonight's 90-minute CBS documentary with General Dwight D. Eisenhower recalling, during a return to the scene the D - Day invasion of France on the eve of the 20th anniversary.

Child Dies, Five Safe In Gravel Pit Cavein

BRIGHTON (UPI)—One child was killed and five others narrowly escaped serious injury Wednesday in a cave- in at a nearby gravel pit.

The victim was identified as Carol McManus, 10, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald McManus of Denver. The girl's sister, Lynn, 8, suffered a broken leg. Another sister, Margie, 11, and three other children, were not hurt.

Adams County Coroner Jack St. Germain said the children were playing in a sand and gravel pit north of Denver. He said a large chunk of sand and gravel, weighing about 500 pounds, suddenly collapsed on the young girl, killing her almost immediately.

Dear Abby--

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

End the 'Dream'

DEAR ABBY: Please try to help me. I am worried sick about my husband. We've been married 11 years and have three children. He was never graduated from high school but he is smart. He's nice looking, too. Abby, we don't have a cent in the bank. We just barely keep up with the bills. He says he has life insurance and some other policies, but I've never seen them. He claims they are locked up in his boss' safe. I would like to have a look at them. Also, he has never filed any income tax, State or Federal. That is what worries me the most. I love him very much, and know that he can't go on forever without getting caught. Then what? The children and I need him. Can you tell me what to do? —WORRIED SICK

DEAR WORRIED: Collar your dreamer and tell him that if he turns himself in, he will be given the opportunity to pay what he owes on time, plus penalties, and the authorities will be much more lenient with him than if they are forced to charge him with a crime. And let him know that if he doesn't act within one week, you will act for him.

DEAR ABBY: I am 15 years old and have a big problem—a boy. Can you tell me how to get his attention without being loud? He likes girls for friends but not for girl friends. I have liked him for a long time but he never paid any attention to me so I tried to quit liking him, but I can't. I think if I can get his attention I might have a chance. Do you have any clever ideas? —LIKES HIM

DEAR LIKES: When a boy is ready to like a girl for a girl friend, you won't have to try to get his attention. If he isn't ready and you succeed in getting his attention, it won't do you any good. Be patient. Boys can always tell when they are being chased, and they still prefer to do the chasing.

DEAR ABBY: I married a man who was married before. His first wife died. My husband keeps a picture of his late wife on his bureau. When I get up in the morning, this picture is the first thing I see and it depresses me for the rest of the day. I have two children by this marriage and they wonder why they don't see my picture on their Daddy's bureau. Should I suggest to my husband that he move the picture down to his office? If not, what should I do? Please put this in your column. I know other people with the same problem. —DEPRESSED

DEAR DEPRESSED: The chances are, your husband is not even aware that his late wife's picture is on his bureau. Remove it. If he misses it and inquires, tell him candidly that it "depressed" you, and suggest that he take it to his office.

CONFIDENTIAL TO GORDO: If a man can't break 90, he has no business on a golf course. If he breaks 80, he probably has no business.

Problems? Write to ABBY, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Calif., 90069. For a personal reply, enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

HINTS FROM Heloise

By HELOISE CRUSE

Dear Folks:

I recently went to a backyard party in the neighborhood. I noticed that my hostess had little paper cups turned upside down in her flower bed. I asked her what they were for.

She told me that when she transplanted seedlings and small bushes to a new bed she always used these paper cups to turn upside down over the small virgin plants. Here's what to do:

Take your fingernail and punch a hole in the bottom of the cup. Turn the cups upside down and place over the plant. Take your ice pick and poke some holes in the sides, too. This allows the extreme heat to escape.

These cups protect the plant when the sun is so hot that it dries out the bed too fast and the little roots cannot keep its proper moisture.

At the end of each day you can lift up the cup and the earth right around the little plant will be moist. This makes for faster growth.

As this woman's plants grew bigger and bigger she put larger cups on them. When they got just right, she removed the cups and let em' grow! —Heloise

Letter Of Laughter

Dear Heloise:

One day, my five-year-old son, Stephen., pretended he was the cook. He was boiling an old hen. I asked how long it should cook. He said, "Heloise says three minutes and an hour!" —Mrs. Violet Bales

Dear Heloise:

Sometime ago, my sister gave us small gifts of bright, solid color, dust cloths made of outing flannel. She tied them with pretty ribbon and they made a gay and different gift.

The dust cloths were about 10 or 12 inches square. They are simply ideal for dusting . . . and go right in the washing machine.

This week I bought gay, lovely flannel prints and made some more of these dust cloths. Dusting is a breeze now . . . you can get all sorts of beautiful cotton flannel prints quite inexpensively. —Mrs. Philip H. Cantrell

Dear Heloise:

For your readers who have parakeets or canaries, their birds may benefit from this suggestion:

Instead of washing off the cage perches daily — I use an emery board or sandpaper. This is splendid for keeping the perches dry and clean.

Damp perches are injurious to a bird's feet. —Mrs. J. L. Garrity

Dear Heloise:

Before going away on a trip, I water house plants well, then slip plastic garment bags over them - pot and all, tucking the opening under the saucer of the pot.

I place the plants in a light but not very sunny window, and when I return, the plants are moist and thriving.

I have done this repeatedly and have been so pleased with my plants on my return home. I use a bag large enough so that leaves are not crowded against the sides because quite a bit of condensation takes place. —Lois L. Kline

Ladies, I know this to be true. I tried it myself before going on a week's trip and my plants were as beautiful as ever when I returned home.

Dear Heloise:

If your teen - agers do the dishes at your home, and use twice as much liquid soap as they should, save an empty bottle and mix half water and half soap.

Works like a char! But don't let them catch you watering it down or you've lost the battle before it even starts. —Virg.

Dear Abby--

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

End the 'Dream'

DEAR ABBY: Please try to help me. I am worried sick about my husband. We've been married 11 years and have three children. He was never graduated from high school but he is smart. He's nice looking, too. Abby, we don't have a cent in the bank. We just barely keep up with the bills. He says he has life insurance and some other policies but I've never seen them. He claims they are locked up in his boss safe. I would like to have a look at them. Also, he has never filed any income tax, State or Federal. That is what worries me the most. I love him very much, and know that he can't go on forever without getting caught. Then what? The children and I need him. Can you tell me what to do? —WORRIED SICK

DEAR WORRIED: Collar your dreamer and tell him that if he turns himself in, he will be given the opportunity to pay what he owes on time, plus penalties, and the authorities will be much more lenient with him than if they are forced to charge him with a crime. And let him know that if he doesn't act within one week, you will act for him.

DEAR ABBY: I am 15 years old and have a big problem—a boy. Can you tell me how to get his attention without being loud? He likes girls for friends but not for girl friends. I have liked him for a long time but he never paid any attention to me so I tried to quit liking him but I can't. I think if I can get his attention I might have a chance. Do you have any clever ideas? —LIKES HIM

DEAR LIKES: When a boy is ready to like a girl for a girl friend, you won't have to try to get his attention. If he isn't ready and you succeed in getting his attention, it won't do you any good. Be patient. Boys can always tell when they are being chased, and they still prefer to do the chasing.

DEAR ABBY: I married a man who was married before. His first wife died. My husband keeps a picture of his late wife on his bureau. When I get up in the morning, this picture is the first thing I see and it depresses me for the rest of the day. I have two children by this marriage and they wonder why they don't see my picture on their Daddy's bureau. Should I suggest to my husband that he move the picture down to his office? If not, what should I do? Please put this in your column. I know other people with the same problem. — DEPRESSED

DEAR DEPRESSED: The chances are, your husband is not even aware that his late wife's picture is on his bureau. Remove it. If he misses it and inquires, tell him candidly that it "depressed" you, and suggest that he take it to his office.

CONFIDENTIAL TO GORDO: If a man can't break 90, he has no business on a golf course. If he breaks 80, he probably has no business.

HINTS FROM Heloise

By HELOISE CRUSE

Dear Folks:

I recently went to a back-yard party in the neighborhood. I noticed that my hostess had little paper cups turned upside down in her flower bed. I asked her what they were for.

She told me that when she transplanted seedlings and small bushes to a new bed she always used these paper cups to turn upside down over the small virgin plants. Here's what to do:

Take your fingernail and punch a hole in the bottom of the cup. Turn the cups upside down and place over the plant. Take your ice pick and poke some holes in the sides, too. This allows the extreme heat to escape.

These cups protect the plant when the sun is so hot that it dries out the bed too fast and the little roots cannot keep its proper moisture.

At the end of each day you can lift up the cup and the earth right around the little plant will be moist. This makes for faster growth.

As this woman's plants grew bigger and bigger she put larger cups on them. When they got just right, she removed the cups and let em' grow! —Heloise

Letter Of Laughter

Dear Heloise:

One day, my five-year-old son, Stephen, pretended he was the cook. He was boiling an old hen. I asked how long it should cook. He said, "Heloise says three minutes and an hour!" —Mrs. Violet Bales

---

Dear Heloise:

Sometime ago, my sister gave us small gifts of bright, solid color, dust cloths made of outing flannel. She tied them with pretty ribbon and they made a gay and different gift.

The dust cloths were about 10 or 12 inches square. They are simply ideal for dusting . . . and go right in the washing machine.

This week I bought gay, lovely flannel prints and made some more of these dust cloths. Dusting is a breeze now . . . you can get all sorts of beautiful cotton flannel prints quite inexpensively. —Mrs. Philip H. Cantrell

Dear Heloise:

For your readers who have parakeets or canaries, their birds may benefit from this suggestion:

Instead of washing off the cage perches daily — I use an emery board or sandpaper. This is splendid for keeping the perches dry and clean.

Dear Heloise:

Before going away on a trip, I water house plants well, then slip plastic garment bags over them - pot and all, tucking the opening under the saucer of the pot.

I place the plants in a light but not very sunny window and when I return, the plants are moist and thriving.

I have done this repeatedly and have been so pleased with my plants on my return home. I use a bag large enough so that leaves are not crowded against the sides because quite a bit of condensation takes place. —Lois L. Kline

---

Ladies, I know this to be true. I tried it myself before going on a week's trip and my plants were as beautiful as ever when I returned home.

I left my covered plants in our bathtub after sprinkling them well under the shower. Thanks, Lois. —Heloise

Dear Heloise:

If your teen - agers do the dishes at your home, and use twice as much liquid soap as they should, save an empty bottle and mix half water and half soap.

Works like a char! But don't let them catch you watering it down or you've lost the battle before it even starts. —Virg.

French Scientist Rescued in Greenland

WASHINGTON (AP) — Two U.S. Air Force planes, one of which made a dangerous landing and takeoff, rescued a French scientist who suffered a suspected heart attack on the Greenland icecape Wednesday night.

The plane which landed was flown by Capt. Donald T. Glenn, Farmville, Va. Aboard the plane was an Air Force doctor, Capt. Virgil D. Sisson.

New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller talked of the platform the Republicans will adopt at their convention next month and peppered the Johnson administration, charging "failure at home and abroad."

In Cleveland, Gov. Paul Fanin of Arizona, an early arrival for the governors' conference which opens Saturday, predicted flatly that Goldwater will be nominated on the first ballot.

"I do not expect any great drive to stop him, now that he's won the California primary and has enough delegates to win on the first ballot—over 600," said Fannin, an early Goldwater booster.

According to the latest Associated Press survey of delegates to the San Francisco convention, Goldwater can now count on a first ballot total of 446—just 209 short of the 655 required for nomination.

Rockefeller, who lost the winner-take-all race with Goldwater for California's 86 votes, did not mention him in his address to a $100-a-plate fund raising dinner in Suffolk County's Huntington Station on Long Island.

The main point of his speech: The only hope for a Republican victory in November is for the party to "develop and stand firmly upon a platform which spells out with clarity the direction in which we as a nation must move."

Nixon, in Garden City to address a testimonial dinner for Rep. Steven B. Derounian, R-N.Y., told newsmen "You'll know in two weeks if a Goldwater 'blitz' will succeed."

The former vice president went on to suggest that if Goldwater is nominated for president, Republicans could arrange "perhaps the strongest" team by running Scranton with him.

But in Harrisburg, Scranton said he would turn down any vice presidential bid unless it came from convention delegates—rather than the presidential candidate—and was a genuine draft.

While Republicans dominated the political scene, Timothy W. Costello, chairman of the Liberal party, told a news conference in New York City that President Johnson has given a "go ahead" to begin the campaign for his election.

The Liberal party, which exists only in New York State, sometimes runs its own candidates, but generally backs the more liberal of the Democratic and Republican candidates.

Costello said the President accepted an invitation to attend a party rally Oct. 15 in Madison Square Garden and that he regarded this as a "go ahead" from the President.

But George Reedy, White House press secretary, said of Costello's remarks: "I am confident the President has not signaled the start of the campaign."

Skiffington Charges State Wants More School Power

solidate all schools in El Paso County into three districts:

—District 11, same boundaries.

—. Eastern El Paso County.

"I think the local county superintendents of schools and county planning committees should work out their own plans," he said.

"I will continue to vote against giving the State Department this power," the senator promised.

The El Paso County Planning Committee, which has the power to submit a plan for reorganization of school district, meets occasionally and has taken no action to consolidate the 18 county school districts in recent months.

The Interim Committee struck out another part of the proposal which would have allowed school psychologists to test children without parental consent, Sen. Skiffington said.

He said that another education committee he is on would recommend to the legislature in January to match junior colleges 50-50 with state funds for construction of additional classrooms.

The senator said he favored two-year technical college for Denver, not a four-year institution.

"We think a technical school is needed for the entire state," he explained.

He predicted the Denver institution will be named "Metro College."

Russians Renew Spy Charge Rash Against Yanks

By REINHOLD ENSZ

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet military newspaper Red Star broke out in a rash of old and new spy charges today against American and British military attaches as it denounced retaliatory restrictions slapped on Soviet attaches in London and Washington.

The Soviet organ also denied that a British and three American attaches were drugged in Odessa last March. It said they had drunk too much alcohol.

The paper leveled new charges against six American aides, accusing them of snooping around Soviet military areas and taking forbidden photographs.

The article said three Americans, Navy Lt. Leonard Bracken, Lt. Cmdr. Frank Babbitt and Maj. David Colgan went to Murmansk last year, "penetrated into a banned zone and were detained there."

The paper also accused Bracken and "three companions" of photographing Soviet ships while traveling from Odessa to Batumi in February.

Red Star also dredged up the old charges that resulted in the three-month restriction of one British and four American attaches in Moscow.

It said that Bracken and Savage went to the naval port of Leningrad and took "pictures of military objects from the window of their car and tried to escape."

Continuing, it repeated the old charge that British Air Commodore A. N. Davis, U.S. Lt. Col. Edgar Smith and U.S. Air Force Capt. Edmund Zvetina entered a restricted area near an airfield in Tula. It said they were thus guilty of "illegal penetration into a military area."

Harking back to the Odessa incident, the paper said the State Department heard about its attaches being drunk and decided to put out a cover story.

The three Americans were Air Force Lt. Col. William Van Meter, Marine Lt. Col. James M. Landrigan and Navy Lt. Cmdr. Sumner Shapiro.

Jury Trial Alleging Fraud Now Underway

A jury trial alleging fraud and misrepresentation which names City Councilman Harry Scurr as a defendant is under way in District Court.

The action has been brought by Mary Ellis, Great Bend, Ark. against Scurr and Dean F. Chaussee. According to the complaint the two men defrauded the plaintiff in the sale of a 134-acre land tract northeast of Colorado Springs, bounded by Academy and Constitution Boulevards.

It is alleged that Mrs. Ellis sold the land Feb. 21, 1962 to Northgate Inc., a company belonging to Scurr and Chaussee for $55,000, and that the fraud was committed when she was not told that Chaussee, a real estate agent, was one of the buyers.

The complaint continues saying the defendant engaged Chaussee as Mrs. Ellis' agent with instructions to find a buyer and that Chaussee then entered into negotiations with Scurr to buy the land and did not divulge that he was negotiating the sale on his own behalf as a prospective buyer. It is further alleged that one of the purposes of Northgate Inc. was to buy her property.

Chaussee, says the complaint, was "falsely and fraudulently" representing to the plaintiff that he was acting in her best interests and Scurr was aware of it, when Chaussee arranged the land should be bought for $55,000 although both defendants knew the value to be more than $200,000.

Mrs. Ellis is asking a court order voiding the sale, contract, notes and trust deeds involved and petitions that the two men return the property to her.

In the alternative she asks $200,000 damages.

The plaintiff also requests examplary damages of $50,000 against each of the defendants, and that if damages are forthcoming, Scurr and Chaussee be confined in jail until payment is made.

In another suit consolidated with the first for trial, Scurr and Chaussee claim that a $37,000 mortgage was placed on the property as the result of the sale.

They request that the court order Mrs. Ellis to accept the $37,000.

Judge G. Russell Miller is on the bench.

Woman Reports Coat Stolen, Cash Missing

Rita Martinez, 2532½ W. Colorado Ave. reported to the sheriff's department this morning that she had lost $102 from her purse and that her coat had been stolen while she was at the Caravan Night Club, 2311 E. Platte Ave.

According to Deputy Sheriffs Larry Holien and Vincent Denboske, Miss Martinez went to the club about 11:30 Thursday night. She told the deputies that she was dancing at the time of the theft but did not take her eyes off the table where the coat and purse had been placed.

his station as "an all-time classic."

"I think it in no way degrades or stereotypes the Negro. The people in the show live on a high level. They don't live in poverty.

"Golly, if you took a camera down to 47th and South Park (a Negro neighborhood) you would find much more frightening scenes. It makes you shudder."

He said his station received only "a couple" of telephone calls after the showing.

Edwin Berry, director of the Chicago Urban League, said "Weigel represents the shallow kind of understanding that unsophisticated people have of race relations.

Berry said no demonstrations against the station were planned.

Al Raby, a spokesman for the Coordinating Council of Community Organizations, an alliance of civil rights groups—called it "a very unfortunate kind of program."

There were no demonstrators at the station when the evening show went on the air. The reruns of the television show started in 1951 will be shown twice a week.

Stamp Dealers Skeptical About 'Lost Cosmonauts'

Bob Jones, associate editor of the Journal, said Megan had written for the Republican for many years.

"He would have good grounds for saying it," Jones said. "He has good contacts."

In the article, Megan did not say whether he had seen the stamp.

"When I met the director of the foreign section of the Soviet Post Office last year," he wrote, "he firmly, denied that any Russian astronauts had lost their lives and considered the whole thing an infamous slander on the USSR."

Megan said the Soviets always have a stamp issue ready for release on the day of a manned space shot "complete with portrait of the astronaut and planned time of flight, duration and orbital inclination. There must be some fascinating unissued."

Rumors of abortive Soviet manned space shots resulting in a loss of life have circulated frequently in the West. The Soviets have denied some of them and ignored the rest.

U.S. Aids Resettlement Of Russian 'Refugees'

stamped "Top Secret" by the State Department, Rice has sought to ascertain who initiated this explosive "refugee resettlement program without consulting him and other on-the-ground officials. So far, Rice has gotten no answers to his pointed questions.

He and equally critical British authorities first got wind of this extraordinary operation when Hong Kong bankers informed them of the deposit of $25 million to finance it.

U. S. and British intelligence officials are especially alarmed because of their virtual certainty that numerous Red agents are among the "refugees."

The record of what happened in Brazil and the other Latin American countries is cited as irrefutable evidence of this. It is being pointed out that the resettlement plans call for no effective screening of these thousands of Russians who for years have lived under direct Communist rule and propagandizing.

Two congressional committees have been apprised of this astounding affair and are preparing to investigate.

A House Judiciary subcommittee, headed by Representative Michael Feighan D-O., is digging into it preliminary to summoning top State Department officials for thorough grilling.

Similarly, Representative Otto Passman, D-La., chairman of the House Appropriations Committee in charge of foreign aid and a long-time vigorous foe of large-scale spending for this purpose, plans to conduct a sharp airing. Like Feighan, Passman wants to know who instigated this operation and why; also why foreign aid funds are being used for it.

Passman will bear down heavily on that because of Defense Secretary McNamara's loudly proclaimed contention that foreign aid funds are insufficient to vigorously prosecute the faltering anti-Communist conflict in South Viet Nam.

"On one hand we are told by Secretary McNamara that Congress is to blame for not voting enough foreign aid funds," declared Passman. "But at the same time foreign aid money is being used for a purpose never authorized by Congress. This 'refugees' project is entirely outside the realm of foreign aid spending, and we want to get at the bottom of it."

Representative Feighan, who is opening hearings shortly on the administration's bill to extensively revise the immigration laws, intends to interrogate Schwartz and Richard Brown, State Department emergency relocation officer who is playing a leading role in the Russian "refugee" operation.

Secretary Rusk and CIA Director John McCone also are slated for questioning.

In Representative Passman's probe, he will dig into backstage reports that when the Senate considers the foreign aid bill an effort will be made to tack the administration's immigration measure onto it.

According to these accounts, President Johnson reputedly told Democratic congressional leaders that he wants the immigration bill, which would end the long-existing quota system, enacted before the convening of the Republican national convention around the middle of July.

Both Passman and Feighan have received this information, and they want to know what there is to it.

Equipment Box, Tools Stolen From Pickup

Leo Marr, Box 1106, East Highway 24, reported to the sheriff's department Thursday that his tool box containing tools worth a total of $100 had been stolen from his pickup.

Deputy Sheriff Eldon McCune said the vehicle was parked beside Marr's home at the time and that some of the tools had the initials L.M. stamped on them.

Dr. Bell Talks On Alcoholic Treatment

Alcoholics do not have to have a desire to stop drinking before they may be successfully treated, said Dr. R. Gordon Bell, medical director of The Bell Clinic, Willowdale, Ont. and executive director of The Donwood Foundation.

The authority spoke Thursday morning in the Margery Reed Little Theater of Penrose Hospital for one program of a Regional Conference on Alcoholism sponsored by the Alcoholism Division of the State Health Department.

In an apparent reversal of the cornerstone of the philosophy of Alcoholics Anonymous, Dr. Bell said, "It is naive to say alcoholics must want to help themselves before they may be cured.

"Many persons cannot unlock the physical and mental states associated with alcoholism.

"Many addicts have no desire to change when they come to our clinic for treatment.

One patient, Dr. Bell said, only came because his liver had deteriorated and he knew he wouldn't live long.

However, "If they aren't alarmed when they come in, they are when they come out," he said.

Dr. Bell said a more specific approach to the problem of alcoholism has been "our preoccupation for years."

Using the new standardized technique for treatment, Dr. Bell said, sometimes makes him feel like a "clinical engineer," by methods that have been simplified to treat the complex problem.

"After 18 years we have reached what we think is an understanding," he predicted.

The method he diagrammed on a blackboard presupposes that an alcoholic follows certain stages before disaster strikes his nervous, and digestive systems and social relationships.

By interviewing a patient he can often be averted from a fatal course, but treatment often fails because "We are unable to bring the physical and community resources to the aid of the person," Dr. Bell said.

The addict's problems are worked out with various methods, such as group therapy. "We don't use psychological labels to frighten our patients," Dr. Bell said.

The method, he said, is helpful to anyone "who has gotten a harmful dependence on a chemical, including tobacco."

To be addicted, a chemical cannot be too high on the danger scale, he pointed out:

"Otherwise you're dead before you're hooked."

He praised the AA for dispelling "For all time the notion that alcoholics are hopeless and can only be treated without tracing their whole life from childhood."

The clinic, the engineer said, has pioneered the phone and weekly correspondence methods of keeping in touch with its patients.

Exile Anti-Castro Chief Captured In Bahamas

iled dressmaker, said Ray's capture outside Cuba was the "nonfullfilment of a promise made before the whole world, a year in advance, with great propaganda. It is terrible to toy with the hopes of those fighting Castro in Cuba and the exiles here."

Other exiles criticized the British for arresting Ray.

Ray said "psychologically we have already won a victory." Soldiers harvesting Cuba's vital sugar crop were diverted to military duty and the Communist regime "got the jitters," he said.

Ray said he felt no bitterness toward British authorities. Among those taken with him at Anguilla Cay, some 30 miles north of Cuba, were two Americans and a Cuban woman.

The woman, Mirta Borras, 21, said she is the foster daughter of Rogelio Cisneros of Miami, chief in exile of Revolutionary Junta. She said that she is an active member of the movement.

The Americans are Thomas Dunkin and Andrew St. George, New York City photographers.

Arms seized from the group were confiscated but Ray said he had access to more.

The fire department was called by a neighbor at 8:11 p.m. Thursday when it was feared that a trash fire at the residence of C. S. Wilson, 2808 E. Columbia St., was dangerous. Company 7 responded. The firemen found that the fire was being attended safely and no action was taken.

Newlyweds Want to Keep Lion as Pet

ROSEVILLE, Mich. (AP)—Mr. and Mrs. Edgar J. Herz say they have too much heart to consider separation from their house pet—a 120-pound African lion named Caesar.

The 23-year-old newlyweds, who work as veterinary assistants, said Thursday they will sell their bungalow in this Detroit suburb if it bans lions as residents.

Roseville's City Council has ordered an ordinance up for adoption Tuesday that would ban wild animals as pets. Caesar is the reason for it.

Caesar has been both defanged and declawed, and Herz says he is "too much like a timid, dependent child for us to abandon him to strangers."

from other Communist nations.

The article criticized the idea that world revolution can be achieved short of armed struggle.

Speaking of Khrushchev's "international division of labor" program, the article accused him of opposing the aspirations of other Red nations, such as Romania, for "self-reliance and building an independent economy for themselves."

Khrushchev—using the Council for Mutual Economic Assistance—Comecon — has attempted to assign Romania the task of concentrating on agriculture and its oil industry. Romania has resisted this, seeking greater industrialization.

Pham said if "national egoism"—a reference to the Soviet Union—"dominates to the detriment of the economically less-developed or smaller countries, harm can be done to the entire Socialist camp."

DURANGO (UPI)— County welfare officials from throughout Colorado swung into the second day today of their three-day conference here. About 100 welfare officials were attending the sessions which conclude Saturday.

Airplane Show Scheduled This Weekend

The second Annual Colorado Springs Airplane Show will be held Saturday and Sunday at the Beeline Aviation hangar at Peterson Field, according to William Barber, Beeline president. New 1964 Cessna aircraft will be on display, including the Skyhawk, Skylane, Super Sywagon, Centurion and Skymaster.

Airplane rides will be given for two cents a pound. "We hope to avoid the confusion that existed last year," Barber said, "by selling only a limited quantity of numbered tickets each day. We will have three airplanes in service and will be able to accommodate 30 to 35 people per hour. All aircraft to be used are late-model Cessnas."

A new feature of the show this year is "Learn-to-Fly Days." Special arrangements have been made to provide complete information on learning to fly, and a new finance plan for flight instruction is now available.

Three of the 1964 airplanes on display are new models, introduced this year. One that is sure to draw much attention is the revolutionary new twin-engine Skymaster, with one engine in front and one in back, Barbersad. The Centurion, also new this year, is the top of Cessna's single-engine line and has been described as the world's finest single-engine airplane. Powered by a Continental 285-horsepower fuel-injection engine, it cruises over 190 miles per hour and carries four adults, two children (or small adults) and generous luggage.

The Super Skywagon uses the same type of engine as the Centurion, cruises over 160 miles per hour and carries six full size adults plus luggage. It is quickly convertible to full or partial cargo configuration and has double cargo doors in the rear as well as Cessna's usual "yard-wide" front doors which make it easy for passengers and pilot to get in and out of the airplane.

The show will be open from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. on both days.

New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller talked of the platform the Republicans will adopt at their convention next month and peppered the Johnson administration, charging "failure at home and abroad."

In Cleveland, Gov. Paul Fanin of Arizona, an early arrival for the governors' conference which opens Saturday, predicted flatly that Goldwater will be nominated on the first ballot.

"I do not expect any great drive to stop him, now that he's won the California primary and has enough delegates to win on the first ballot—over 600," said Fannin, an early Goldwater booster.

According to the latest Associated Press survey of delegates to the San Francisco convention, Goldwater can now count on a first ballot total of 446—just 209 short of the 655 required for nomination.

Rockefeller, who lost the winner-take-all race with Goldwater for California's 86 votes, did not mention him in his address to a $100-a-plate fund raising dinner in Suffolk County's Huntington Station on Long Island.

The main point of his speech: The only hope for a Republican victory in November is for the party to "develop and stand firmly upon a platform which spells out with clarity the direction in which we as a nation must move."

Nixon, in Garden City to address a testimonial dinner for Rep. Steven B. Derounian, R-N.Y., told newsmen "You'll know in two weeks if a Goldwater 'blitz' will succeed."

The former vice president went on to suggest that if Goldwater is nominated for president, Republicans could arrange "perhaps the strongest" team by running Scranton with him.

But in Harrisburg, Scranton said he would turn down any vice presidential bid unless it came from convention delegates—rather than the presidential candidate—and was a genuine draft.

While Republicans dominated the political scene, Timothy W. Costello, chairman of the Liberal party, told a news conference in New York City that President Johnson has given a "go ahead" to begin the campaign for his election.

The Liberal party, which exists only in New York State, sometimes runs its own candidates, but generally backs the more liberal of the Democratic and Republican candidates.

Costello said the President accepted an invitation to attend a party rally Oct. 15 in Madison Square Garden and that he regarded this as a "go ahead" from the President.

But George Reedy, White House press secretary, said of Costello's remarks: "I am confident the President has not signaled the start of the campaign."

Funeral services will be held at 9 a.m. Saturday at St. Mary's Catholic Church. The Rev. Fr. John Jepson will officiate. Burial will be in Evergreen Cemetery. The Hunter Mortuary has charge of arrangements.

Skiffington Charges State Wants More School Power

solidate all schools in El Paso County into three districts:

—District 11, same boundaries.

—, Eastern El Paso County.

"I think the local county superintendents of schools and county planning committees should work out their own plans," he said.

"I will continue to vote against giving the State Department this power," the senator promised.

The El Paso County Planning Committee, which has the power to submit a plan for reorganization of school district, meets occasionally and has taken no action to consolidate the 18 county school districts in recent months.

The Interim Committee struck out another part of the proposal which would have allowed school psychologists to test children without parental consent, Sen. Skiffington said.

He said that another education committee he is on would recommend to the legislature in January to match junior colleges 50-50 with state funds for construction of additional classrooms.

The senator said he favored two-year technical college for Denver, not a four-year institution.

"We think a technical school is needed for the entire state," he explained.

He predicted the Denver institution will be named "Metro College."

Russians Renew Spy Charge Rash Against Yanks

By REINHOLD ENSZ

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet military newspaper Red Star broke out in a rash of old and new spy charges today against American and British military attaches as it denounced retaliatory restrictions slapped on Soviet attaches in London and Washington.

The Soviet organ also denied that a British and three American attaches were drugged in Odessa last March. It said they had drunk too much alcohol.

The paper leveled new charges against six American aides, accusing them of snooping around Soviet military areas and taking forbidden photographs.

The article said three Americans, Navy Lt. Leonard Bracken, Lt. Cmdr. Frank Babbitt and Maj. David Colgan went to Murmansk last year, "penetrated into a banned zone and were detained there."

The paper also accused Bracken and "three companions" of photographing Soviet ships while traveling from Odessa to Batumi in February.

Red Star also dredged up the old charges that resulted in the three-month restriction of one British and four American attaches in Moscow.

It said that Bracken and Savage went to the naval port of Leningrad and took "pictures of military objects from the window of their car and tried to escape."

Continuing, it repeated the old charge that British Air Commodore A. N. Devis, U.S. Lt. Col. Edgar Smith and U.S. Air Force Capt. Edmund Zvetina entered a restricted area near an airfield in Tula. It said they were thus guilty of "illegal penetration into a military area."

Harking back to the Odessa incident, the paper said the State Department heard about its attaches being drunk and decided to put out a cover story.

The three Americans were Air Force Lt. Col. William Van Meter, Marine Lt. Col. James M. Landrigan and Navy Lt. Cmdr. Sumner Shapiro.

Jury Trial Alleging Fraud Now Underway

A jury trial alleging fraud and misrepresentation which names City Councilman Harry Scurr as a defendant is under way in District Court.

The action has been brought by Mary Ellis, Great Bend, Ark., against Scurr and Dean F. Chaussee. According to the complaint the two men defrauded the plaintiff in the sale of a 134-acre land tract northeast of Colorado Springs, bounded by Academy and Constitution Boulevards.

It is alleged that Mrs. Ellis sold the land Feb. 21, 1962 to Northgate Inc., a company belonging to Scurr and Chaussee for $55,000, and that the fraud was committed when she was not told that Chaussee, a real estate agent, was one of the buyers.

The complaint continues saying the defendant engaged Chaussee as Mrs. Ellis' agent with instructions to find a buyer and that Chaussee then entered into negotiations with Scurr to buy the land and did not divulge that he was negotiating the sale on his own behalf as a prospective buyer. It is further alleged that one of the purposes of Northgate Inc. was to buy her property.

Chaussee, says the complaint, was "falsely and fraudulently" representing to the plaintiff that he was acting in her best interests and Scurr was aware of it, when Chaussee arranged the land should be bought for $55,000 although both defendants knew the value to be more than $200,000.

Mrs. Ellis is asking a court order voiding the sale, contract, notes and trust deeds involved and petitions that the two men return the property to her.

In the alternative she asks $200,000 damages.

The plaintiff also requests examplary damages of $50,000 against each of the defendants, and that if damages are forthcoming, Scurr and Chaussee be confined in jail until payment is made.

In another suit consolidated with the first for trial, Scurr and Chaussee claim that a $37,000 mortgage was placed on the property as the result of the sale.

They request that the court order Mrs. Ellis to accept the $37,000.

Judge G. Russell Miller is on the bench.

Woman Reports Coat Stolen, Cash Missing

Rita Martinez, 2532½ W. Colorado Ave. reported to the sheriff's department this morning that she had lost $100 from her purse and that her coat had been stolen while she was at the Caravan Night Club, 2311 E. Platte Ave.

According to Deputy Sheriffs Larry Hollen and Vincent Denboske, Miss Martinez went to the club about 11:30 Thursday night. She told the deputies that she was dancing at the time of the theft but did not take her eyes off the table where the coat and purse had been placed.

his station as "an all-time classic."

"I think it in no way degrades or stereotypes the Negro. The people in the show live on a high level. They don't live in poverty.

"Golly, if you took a camera down to 47th and South Park (a Negro neighborhood) you would find much more frightening scenes. It makes you shudder."

He said his station received only "a couple" of telephone calls after the showing.

Edwin Berry, director of the Chicago Urban League, said "Weigel represents the shallow kind of understanding that unsophisticated people have of race relations.

Berry said no demonstrations against the station were planned.

Al Raby, a spokesman for the Coordinating Council of Community Organizations, an alliance of civil rights groups—called it "a very unfortunate kind of program."

There were no demonstrators at the station when the evening show went on the air. The reruns of the television show started in 1951 will be shown twice a week.

Stamp Dealers Skeptical About 'Lost Cosmonauts'

Bob Jones, associate editor of the Journal, said Megan had written for the Republican for many years.

"He would have good grounds for saying it," Jones said. "He has good contacts."

In the article, Megan did not say whether he had seen the stamp.

"When I met the director of the foreign section of the Soviet Post Office last year," he wrote, "he firmly denied that any Russian astronauts had lost their lives and considered the whole thing an infamous slander on the USSR."

Megan said the Soviets always have a stamp issue ready for release on the day of a manned space shot "complete with portrait of the astronaut and planned time of flight, duration and orbital inclination. There must be some fascinating unissued."

Rumors of abortive Soviet manned space shots resulting in a loss of life have circulated frequently in the West. The Soviets have denied some of them and ignored the rest.

U.S. Aids Resettlement Of Russian 'Refugees'

stamped "Top Secret" by the State Department, Rice has sought to ascertain who initiated this explosive "refugee resettlement program without consulting him and other on-the-ground officials. So far, Rice has gotten no answers to his pointed questions.

He and equally critical British authorities first got wind of this extraordinary operation when Hong Kong bankers informed them of the deposit of $25 million to finance it.

U. S. and British intelligence officials are especially alarmed because of their virtual certainty that numerous Red agents are among the "refugees."

The record of what happened in Brazil and the other Latin American countries is cited as irrefutable evidence of this. It is being pointed out that the resettlement plans call for no effective screening of these thousands of Russians who for years have lived under direct Communist rule and propagandizing.

Two congressional committees have been apprised of this astounding affair and are preparing to investigate.

A House Judiciary subcommittee, headed by Representative Michael Feighan D-O., is digging into it preliminary to summoning top State Department officials for thorough grilling.

Similarly, Representative Otto Passman, D-La., chairman of the House Appropriations Committee in charge of foreign aid and a long-time vigorous foe of large-scale spending for this purpose, plans to conduct a sharp airing. Like Feighan, Passman wants to know who instigated this operation and why; also why foreign aid funds are being used for it.

Passman will bear down heavily on that because of Defense Secretary McNamara's loudly proclaimed contention that foreign aid funds are insufficient to vigorously prosecute the faltering anti-Communist conflict in South Viet Nam.

"On one hand we are told by Secretary McNamara that Congress is to blame for not voting enough foreign aid funds," declared Passman. "But at the same time foreign aid money is being used for a purpose never authorized by Congress. This 'refugees' project is entirely outside the realm of foreign aid spending, and we want to get at the bottom of it."

Representative Feighan, who is opening hearings shortly on the administration's bill to extensively revise the immigration laws, intends to interrogate Schwartz and Richard Brown, State Department emergency relocation officer who is playing a leading role in the Russian "refugee" operation.

Secretary Rusk and CIA Director John McCone also are slated for questioning.

In Representative Passman's probe, he will dig into backstage reports that when the Senate considers the foreign aid bill an effort will be made to tack the administration's immigration measure onto it.

According to these accounts, President Johnson reputedly told Democratic congressional leaders that he wants the immigration bill, which would end the long-existing quota system, enacted before the convening of the Republican national convention around the middle of July.

Both Passman and Feighan have received this information, and they want to know what there is to it.

Equipment Box, Tools Stolen From Pickup

Leo Marr, Box 1106, East Highway 24, reported to the sheriff's department Thursday that his tool box containing tools worth a total of $100 had been stolen from his pickup.

Deputy Sheriff Eldon McCune said the vehicle was parked beside Marr's home at the time and that some of the tools had the initials L.M. stamped on them.

Dr. Bell Talks On Alcoholic Treatment

Alcoholics do not have to have a desire to stop drinking before they may be successfully treated, said Dr. R. Gordon Bell, medical director of The Bell Clinic, Willowdale, Ont. and executive director of The Donwood Foundation.

The authority spoke Thursday morning in the Margery Reed Little Theater of Penrose Hospital for one program of a Regional Conference on Alcoholism sponsored by the Alcoholism Division of the State Health Department.

In an apparent reversal of the cornerstone of the philosophy of Alcoholics Anonymous, Dr. Bell said, "It is naive to say alcoholics must want to help themselves before they may be cured.

"Many persons cannot unlock the physical and mental states associated with alcoholism.

"Many addicts have no desire to change when they come to our clinic for treatment.

One patient, Dr. Bell said, only came because his liver had deteriorated and he knew he wouldn't live long.

However, "If they aren't alarmed when they come in, they are when they come out," he said.

Dr. Bell said a more specific approach to the problem of alcoholism has been "our preoccupation for years."

Using the new standardized technique for treatment, Dr. Bell said, sometimes makes him feel like a "clinical engineer," by methods that have been simplified to treat the complex problem.

"After 18 years we have reached what we think is an understanding," he predicted.

The method he diagrammed on a blackboard presupposes that an alcoholic follows certain stages before disaster strikes his nervous, and digestive systems and social relationships.

By interviewing a patient he can often be averted from a fatal course, but treatment often fails because "We are unable to bring the physical and community resources to the aid of the person," Dr. Bell said.

The addict's problems are worked out with various methods, such as group therapy. "We don't use psychological labels to frighten our patients," Dr. Bell said.

The method, he said, is helpful to anyone "who has gotten a harmful dependence on a chemical, including tobacco."

To be addicted, a chemical cannot be too high on the danger scale, he pointed out:

"Otherwise you're dead before you're hooked."

He praised the AA for dispelling "For all time the notion that alcoholics are hopeless and can only be treated without tracing their whole life from childhood."

The clinic, the engineer said, has pioneered the phone and weekly correspondence methods of keeping in touch with its patients.

iled dressmaker, said Ray's capture outside Cuba was the "nonfullfilment of a promise made before the whole world, a year in advance, with great propaganda. It is terrible to toy with the hopes of those fighting Castro in Cuba and the exiles here."

Other exiles criticized the British for arresting Ray.

Ray said "psychologically we have already won a victory." Soldiers harvesting Cuba's vital sugar crop were diverted to military duty and the Communist regime "got the jitters," he said.

Ray said he felt no bitterness toward British authorities. Among those taken with him at Anguilla Cay, some 30 miles north of Cuba, were two Americans and a Cuban woman.

The woman, Mirta Borras, 21, said she is the foster daughter of Rogelio Cisneros of Miami, chief in exile of Revolutionary Junta. She said that she is an active member of the movement.

The Americans are Thomas Dunkin and Andrew St. George, New York City photographers.

Arms seized from the group were confiscated but Ray said he had access to more.

Newlyweds Want to Keep Lion as Pet

ROSEVILLE, Mich. (AP)—Mr. and Mrs. Edgar J. Herz say they have too much heart to consider separation from their house pet—a 120-pound African lion named Caesar.

The 23-year-old newlyweds, who work as veterinary assistants, said Thursday they will sell their bungalow in this Detroit suburb if it bans lions as residents.

Roseville's City Council has ordered an ordinance up for adoption Tuesday that would ban wild animals as pets. Caesar is the reason for it.

Caesar has been both defanged and declawed, and Herz says he is "too much like a timid, dependent child for us to abandon him to strangers."

The article criticized the idea that world revolution can be achieved short of armed struggle.

Speaking of Khrushchev's "international division of labor" program, the article accused him of opposing the aspirations of other Red nations, such as Romania, for "self-reliance and building an independent economy for themselves."

Khrushchev—using the Council for Mutual Economic Assistance—Comecon — has attempted to assign Romania the task of concentrating on agriculture and its oil industry. Romania has resisted this, seeking greater industrialization.

Pham said if "national egoism"—a reference to the Soviet Union—"dominates to the detriment of the economically less-developed or smaller countries, harm can be done to the entire Socialist camp."

Chicago Finds Suburb Train Huge Success

By WILLIAM J. CONAY

CHICAGO (AP)—A little rail line is getting a lot of attention these days.

They call it the Skokie Swift.

It runs only five miles between Howard Street at Chicago's northern edge and Skokie, a suburb that calls itself, the world's largest village.

It well may be blazing a trail for mass transportation of the future, when cities and suburbs will be fused physically into one vast complex of streets, homes and buildings.

The Chicago Transit Authority started the service April 20.

"We threw the schedule away the very first day," H. L. Polland, a CTA spokesman, said in an interview Thursday.

"We had to put on extra trains."

The number of riders rose from 22,752 the first week to 26,518 the fourth week and hit a daily peak of 5,175 Wednesday.

At the Howard Street Station in Chicago they feed riders into the CTA's 2,000-mile network of bus, elevated and subway routes. The 45 cent fare includes transfer privileges.

Under the new weekday schedule, the Swift trains leave every 6 to 10 minutes during the rush periods and every 15 minutes during the off hours. Saturday service is less frequent.

The new expansion of CTA into suburbia was undertaken as a two-year demonstration project.

The cost of the project has been set at $523,825. The CTA put up $137,415, Skokie contributed $37,193 and the federal government granted $349,217.

Farmers Optimistic About Recent Rainfall

DENVER (UPI)— Colorado farm experts were cautiously optimistic today about benefits from recent heavy rainfall which has left even severely hit drought areas of the state soaked.

"It looks like there is a good chance of the farmers breaking even in many parts of the state," said Laurence Phelps, chief of administrative services in the State Agriculture Department.

"They are not going to get rich, but there's a chance of breaking even."

State Conservation Department officials, meanwhile, said runoff estimates now were "near normal" over most of the state and above normal in the northwest White and Yampa River systems. Only the Arkansas, Rio Grande and San Juan river runoffs were reported below normal.

Phelps said farmers were "not out of the woods as yet" but added the outlook was "much more favorable than in the past two years."

He said the rain helped in three ways: It greened up pastures, it temporarily saved the northeastern wheat crops, and saved precious soil from erosion.

The pledge of allegiance to the flag was first drawn up in August, 1892, in the office of Youth's Companion, a magazine for young people, in Boston.

Wyoming Farmers Turned Down in Damage Suit

DENVER (UPI) — The 10th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals Wednesday turned down a bid by Wyoming farmers seeking $2.5 million in damages from the federal government.

The farmers, whose lands are located on the Third Division of the Riverton Reclamation Project, had charged the land was unproductive because of serious drainage and alkali conditions. They said literature prepared by the government advertising the land for settlement after World War II was misleading.

The farmers asked $120,000 damages for each homestead for "adequate recompense for losses sustained" in farming operations dating back to 1950.

The court charged that pamphlets did not constitute a binding agreement on the part of the government. Their decision upheld an earlier ruling by U.S. Dist. Judge Ewing Kerr of Cheyenne.

The court said it believed it would "violate the well established principle of separation of powers" if it were to order Congress to give such relief as demanded by the Wyoming farmers.

It also noted that Congress has authorized $2 million in relief to farmers involved in the ill-fated project.

Officials have agreed to continue to provide irrigation water to the area for the next two years.

Research on Saline Water Is Published

The reports dealt with highly technical and scientific subjects. They were prepared by various industrial and educational institutions.

The department put the reports on sale at prices ranging from 50 cents to $5.

Chicago Finds Suburb Train Huge Success

By WILLIAM J. CONAY

CHICAGO (AP)—A little rail line is getting a lot of attention these days.

They call it the Skokie Swift.

It runs only five miles between Howard Street at Chicago's northern edge and Skokie, a suburb that calls itself, the world's largest village.

It well may be blazing a trail for mass transportation of the future, when cities and suburbs will be fused physically into one vast complex of streets, homes and buildings.

The Chicago Transit Authority started the service April 20.

"We threw the schedule away the very first day," H. L. Polland, a CTA spokesman, said in an interview Thursday.

"We had to put on extra trains."

The number of riders rose from 22,752 the first week to 26,518 the fourth week and hit a daily peak of 5,175 Wednesday.

At the Howard Street Station in Chicago they feed riders into the CTA's 2,000-mile network of bus, elevated and subway routes. The 45 cent fare includes transfer privileges.

Under the new weekday schedule, the Swift trains leave every 6 to 10 minutes during the rush periods and every 15 minutes during the off hours. Saturday service is less frequent.

The new expansion of CTA into suburbia was undertaken as a two-year demonstration project.

The cost of the project has been set at $523,825. The CTA put up $137,415, Skokie contributed $37,193 and the federal government granted $349,217.

MEXICO CITY — Mexican police have promised to work more closely with U.S. authorities to crack down on dope traffic.

Farmers Optimistic About Recent Rainfall

DENVER (UPI)— Colorado farm experts were cautiously optimistic today about benefits from recent heavy rainfall which has left even severely hit drought areas of the state soaked.

"It looks like there is a good chance of the farmers breaking even in many parts of the state," said Laurence Phelps, chief of administrative services in the State Agriculture Department.

"They are not going to get rich, but there's a chance of breaking even."

State Conservation Department officials, meanwhile, said runoff estimates now were "near normal" over most of the state and above normal in the northwest White and Yampa River systems. Only the Arkansas, Rio Grande and San Juan river runoffs were reported below normal.

Phelps said farmers were "not out of the woods as yet" but added the outlook was "much more favorable than in the past two years."

He said the rain helped in three ways: It greened up pastures, it temporarily saved the northeastern wheat crops, and saved precious soil from erosion.

The pledge of allegiance to the flag was first drawn up in August, 1892, in the office of Youth's Companion, a magazine for young people, in Boston.

Debate on Civil Rights to Close, Humphrey Says

By JOE HALL

WASINGTON (AP) — Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey said today he is reasonably optimistic the Senate will vote to shut off the marathon civil rights debate. He expects 99 senators to be on hand for the crucial test next Tuesday.

Humphrey, assistant Democratic leader and the bill's floor manager, told newsmen the only absentee he knew of would be Sen. Clair Engle, D-Calif. who has had two brain operations.

Earlier there had been speculation administration forces might be able to invoke the debate-limiting cloture procedure by persuading some foes of the bill to stay away.

But the Minnesota senator discounted this. He said the vote was so important and the time was announced so far in advance that no senator really would have an excuse for being absent.

"We are expecting to have to produce 66 votes to obtain cloture," he said.

This would be exactly the required two-thirds if 99 votes are cast.

Humphrey said his optimism for success in the vote Tuesday had risen somewhat because "we had a good day yesterday." He referred to vote commitments but would not elaborate.

His official position, the senator explained, still is that "we will get more than 40 Democrats." Other party sources said prospects now were good for 43 or 44.

Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen has said he expects 25 or more Republicans will vote in favor of cloture.

Pressed in the Senate Thursday by Sen. Wayne Morse, D-Ore. as to whether the votes for cloture were nailed down, Humphrey replied: "If I have to give an opinion now, I would say yes."

But he added, with a grin: "Provided all our colleagues are here, provided the winds of good luck blow our way, and provided I have not miscalculated."

Morse had said it would be a great mistake to file a cloture petition until the votes for it were certain.

Humphrey said he other leaders and Senate leadership staff aides have been struggling with this problem for weeks.

"We are convinced," he asserted, "that at no time has it looked better for the Senate to obtain cloture."

Humphrey, before the Senate quit late Thursday, arranged for a showdown to come at noon Eastern Standard Time Tuesday. He did this by obtaining consent for the body to meet that day at its normal hour, 11 A.M. the cloture vote comes automatically one hour after the Senate convenes.

Glen Dam Work To Be Speeded Up

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Interior Stewarty Stewart Udall arranged Wednesday to speed-up generator installation at Glen Canyon Dam to permit production of electricity in September.

Udall said the action came because Lake Powell on the Colorado River was filling on schedule.

Udall said arrangements had been made with the contractor on the dam in northern Arizona for an around-the-clock, seven-day work week in anticipation that the reservoir would be high enough spin the turbine on the first 112,000 kilowatt generator about mid-September.

Udall expressed hope the filling rate of Lake Powell will continue so the power plant can begin returning revenues to the Upper Colorado River Basin fund as soon as possible.

Udall said the action came because Lake Powell on the Colorado River was filling on schedule.

Udall said arrangements had been made with the contractor on the dam in northern Arizona for an around-the-clock, seven-day work week in anticipation that the reservoir would be high enough spin the turbine on the first 112,000 kilowatt generator about mid-September.

Udall expressed hope the filling rate of Lake Powell will continue so the power plant can begin returning revenues to the Upper Colorado River Basin fund as soon as possible.

Fishing Rodeo Rules Are Announced

Some of the rules and regulations for the annual Pikes Peak fishing rodeo to be held from 8:30 to 11:45 a.m. Saturday at Prospect Lake were announced recently.

The rodeo, which is open to boys and girls 14 years and under, will be jointly sponsored by the Jimmy Camp Sportsman's Club, the State Game, Fish and Parks department, and the City Park and Recreation Department.

There will be a casting contest immediately following the fishing rodeo. Local merchants will offer prizes in both events.

There will be a prize for the first boy and the first girl who catch the first trout. There will also be a prize for the first boy and the first girl to catch their limit, which is three fish.

The southeast section of Prospect Lake will be penned so that the trout to be stocked by the State Game, Fish and Parks Department will remain in one area. One load of fish will consist of about 1,600 trout.

There will also be prizes for the second, third, fourth and fifth boys and girls catching first trout. There will also be prizes in the casting contest both for distance and accuracy. It will be necessary to register at the site for the casting contest. No registration is necessary in the fishing rodeo. There will be two age divisions in the casting contest, with boys competing against boys and girls against girls.

Some of the rules for the fishing rodeo, as announced by the rules committee, are as follows:

1. The contest is open to any boy or girl under 15 years of age.

2. Only single hooks will be permitted. A person's own tackle must be used. Only bait will be permitted. No spinners, flies, or hardware can be used.

3. Fish must be hooked and landed by contestants unassisted.

4. Only one prize will be given each boy or girl for each contest entered.

5. State and local fish laws must be observed.

6. Decision of the judges will be final in all cases.

7. Prizes will be awarded to the first boy and the first girl catching a trout and who reaches the judges stand with it first.

8. In the event no trout are caught during the authorized hours of the fishing rodeo, prizes will be awarded on the basis of any type fish caught.

Youth Stalls Court Trial With Technicality

A youth charged with improper backing claimed Thursday in Municipal Court that the resulting accident took place on private property; therefore, he could not be charged with the offense by the city.

Deputy City Attorney Bob Isaac said he had no objection to a continuance to prepare a legal argument against the claim made by David Shanks, 19, of 2508 N. Cascade Ave.

Judge Allan Asher granted a continuance until Tuesday but took testimony from the officer who cited Shanks and from Mrs. Leona Pounds, whose car the youth struck.

Cpl. Roy Stanley said that Shanks was backing up from his home, and Mrs. Pounds was driving up the road on which the McBurney Oil Co. is located when the youth's car came into contact with the woman's car, causing an estimated $50 to $100 damage.

Mrs. Pounds said she had been at the Corpus Christi School and upon leaving, drove to Wood Avenue and then cut through the gravel rod by McBurney Oil Co. to enter into Cascade Avenue. She said she saw Shanks' vehicle from about 10 feet before he hit her, and applied her brakes, but too late. She said an embankment on the road prevented her from seeing the youth's car before the impact.

Shanks claimed the road Mrs. Pounds was driving on was private property. Judge Asher pointed out that he couldn't accept the youth's word for this; that he must have legal proof that this was not a public way. He also said the court would examine the area before the hearing next week, and requested Isaac to study the matter for his argument against the youth's contention that he could not be charged with the violation.

Terry Scurlock, 22, Ent Air Force Base, pleaded guilty to reckless driving and driving without lights. He was found guilty of the first charge, fined $35 and had his right to drive in the city suspended for five days.

A $10 bond was ordered forfeited by Ted Gatz, 29, of Brookfield, Ill., who failed to appear in court on a charge of making an improper turn. Gatz had entered a guilty plea to the charge.

Albert Sanchez, 45, 221 E. Victoria St., pleaded not guilty to a drunk charge lodged against him by his wife. Judge Asher set his trial for today, and set his bond at $50.

Phillips Shuman, 28, 213 E. Las Vegas St., pleaded guilty to a drunk charge and was fined $25.

Police Check Indecent Exposure Cases

Police this morning were searching for a youth who exposed himself to four teenage girls in two separate incidents Thursday night.

In the first case, a 14-year old girl told officers she was walking with her girl friend in the 500 block of N. Tejon St. when the youth, about 5 feet 9 inches tall, with dark hair and wearing horn rimmed glasses, exposed himself to them. The incident occurred at about 5 p.m.

A youth answering the same description exposed himself to two 15-year old girls in the 100 block of N. Weber St. at 8 p.m., police said.

Owner Reports Gas Stolen From Barrel

Edwin R. Cunningham doing business as the National Clay Products, 1031 S. Royer St. reported to the sheriff's office Thursday that his office had been broken into and a 50-gallon drum containing about 35 gallons of gasoline worth a total of $17.20 stolen.

The drum was in a storage shed which had been forced. The drum was rolled down a driveway and then loaded onto a vehicle on the other side of a fence.

Judges Announced For Local Beauty Contest

Leaders in the fields of radio, TV, Medicine and Fine Arts have accepted invitations to serve as judges for the selection of Miss Colorado Springs in the local official Miss America preliminary contest to be held Thursday and Friday in the Palmer High School auditorium.

Jo Ann Rowe and Maggie Houston will represnt the fields of radio and TV on the panel of judges and Mrs. Donna Foreman, an official Miss Nebraska hostess for several years and mother of Mrs. Nancy Connell, the production and staging director of the local pageant, will complete the distaf side of the judging. Frank Clinebell, a former director of the Miss Colorado pageant, and Dr. E. A. Marrs, a retired physician will round out the group of selectors, it was announced by George Gibson, Chairman of the pageant judges committee.

The 20 contestants for the local title being offered the winner will meet the five judges Thursday morning at Ruth's Oven for a judges breakfast to give the panel an opportunity of talking personally with each contestant before actual competition begins that evening.

After the meeting the judges will be ready to cast their ballots for personality, intellect and charm, three of the qualities on which the entrants will be graded. The same ballots will be further used to grade the contestants in evening gown swim suit and talent categories that evening.

The list of the contestants in the two day pageant will be first narrowed down to 12 semi-finalists and then to five finalists, Gibson stated. Using the point system in the final judging- five for each first place vote, four for second and three for third — two for four and one for fifth place — the girl with the highest point total at the conclusion of the Friday night event will be crowned Miss Colorado Springs, he added.

The local contest is sponsored by the Colorado Springs Optimist Club.

Youth Stalls Court Trial With Technicality

A youth charged with improper backing claimed Thursday in Municipal Court that the resulting accident took place on private property; therefore, he could not be charged with the offense by the city.

Deputy City Attorney Bob Isaac said he had no objection to a continuance to prepare a legal argument against the claim made by David Shanks, 19, of 2508 N. Cascade Ave.

Judge Allan Asher granted a continuance until Tuesday but took testimony from the officer who cited Shanks and from Mrs. Leona Pounds, whose car the youth struck.

Cpl. Roy Stanley said that Shanks was backing up from his home, and Mrs. Pounds was driving up the road on which the McBurney Oil Co. is located when the youth's car came into contact with the woman's car, causing an estimated $50 to $100 damage.

Mrs. Pounds said she had been at the Corpus Christi School and upon leaving, drove to Wood Avenue and then cut through the gravel rod by McBurney Oil Co. to enter into Cascade Avenue. She said she saw Shanks' vehicle from about 10 feet before he hit her, and applied her brakes, but too late. She said an embankment on the road prevented her from seeing the youth's car before the impact.

Shanks claimed the road Mrs. Pounds was driving on was private property. Judge Asher pointed out that he couldn't accept the youth's word for this; that he must have legal proof that this was not a public way. He also said the court would examine the area before the hearing next week, and requested Isaac to study the matter for his argument against the youth's contention that he could not be charged with the violation

Terry Scurlock, 22, Ent Air Force Base, pleaded guilty to reckless driving and driving without lights He was found guilty of the first charge, fined $35 and had his right to drive in the city suspended for five days

A $10 bond was ordered forfeited by Ted Gatz, 29, of Brookfield, Ill., who failed to appear in court on a charge of making an improper turn. Gatz had entered a guilty plea to the charge

Albert Sanchez, 45, 221 E. Victoria St., pleaded not guilty to a drunk charge lodged against him by his wife. Judge Asher set his trial for today, and set his bond at $50

'The Establishment'

We run across occasional articles in which various persons comment about the existence of something called "The Establishment" and the enormous power this group wields in our society.

There is no doubt about the existence of this group. But what it is and what it is not, provides interesting grounds for discussion.

Actually, there isn't such a thing as an organized Establishment. There is nothing formal about the group referred to as "The Establishment." There are no by-laws; no one joins by applying for membership; there are no dues.

The Establishment is an existing elite which is composed of those persons who become, in the course of their development and activity, emblematic of the times in which they live.

Every civilization and every culture ever to flourish has had an Establishment. Sometimes such a group has been deliberately trained and prepared, sometimes not. But the existence of any complex social structure is predicated, at least in part, on a kind of internal leadership which, while informal, is nonetheless the cohesiveness that gives the social structure its form and body and also provides it direction.

In our own time, within the United States, we have always had an Establishment. The colonial Establishment provided the voluntary leadership which broke with England and fought a war with the mother country. This may provide the only instance in history when an Establishment, as such, actually conducted a war.

There was no central government in the colonies. The Articles of Confederation, put together after the war had been in progress for about three years, did not constitute a government. Under the Articles, no power to tax existed, nor did anything else appear which would give form and body to a central state. Yet, the military operated as though it were under the direction of a government.

General Washington was a member of the Establishment. So were some of his aides and generals. Jefferson, Hamilton, Madison, Monroe, Hancock, John Adams, Patrick Henry — there were scores of others who were part of the influential elite who put the pieces together and provided first the Declaration of Independence and then the Constitution.

But there were other well known people in positions of leadership who were not part of the then Establishment. Samuel Adams was an outsider. So was Benedict Arnold, but not because he was finally a traitor. Arnold was simply never able to find acceptance among the elite even though his talents were widely recognized. He was too ambitious, too loud, somehow he didn't "fit in" with the unappointed and unelected leadership.

All of the members of the Establishment do not necessarily agree on all points, and all who oppose them may not necessarily agree either.

During the 19th Century, this nation developed a new and altogether different kind of Establishment. It was a monied and educated elite to which people such as Pierce, Hayes, Buchanan, the Vanderbilts, the Rockefellers and many other people belonged. But it never included Lincoln, who was an outsider. Curiously, it failed to admit Grant, who probably never knew it, and yet Robert E. Lee was easily accepted.

In our own century and time, the construction and character of the Establishment has changed perceptibly. It still contains some persons of means, but money by itself provides no entrance. In most cases, the Establishment at the moment has some members who inherited fortunes but it has others of a far younger group who have made fortunes. It contains a great many people who are connected with various charities. It contains a sprinkling of professors and grads from some of the Ivy League colleges and a few from non-ivied institutions.

A very few of the present Establishment hold political office. In fact, it is probably true at the moment that fewer office holders are now members of the Establishment than ever before in our history. In colonial days, the greatest number of political office holders and appointees were Establishment people. This is no longer true.

This fact, in itself, has caused some to sense that there exists in this nation an "invisible" government which really runs things; that the formal government is more apt to carry out Establishment wishes than initiate its own policies. And this is probably quite true. But the Establishment today is a kind of pseudo-intellectual group. Most Establishment members are intellectual socialists. But they are never openly or radically socialist.

The Urge to Merge

When Karl Marx and Friedrich Engels were engaged in writing the Communist Manifesto, they not only called for a world revolution by means of which the instruments of production would pass from private owners into the hands of the state, they specifically spelled out the steps to be taken in "the most advanced countries" by means of which this passage of privately owned property would occur.

Here are three passages taken from the pertinent portion of the Communist Manifesto: "1. Abolition of property in land and application of all rents of land to public purposes. . .9. Combination of agriculture with manufacturing industries; gradual abolition of all distinction between town and country by a more equable distribution of the population over the country. . . 10. Free education for all children in public schools. Abolition of children's factory labor in its present form. Combination of education with industrial production," etc.

Why were Marx and Engels favorable to these three proposals? The answer is apparent on the strength of their own writings. If all rent (land income) is to be converted to serve the government, and if private ownership of land, particularly farm land ceases to be, then the people who depend on the land for their income and well-being will become pawns who can be moved about at the whim of the political masters of the state.

Steps which have been made in this country since the 30's have trended toward the fulfillment of this step. Government has advanced subsidies and loans to farmers, making it more and more difficult for each farmer to retain his independent and private productive position. Soil bank programs have encouraged farmers not to produce. Farm subsidies have encouraged farmers to rely, not on the market, but on the government. Allocations of land to be used for specific crops, turn farmers into vassals of the state and reduce their freedom by actually making them criminally liable if they produce what they wish to produce on their own land in quantities which exceed government allocation.

Recently, a proposal was made in Denver concerning the education of children of farm families. It was projected that some 18 rural schools in Colorado be closed, including the schools at Ellicott, Peyton, Hanover, Alta Vista, Yoder and Rush.

As farm families in the affected areas began to express their strong disapproval (see letter in today's Open Parliament section entitled, "Country Schools"), Dr. Elbie L. Gann, assistant commissioner of education, urged their closing. However, Representative Palmer Burch of Denver and Senator Lawrence Skiffington of Manitou Springs, joined hands in stopping the move and the state legislature's Interim Committee on Education rejected Gann's proposal.

We are, of course, delighted that in this case a collectivizing move was stymied by some farseeing men in the legislature. But the fact is that if the government were not in a position to regulate and control the schools, the question could not even have been raised. Thus, although for the moment the problem is shelved, the fact is that each community and each family in the community hovers on the brink of a possible reopening of the question any time the government wants to reopen it. We are horribly vulnerable. There is no area into which the government may not probe. And because these schools are government schools in the first place, the power of the state to do as it pleases with them is unquestioned.

Now, why would some persons in the educational picture want to go about closing schools when, on the other hand, they carry on constant propaganda to the effect that they don't have enough money or enough schools and thus that new schools must be built? Why shut down 18 good and useful buildings in the midst of a declared shortage of good and useful buildings?

The whole move, of course, was based upon a power grab. Small school districts and rural schools are often in touch with families and local influences are strong. But if the small districts can be destroyed and united in a big, powerful, collectivized district, such as Marx and Engels envisioned, then the influence of the local people can be virtually eliminated, taxes can be raised, a big move taken toward the further dominance of everyone by the political machine.

Firm in the minds of Marx and Engels was the concept of control of the people. If all farm families can be compelled to send their children to a large and expensive government school, then the movement toward a fully socialized state can be implemented. Nor is this move confined to school districts. The idea of "merger," "consolidation," "metropolitanizing," and "combination" is implicit in Marxian doctrine.

Also, firmly imbedded in the socialist's plans for our future is the idea of the preeminence of government schools. Combined with education is to be the development of factory labor.

The only real answer, of course, is the emergence of private and independent schools, both in rural and urban areas. Government has no rightful role to play in education, either in consolidated districts or otherwise.

Laughs and More Laughs

By GEORGE BOARDMAN

As soon as I can stop laughing, you can enjoy the joke, too. I've been reading a little article entitled "Bureaucracy or Freedom" which was authored by a congressman and the congressman is very busy trying to separate "good" bureaucrats from "bad" bureaucrats and while he's doing that he does his best to defile the word freedom by using it carelessly just as he recklessly gives socialism a break by calling it modified socialism and you just can't write anything more foolish.

In another political spasm, a congressional colleague quotes from a statement by a former President who tied up such words as "enforce," referring to laws, with "benign protection," and I hope you don't get hysterics when you finish laughing about that one.

The President of the government of the United States is also quite a humorist, aside from his conversation about his war on poverty with your earnings. At a press conference he made some conversation about foreign aid, which is basically support of foreign governments, being one of the most Christian acts this country could do.

But, I'm not finished; the mail was great today: A well known supporter of the private enterprise ideal advises us that our two-party political system of rulership has broken down and that we should tell the socialist conglomerate that only "we" RULE America and that we will enforce our rule through the election of a different set of rulers. He also states that the majority party has stacked the deck against the minority party in committees, while ignoring the fact that when the minority party was the majority party it did the same thing with almost identical results and set in motion legislation and other acts which have had a devastating effect upon the economy and saved a lot of time for the incumbent majority party. I constantly wonder how supposedly knowing people manage to remain so naive and unthinking.

And another former President states that commerce and industry cannot be taken over without dictatorship and the destruction of independent thought, including religion, even though a vast government-owned and controlled power project stems from a dam which bears his name. My good friend, Don Norton, says, "These guys are funnier than the guys who are paid to be funny and there should be a law against that."

Another great congressional humorist reports that initiative and self-reliance may be quickly destroyed by government doles and this particular bureaucrat, like the one previously mentioned, strongly supported the administration which created the infamous department of health, welfare and education and he's still going strong.

Of course, none of this is funnier than the idea of the director of the war on poverty arriving at Capitol Hill in a 1964 chauffeur-driven Cadillac, unless you think of a few of the fringe benefits enjoyed by the senators and congressmen, including those who mention the fringe benefits enjoyed by the director of the assault on poverty.

Only a couple of days ago we listened as a director of the socialist school system was hailed for his stand against federal aid to education — not, of course, mentioning the millions of GIs who received schooling at the cost of the taxpayers, the school lunch program and other aspects of aid by the federal government!

This is just about as ridiculous as saying the AMA has resisted socialized medicine when it only opposes certain types of socialized medicine and not socialism, per se.

Of course, there's a bill to create the office of economic opportunity, which will be allocated something like $962 million tax dollars, stolen from the earners and investors, to conduct the war on poverty which will impoverish those from whom the taxes are confiscated for the benefit of those who prefer not to earn.

Oh yes, the bill which created the post office monopoly was passed in 1851 and since then which politician screaming of allegiance to private enterprise has even attempted to nullify that rotten law?

Good luck and good health to you, in Freedom.

Question Box

Question No. 513: "Why is it necessary for every worker to produce his own wages and profits if his job or business is to be permanent and is to have peace of mind and, as a by-product, be happy?"

Answer: The reason is that all wages and profits come from production, and if there is no production, there will be no wages or profits. The more that is produced that other people want, and believe they are benefited by buying, the more wages can be and the more profits there will be if the operation is efficient.

There is no wage fund from which wages can be paid.

Of course, there may be a few quick assets that the employer may use to advance the wages until the product is sold, but that wage fund or cash is very limited, just as consumer goods that people enjoy and want are limited and have to be constantly produced.

Of course, it is difficult in some cases to tell exactly what each man produces. It is largely a guess on the part of the employer. But if he guesses wrong too often, he won't last long.

The employer should aim to pay each and every individual all he produces every week, or month, or year, so that the individual may enjoy it, or waste it, or save it and take care of his old age. Too many employers have become paternalistic and take away from the employes part of their earnings and try to give it to them in pensions, fringe benefits and vacations, and one thing or another, when they should give the worker all he produces every period, and let him manage his own affairs. That will stimulate his judgment, make him grow and develop, and have him take an interest in his work.

Accomplishment should be the aim of life rather than happiness, because if you seek happiness it will flee from you, but if you seek accomplishment, happiness will be your constant companion. It will be a by-product of your accomplishment or even of your effort to accomplish. If one does the best he can, if he is making an effort, that effort will give him satisfaction although he may not accomplish all he wants to. If he keeps trying to improve himself to be superior to his previous self rather than to be superior to another person, then that will result in happiness.

Yes, every man must produce his own wages or his own profit if he is to have continuous employment or a continuous business.

Questions are limited to general human relations questions that will improve the well-being of all mankind on this earth.

The Local Scene

By RUFUS L. PORTER

Soapy Smith is credited with the invention of the illegal "protection racket," that was later adopted by big city gangsters, during the early days of the silver boom in Creede, Colorado. But I suspect that both types of the racket, the legal and the illegal, have plagued mankind from time immemorial.

I met a man in a pullman car once, coming up from Telluride, who was a banker in Creede during the boom. He told me all about Soapy Smith and how he operated. Soapy did indeed operate in true gangster style — and he had a gang of hard bitten helpers, too. The banker told me all this at the very beginning of the prohibition era, when we had heard little of the city gangs in operation. The banker said it was a dull week in Creede when there weren't at last three men killed on the street.

When the silver boom busted, Soapy moved to Denver, where he cleaned visiting suckers at his fabulous gambling dive. He also "worked" the suckers in Cripple Creek at the time of THE GREAT BULL FIGHT at Gillette in 1895. Then he went to Alaska during the gold boom where he "owned" the town of Skagway. He died in true gangster style, also, being shot down by a Skagway businessman who had had enough of Soapy's protection. Soapy was quick on the draw and both men died on the sidewalk.

Most of the illegal purveyors of protection wind up as Soapy Smith and many lesser ones have — shot down in their tracks. But the legal protection racket — what can we do about that? It goes by the name of government and it is always thinking up new areas wherein it declares we need more protection and proceeds to sell it to us, whether we like it or not. And it has been known to use a gun to collect payment, in true gangster style.

The local city government has recently decided to protect a group of citizens in an area it had heretofore overlooked. These are the owners or managers of the proud old three or more storied mansions, relics of a time of more genteel and gracious living, in the north end of Colorado Springs. These mansions are of an elegance, beauty, taste and superior workmanship that we seldom encounter in the modern - type homes. A whole row of them on Wood Avenue were built around the turn of the century by Cripple Creek millionaires, starting with the Woods brothers. Others on Cascade, Tejon and Nevada streets were built by eastern and English rich folks. "The North End," up until about the '30s, denoted society, gentility, culture and elegance.

Since then, many of them have been abandoned by the upper strata of society and have been converted into apartment houses. But the old houses still retain their quiet air of refinement and dignity, and it is still a mark of prestige to have as your address one of these fine old homes. They are safe, secure and beautiful — I should have used the past tense on the "safe" and "secure," for the city fathers no longer consider them as such.

To the local government (protection racketeer), these grand old buildings have suddenly become fire traps from which the owners and the tenants must be protected. All of a sudden the owners MUST remove the third story, leave it stand idle or spend huge sums "remodeling" to suit the whims of the racketeers.

I have at hand a letter from Mrs. Charles Layher, who has lived in the North End for 30 years, and she says: "Mr. Porter, I ask you, how many of these three-story units have caused deaths or dangers by fires? Do you know of a single one? I DO NOT."

And I must admit that I do not know of a single instance of a death by fire in any of those old mansions. But it IS a new area of protection. And it WILL cost the owners and their tenants to comply, one way or the other, with the wishes of their protectors. Could be that many of them will close their doors as renters or leasers of apartments. Could be that the owners can't afford to pay the exorbitant taxes with fewer or no tenants, and walk off and leave them. Could be they would fall into disrepair and become eyesores and be condemned and the city fathers would have to remove them at great expense to "protect" the image of our city beautiful.

The cost of such protection, of course, would fall to the taxpayers. It would all have been done "for their own good."

The Antlers Hotel, which burned as a frame structure in 1898, had stood steadfast and proud since it was rebuilt of brick. But it is being protected out of business and off the face of the earth. It, also, does not conform to the new ordinance. For the protection of itself and guests it must make structural changes so costly as to be prohibitive, or go the way of the dodo — and that is the course the owners have chosen. So when you feel like complaining over the loss of this grand old landmark, point your finger at city hall as the major cause of it.

Could be that we need protection from our protectors. If you own a three-story home and I want to rent the top story, which you are willing to let me have, whose business is it but ours? Yeah, I know whose else it is now. But it wouldn't have been 30 years ago. There is such a thing as overprotection — and WE'VE HAD IT.

I will close this essay on a gentler note. I wish to hand an orchid to Jack Schwartzman for his article entitled "Heroes and Valets" that appeared in tonight's Gazette Telegraph, reprinted from "Fragments."

Here is one of the finest discourses I have read in many a year. In fact, I'll rate it with the best of its kind it has ever been my pleasure to peruse.

She turned on him indignantly.

She: "You've been following me for three blocks — I saw you. You can stop right now. I'm not the type of girl you can pick up."

He (bowing and smiling): "Madame, I am not picking you up. I am picking you out."

COUNTRY SCHOOLS

To the Editor:

I would like the following letter to Dr. Elbie L. Gann, assistant commissioner of education, to be put in the Open Parliament. Thank you.

Dear Mr. Gann:

We, as young parents are very much concerned with your proposal to remove our high schools from Ellicott, Peyton, Hanover, Alta Vista, Yoder and Rush communities.

Not long ago a group of people known as the C.S.P.A. fought the closing of our little schools, as we felt they were better and the population of rural communities did not warrant such large expensive schools as they built. Now the drought years are beginning to show how true it was that smaller units could be run with greater benefits and less cost.

We do not know what you state officials are thinking of when you take our rural schools and any other government programs you suggest. Are you trying to drive all of the young farmers off the farm by taking their school facilities away from them? Remember, the older farmers are unable to produce like they used to. As it is now, there are very few young farmers interested in providing food for you bureaucrats at such low prices and higher costs.

You are forcing us who have families to move to town whether we want to or not, to cause more unemployment.

Is this the American way of life?

If this proposal should pass, my husband and I will sell out and move to town, and one day in the not too far away future the nation will be paying farmers to move back to the farm and they won't be able to do so if there won't be schools and such facilities to provide for their needs, and provide an incentive to remain on the farm.

Irate Parents
MR. AND MRS. R. PAYNE
Rush, Colo.

Editor's note: Before this letter from Mr. and Mrs. Payne could be published, the State Legislature's Interim Committee on Education turned down the proposal to close the schools in question.

We are publishing the letter, in any case, because it points to a growing problem, even though in this case the problem has already been temporarily shelved.

Please see today's editorial, "The Urge to Merge."

MEDICARE—THEN AND NOW

To the Editor:

At the turn of the century I was attending high school. My uncle took the whole family to the best hotel in town on Sundays to eat the 25-cent noon chicken dinner. That was the regular rate — 25 cents a meal and the same for lodging. Auntie could not prepare a dinner for that price.

My high school diploma was a third class teacher's certificate, entitling me to teach in any one-room school in the county without examination. My salary as teacher paid me $33 a month for eight months; during vacations I worked on a farm for room and board and $20 a month.

When I matriculated, the registrar told me that Dr. X. gave free medical service to all sick students in my college and in another nearby. This doctor had finished medical school the year before and took this way to build up a practice. Internships were not required at that time; most fledgling doctors "rode with" older doctors while getting the feel of going the rounds.

I was stricken with appendicitis during my senior year. Dr. X nursed me through the critical period, and then explained that I should have an operation. He said he could get me a bed in the county (free) hospital, but that he recommended St. Luke's Hospital, instead. It was much better in every way. The rate of $3.00 a day covered everything — room, board, nurses day and night, assistants, drugs — no extra whatsoever. I stayed in the hospital for 10 days and paid the entire bill at once — $30 — six $5.00 gold pieces. Gold was in circulation then.

My college diploma would serve me as a teacher's certificate of the first class through my life, authorizing me to teach in any elementary or high school in the country. The principalship of a small high school awaited me at graduation. My newly acquired wife would present me with my first child the following summer. There were two doctors practicing in that village, and each of them voluntarily offered free medical service and advice, including pre- and post-natal care and delivery for the three of us as long as we lived in that city. Our total medical bill during three years was exactly $0.00. I incurred not a dime for dentistry from childhood till my child was a year old.

As recently as 20 years ago, the family doctor rendered service of $100 or more value without asking for pay. When we finally demanded the bill, he said $10 was all he wanted.

Surely, all we oldsters could get all the medical and hospital care we need if we were not robbed of so much of our savings by I.R.S., who wants to fight poverty wherever it exists, to supply all undeveloped peoples everywhere with a standard of living equal to our own, and to finance U.N. and its hundred members in their military efforts to maintain peace throughout all the world.

QUICK QUIZ

Q—Does seasoning kill the diseases and insects in wood?

A—Yes; wood-destroying fungi spores must have more than 20 per cent moisture content to grow. Dryness and heat destroy insects.

Q—Do the biblical rivers of Pishon, Gihon and Hiddekel still exist under other names?

A—These were the rivers of the Garden of Eden. The Gihon is believed to be the modern Nile. The Hiddekel is the Tigris River. The Pishon may have been the Indus River of India.

A — Louisiana — 55.11 inches.

'The Establishment'

We run across occasional articles in which various persons comment about the existence of something called "The Establishment" and the enormous power this group wields in our society.

There is no doubt about the existence of this group. But what it is and what it is not, provides interesting grounds for discussion.

Actually, there isn't such a thing as an organized Establishment. There is nothing formal about the group referred to as "The Establishment." There are no by-laws; no one joins by applying for membership; there are no dues.

The Establishment is an existing elite which is composed of those persons who become, in the course of their development and activity, emblematic of the times in which they live.

Every civilization and every culture ever to flourish has had an Establishment. Sometimes such a group has been deliberately trained and prepared, sometimes not. But the existence of any complex social structure is predicated, at least in part, on a kind of internal leadership which, while informal, is nonetheless the cohesiveness that gives the social structure its form and body and also provides it direction.

In our own time, within the United States, we have always had an Establishment. The colonial Establishment provided the voluntary leadership which broke with England and fought a war with the mother country. This may provide the only instance in history when an Establishment, as such, actually conducted a war.

There was no central government in the colonies. The Articles of Confederation, put together after the war had been in progress for about three years, did not constitute a government. Under the Articles, no power to tax existed, nor did anything else appear which would give form and body to a central state. Yet, the military operated as though it were under the direction of a government.

General Washington was a member of the Establishment. So were some of his aides and generals. Jefferson, Hamilton, Madison, Monroe, Hancock, John Adams, Patrick Henry — there were scores of others who were part of the influential elite who put the pieces together and provided first the Declaration of Independence and then the Constitution.

But there were other well known people in positions of leadership who were not part of the then Establishment. Samuel Adams was an outsider. So was Benedict Arnold, but not because he was finally a traitor. Arnold was simply never able to find acceptance among the elite even though his talents were widely recognized. He was too ambitious, too loud, somehow he didn't "fit in" with the unappointed and unelected leadership.

All of the members of the Establishment do not necessarily agree on all points, and all who oppose them may not necessarily agree either.

During the 19th Century, this nation developed a new and altogether different kind of Establishment. It was a monied and educated elite to which people such as Pierce, Hayes, Buchanan, the Vanderbilts, the Rockefellers and many other people belonged. But it never included Lincoln, who was an outsider. Curiously, it failed to admit Grant, who probably never knew it, and yet Robert E. Lee was easily accepted.

In our own century and time the construction and character of the Establishment has changed perceptibly. It still contains some persons of means, but money by itself provides no entrance. In most cases, the Establishment at the moment has some members who inherited fortunes but it has others of a far younger group who have made fortunes. It contains a great many people who are connected with various charities. It contains a sprinkling of professors and grads from some of the Ivy League colleges and a few from non-ivied institutions.

A very few of the present Establishment hold political office. In fact, it is probably true at the moment that fewer office holders are now members of the Establishment than ever before in our history. In colonial days, the greatest number of political office holders and appointees were Establishment people. This is no longer true.

This fact, in itself, has caused some to sense that there exists in this nation an "invisible" government which really runs things; that the formal government is more apt to carry out Establishment wishes than initiate its own policies. And this is probably quite true. But the Establishment today is a kind of pseudo-intellectual group. Most Establishment members are intellectual socialists. But they are never openly or radically socialist.

The Urge to Merge

When Karl Marx and Friedrich Engels were engaged in writing the Communist Manifesto, they not only called for a world revolution by means of which the instruments of production would pass from private owners into the hands of the state, they specifically spelled out the steps to be taken in "the most advanced countries" by means of which this passage of privately owned property would occur.

Here are three passages taken from the pertinent portion of the Communist Manifesto: "1. Abolition of property in land and application of all rents of land to public purposes. . .9. Combination of agriculture with manufacturing industries; gradual abolition of all distinction between town and country by a more equable distribution of the population over the country. . . 10. Free education for all children in public schools. Abolition of children's factory labor in its present form. Combination of education with industrial production," etc.

Why were Marx and Engels favorable to these three proposals? The answer is apparent on the strength of their own writings. If all rent (land income) is to be converted to serve the government, and if private ownership of land, particularly farm land ceases to be, then the people who depend on the land for their income and well-being will become pawns who can be moved about at the whim of the political masters of the state.

Steps which have been made in this country since the 30's have trended toward the fulfillment of this step. Government has advanced subsidies and loans to farmers, making it more and more difficult for each farmer to retain his independent and private productive position. Soil bank programs have encouraged farmers not to produce. Farm subsidies have encouraged farmers to rely, not on the market, but on the government. Allocations of land to be used for specific crops, turn farmers into vassals of the state and reduce their freedom by actually making them criminally liable if they produce what they wish to produce on their own land in quantities which exceed government allocation.

Recently, a proposal was made in Denver concerning the education of children of farm families. It was projected that some 18 rural schools in Colorado be closed, including the schools at Ellicott, Peyton, Hanover, Alta Vista, Yoder and Rush.

As farm families in the affected areas began to express their strong disapproval (see letter in today's Open Parliament section entitled, "Country Schools"), Dr. Elbie L. Gann, assistant commissioner of education, urged their closing. However, Representative Palmer Burch of Denver and Senator Lawrence Skiffington of Manitou Springs, joined hands in stopping the move and the state legislature's Interim Committee on Education rejected Gann's proposal.

We are, of course, delighted that in this case a collectivizing move was stymied by some far-seeing men in the legislature. But the fact is that if the government were not in a position to regulate and control the schools, the question could not even have been raised. Thus, although for the moment the problem is shelved, the fact is that each community and each family in the community hovers on the brink of a possible re-opening of the question any time the government wants to reopen it. We are horribly vulnerable. There is no area into which the government may not probe. And because these schools are government schools in the first place, the power of the state to do as it pleases with them is unquestioned.

Now, why would some persons in the educational picture want to go about closing schools when, on the other hand, they carry on constant propaganda to the effect that they don't have enough money or enough schools and thus that new schools must be built? Why shut down 18 good and useful buildings in the midst of a declared shortage of good and useful buildings?

The whole move, of course, was based upon a power grab. Small school districts and rural schools are often in touch with families and local influences are strong. But if the small districts can be destroyed and united in a big, powerful, collectivized district, such as Marx and Engels envisioned, then the influence of the local people can be virtually eliminated, taxes can be raised, a big move taken toward the further dominance of everyone by the political machine.

Firm in the minds of Marx and Engels was the concept of control of the people. If all farm families can be compelled to send their children to a large and expensive government school, then the movement toward a fully socialized state can be implemented. Nor is this move confined to school districts. The idea of "merger," "consolidation," "metropolitanizing," and "combination" is implicit in Marxian doctrine.

Also, firmly imbedded in the socialist's plans for our future is the idea of the preeminence of government schools. Combined with education is to be the development of factory labor.

The only real answer, of course, is the emergence of private and independent schools, both in rural and urban areas. Government has no rightful role to play in education, either in consolidated districts or otherwise.

The President of the government of the United States is also quite a humorist, aside from his conversation about his war on poverty with your earnings. At a press conference he made some conversation about foreign aid, which is basically support of foreign governments, being one of the most Christian acts this country could do.

But, I'm not finished; the mail was great today: A well known supporter of the private enterprise ideal advises us that our two-party political system has broken down and that we should tell the socialist conglomerate that only "we" RULE America and that we will enforce our rule through the election of a different set of rulers. He also states that the majority party has stacked the deck against the minority party in committees, while ignoring the fact that when the minority party was the majority party it did the same thing with almost identical results and set in motion legislation and other acts which have had a devastating effect upon the economy and saved a lot of time for the incumbent majority party. I constantly wonder how supposedly knowing people manage to remain so naive and unthinking. And another former President states that commerce and industry cannot be taken over without dictatorship and the destruction of independent thought, including religion, even though a vast government-owned and controlled power project stems from a dam which bears his name. My good friend, Don Norton, says, "These guys are funnier than the guys who are paid to be funny and there should be a law against that."

Another great congressional humorist reports that initiative and self-reliance may be quickly destroyed by government doles and this particular bureaucrat, like the one previously mentioned, strongly supported the administration which created the infamous department of health, welfare and education and he's still going strong.

Of course, none of this is funnier than the idea of the director of the war on poverty arriving at Capitol Hill in a 1964 chauffeur-driven Cadillac, unless you think of a few of the fringe benefits enjoyed by the senators and congressmen, including those who mention the fringe benefits enjoyed by the director of the assault on poverty.

Only a couple of days ago we listened as a director of the socialist school system was hailed for his stand against federal aid to education — not, of course, mentioning the millions of GIs who received schooling at the cost of the taxpayers, the school lunch program and other aspects of aid by the federal government!

This is just about as ridiculous as saying the AMA has resisted socialized medicine when it only opposes certain types of socialized medicine and not socialism, per se.

Of course, there's a bill to create the office of economic opportunity, which will be allocated something like $962 million tax dollars, stolen from the earners and investors, to conduct the war on poverty which will impoverish those from whom the taxes are confiscated for the benefit of those who prefer not to earn.

Oh yes, the bill which created the post office monopoly was passed in 1851 and since then which politician screaming of allegiance to private enterprise has even attempted to nullify that rotten law?

Good luck and good health to you, in Freedom.

Question Box

Question No. 513: "Why is it necessary for every worker to produce his own wages and profits if his job or business is to be permanent and is to have peace of mind and, as a by-product, be happy?"

Answer: The reason is that all wages and profits come from production, and if there is no production, there will be no wages or profits. The more that is produced that other people want, and believe they are benefited by buying, the more wages can be and the more profits there will be if the operation is efficient.

There is no wage fund from which wages can be paid.

Of course, there may be a few quick assets that the employer may use to advance the wages until the product is sold, but that wage fund or cash is very limited, just as consumer goods that people enjoy and want are limited and have to be constantly produced.

Of course, it is difficult in some cases to tell exactly what each man produces. It is largely a guess on the part of the employer. But if he guesses wrong too often, he won't last long.

The employer should aim to pay each and every individual all he produces every week, or month, or year, so that the individual may enjoy it, or waste it, or save it and take care of his old age. Too many employers have become paternalistic and take away from the employes part of their earnings and try to give it to them in pensions, fringe benefits and vacations, and one thing or another, when they should give the worker all he produces every period, and let him manage his own affairs. That will stimulate his judgment, make him grow and develop, and have him take an interest in his work.

Accomplishment should be the aim of life rather than happiness, because if you seek happiness it will flee from you, but if you seek accomplishment, happiness will be your constant companion. It will be a by-product of your accomplishment or even of your effort to accomplish. If one does the best he can, if he is making an effort, that effort will give him satisfaction although he may not accomplish all he wants to. If he keeps trying to improve himself to be superior to his previous self rather than to be superior to another person, then that will result in happiness.

Yes, every man must produce his own wages or his own profit if he is to have continuous employment or a continuous business.

Questions are limited to general human relations questions that will improve the well-being of all mankind on this earth.

The Local Scene

By RUFUS L. PORTER

Soapy Smith is credited with the invention of the illegal "protection racket," that was later adopted by big city gangsters, during the early days of the silver boom in Creede, Colorado. But I suspect that both types of the racket, the legal and the illegal, have plagued mankind from time immemorial.

I met a man in a pullman car once, coming up from Telluride, who was a banker in Creede during the boom. He told me all about Soapy Smith and how he operated. Soapy did indeed operate in true gangster style — and he had a gang of hard bitten helpers, too. The banker told me all this at the very beginning of the prohibition era, when we had heard little of the city gangs in operation. The banker said it was a dull week in Creede when there weren't at last three men killed on the street.

When the silver boom busted, Soapy moved to Denver, where he cleaned visiting suckers at his fabulous gambling dive. He also "worked" the suckers in Cripple Creek at the time of THE GREAT BULL FIGHT at Gillette in 1895. Then he went to Alaska during the gold boom where he "owned" the town of Skagway. He died in true gangster style, also, being shot down by a Skagway businessman who had had enough of Soapy's protection. Soapy was quick on the draw and both men died on the sidewalk.

Most of the illegal purveyors of protection wind up as Soapy Smith and many lesser ones have — shot down in their tracks. But the legal protection racket — what can we do about that? It goes by the name of government and it is always thinking up new areas wherein it declares we need more protection and proceeds to sell it to us, whether we like it or not. And it has been known to use a gun to collect payment, in true gangster style.

The local city government has recently decided to protect a group of citizens in an area it had heretofore overlooked. These are the owners or managers of the proud old three or more storied mansions, relics of a time of more genteel and gracious living, in the north end of Colorado Springs. These mansions are of an elegance, beauty, taste and superior workmanship that we seldom encounter in the modern - type homes. A whole row of them on Wood Avenue were built around the turn of the century by Cripple Creek millionaires, starting with the Woods brothers. Others on Cascade, Tejon and Nevada streets were built by eastern and English rich folks. "The North End," up until about the '30s, denoted society, gentility, culture and elegance.

Since then, many of them have been abandoned by the upper strata of society and have been converted into apartment houses. But the old houses still retain their quiet air of refinement and dignity, and it is still a mark of prestige to have as your address one of these fine old homes. They are safe, secure and beautiful — I should have used the past tense on the "safe" and "secure," for the city fathers no longer consider them as such.

To the local government (protection racketeer), these grand old buildings have suddenly become fire traps from which the owners and the tenants must be protected. All of a sudden the owners MUST remove the third story, leave it stand idle or spend huge sums "remodeling" to suit the whims of the racketeers.

I have at hand a letter from Mrs. Charles Layher, who has lived in the North End for 30 years, and she says: "Mr. Porter, I ask you, how many of these three-story units have caused deaths or dangers by fires? Do you know of a single one? I DO NOT."

And I must admit that I do not know of a single instance of a death by fire in any of those old mansions. But it IS a new area of protection. And it WILL cost the owners and their tenants to comply, one way or the other, with the wishes of their protectors. Could be that many of them will close their doors as renters or leasers of apartments. Could be that the owners can't afford to pay the exorbitant taxes with fewer or no tenants, and walk off and leave them. Could be they would fall into disrepair and become eyesores and be condemned and the city fathers would have to remove them at great expense to "protect" the image of our city beautiful.

The cost of such protection, of course, would fall to the taxpayers. It would all have been done "for their own good."

The Antlers Hotel, which burned as a frame structure in 1898, had stood steadfast and proud since it was rebuilt of brick. But it is being protected out of business and off the face of the earth. It, also, does not conform to the new ordinance. For the protection of itself and guests it must make structural changes so costly as to be prohibitive, or go the way of the dodo — and that is the course the owners have chosen. So when you feel like complaining over the loss of this grand old landmark, point your finger at city hall as the major cause of it.

Could be that we need protection from our protectors. If you own a three-story home and I want to rent the top story, which you are willing to let me have, whose business is it but ours? Yeah, I know whose else it is now. But it wouldn't have been 30 years ago. There is such a thing as overprotection — and WE'VE HAD IT.

I will close this essay on a gentler note. I wish to hand an orchid to Jack Schwartzman for his article entitled "Heroes and Valets" that appeared in tonight's Gazette Telegraph, reprinted from "Fragments."

Here is one of the finest discourses I have read in many a year. In fact, I'll rate it with the best of its kind it has ever been my pleasure to peruse.

Wit and Whimsy

A very pretty redhead window shopping on Fifth Avenue was being followed by a smooth Latin type.

She turned on him indignantly.

She: "You've been following me for three blocks — I saw you. You can stop right now. I'm not the type of girl you can pick up."

He (bowing and smiling): "Madame, I am not picking you up. I am picking you out."

COUNTRY SCHOOLS

To the Editor:

I would like the following letter to Dr. Elbie L. Gann, assistant commissioner of education, to be put in the Open Parliament. Thank you.

Dear Mr. Gann:

We, as young parents are very much concerned with your proposal to remove our high schools from Ellicott, Peyton, Hanover, Alta Vista, Yoder and Rush communities.

Not long ago a group of people known as the C.S.P.A. fought the closing of our little schools, as we felt they were better and the population of rural communities did not warrant such large expensive schools as they built. Now the drought years are beginning to show how true it was that smaller units could be run with greater benefits and less cost.

We do not know what you state officials are thinking of when you take our rural schools and any other government programs you suggest. Are you trying to drive all of the young farmers off the farm by taking their school facilities away from them? Remember, the older farmers are unable to produce like they used to. As it is now, there are very few young farmers interested in providing food for you bureaucrats at such low prices and higher costs.

You are forcing us who have families to move to town whether we want to or not, to cause more unemployment.

Is this the American way of life?

If this proposal should pass, my husband and I will sell out and move to town, and one day in the not too far away future the nation will be paying farmers to move back to the farm and they won't be able to do so if there won't be schools and such facilities to provide for their needs, and provide an incentive to remain on the farm.

Irate Parents
MR. AND MRS. R. PAYNE
Rush, Colo.

Editor's note: Before this letter from Mr. and Mrs. Payne could be published, the State Legislature's Interim Committee on Education turned down the proposal to close the schools in question.

We are publishing the letter, in any case, because it points to a growing problem, even though in this case the problem has already been temporarily shelved.

Please see today's editorial, "The Urge to Merge."

MEDICARE—THEN AND NOW

To the Editor:

At the turn of the century I was attending high school. My uncle took the whole family to the best hotel in town on Sundays to eat the 25-cent noon chicken dinner. That was the regular rate — 25 cents a meal and the same for lodging. Auntie could not prepare a dinner for that price.

My high school diploma was a third class teacher's certificate, entitling me to teach in any one-room school in the country without examination. My salary as teacher paid me $33 a month for eight months; during vacations I worked on a farm for room and board and $20 a month.

When I matriculated, the registrar told me that Dr. X. gave free medical service to all sick students in my college and in another nearby. This doctor had finished medical school the year before and took this way to build up a practice. Internships were not required at that time; most fledgling doctors "rode with" older doctors while getting the feel of going the rounds.

I was stricken with appendicitis during my senior year. Dr. X nursed me through the critical period, and then explained that I should have an operation. He said he could get me a bed in the county (free) hospital, but that he recommended St. Luke's Hospital, instead. It was much better in every way. The rate of $3.00 a day covered everything — room, board, nurses day and night, assistants, drugs — no extra whatsoever. I stayed in the hospital for 10 days and paid the entire bill at once — $30 — six $5.00 gold pieces. Gold was in circulation then.

My college diploma would serve me as a teacher's certificate of the first class through my life, authorizing me to teach in any elementary or high school in the country. The principalship of a small high school awaited me at graduation. My newly acquired wife would present me with my first child the following summer. There were two doctors practicing in that village, and each of them voluntarily offered free medical service and advice, including pre- and post-natal care and delivery for the three of us as long as we lived in that city. Our total medical bill during three years was exactly $0.00. I incurred not a dime for dentistry from childhood till my child was a year old.

As recently as 20 years ago, the family doctor rendered service of $100 or more value without asking for pay. When we finally demanded the bill, he said $10 was all he wanted.

Surely, all we oldsters could get all the medical and hospital care we need if we were not robbed of so much of our savings by I.R.S., who wants to fight poverty wherever it exists, to supply all undeveloped peoples everywhere with a standard of living equal to our own, and to finance U.N. and its hundred members in their military efforts to maintain peace throughout all the world.

QUICK QUIZ

Q—Does seasoning kill the diseases and insects in wood?

A—Yes; wood-destroying fungi spores must have more than 20 per cent moisture content to grow. Dryness and heat destroy insects.

Q—Do the biblical rivers of Pishon, Gihon and Hiddekel still exist under other names?

A—These were the rivers of the Garden of Eden. The Gihon is believed to be the modern Nile. The Hiddekel is the Tigris River. The Pishon may have been the Indus River of India.

Q — Which state in continental U.S. has the greatest annual average rainfall?

A — Louisiana — 55.11 inches.

Mother Is Charged With Abducting Child

SALT LAKE CITY (UPI) — Charges of second-degree kidnaping have been filed against the natural mother of a Salt Lake infant and her husband in the alleged abduction of the child Tuesday.

The kidnaping complaint against Ron Elliott and Sarah Ellen McAnich Elliott was signed Wednesday by Carl Waldoch of Salt Lake City.

Waldoch and his wife have had custody of the year-old child since it was four days old and were in the process of adopting him at the time of the alleged abduction.

The Elliott couple were being held in Craig, Colo., where they were arrested Tuesday night. The child, who was snatched from a stroller in Salt Lake City, was being kept in a foster home at Craig.

WORRY CLINIC

By George W. Crane, M.D.,Ph.D.

Peggy has an odd sexual complex, so study her case very carefully. Most wives crave a certain amount of physical dominance in order to obtain their maximum erotic thrills. For women are basically somewhat masochistic. nagging wives are thus trying to prod hen-pecked Henrys into more forceful wooing!

By GEORGE W. CRANE
Ph. D., M. D.

CASE S-483: Peggy P., aged 29, is a problem wife.

"Dr. Crane," her worried husband began, "I don't understand my wife at all.

"She seems frigid and disinterested in marital relations unless I inflict some mild cruelty upon her.

"During our honeymoon, for example, she coaxed me to use a hairbrush on her.

"Thinking it was some freakish whim, I did so, and then she melted in my arms.

"But without my paddling her with a hairbrush, she is disinterested and uncooperative.

"Yet I feel like a monster to paddle my wife like that. What's wrong with Peggy?"

PEGGY'S COMPLEX

During her childhood, she had been addicted to auto erotic practices.

Her mother didn't know what to do, so Peggy's father was called in to use a hairbrush on her.

Even after marriage Peggy thus craved punishment as a prelude to marital affairs, for she is a good example of a masochist.

And because she was "conditioned" in childhood to paddling in connection with erotic thrills, she coaxed her bridegroom to use a hairbrush on her rear piazza.

Many modern wives also obtain a greater erotic thrill from a mild amount of fierce wooing. That's why they talk about "cave man wooing."

In Shakespeare's famous "Taming of the Shrew," you may recall that it wasn't till her suitor finally browbeat her into submission that the heroine subsided into delighted submission.

A nagging wife is thus a first cousin to the heroine of that famous play by Shakespeare.

For when a woman subconsciously senses that her mate is not as virile and sadistic as she'd prefer, such a woman will then nag him.

Vaguely, she thus hopes to incite him into more physical dominance. She isn't even averse to a violent laying on of hands, for she cannot obtain her maximum erotic excitement from a meek, mousy male.

In almost all species, the mating male is thus a vigorous, forceful creature, not opposed to fighting if need be to win his female partner.

And a craving for vigorous physical dominance is typical of the normal female, for females are endowed with a somewhat masochistic nature.

In fact, we psychiatrists find that many wives who may actually receive a black eye occasionally, seldom think of a divorce, if they are erotically satisfied.

Yet the nagging wife seeks fivorce on grounds of merely "mental cruelty."

So send for my booklet "Sex Differences Between Men and Women," enclosing a long stamped, return envelope, plus 20 cents.

(Always write to Dr. Crane in care of this newspaper, enclosing a long stamped, addressed envelope and 20 cents to cover typing and printing costs when you send for one of his booklets.)

State Advertising Fund To Go to Three Firms

DENVER (UPI)— State officials said Wednesday that the $500,000 annual Colorado state advertising fund will go to three agencies instead of five in the coming fiscal year.

G. A. Sabin, chairman of the Colorado Advertising and Publicity Advisory Committee, said the agencies to receive the money would be named in secret session.

"We think the interests of the agencies under consideration are best served by the closed door method of selection," Sabin said.

The official said 15 of 27 agencies being considered for the posts already had been "weeded out." He said only agencies "composed of Colorado men, who have spent their lives building their businesses in Colorado" were being considered.

The first lighthouse in the US. on the Atlantic Coast was built of stone on Little Brewster Island of Boston Harbor in 1716.

Two Ex-Gestapo Men Accused of Killing Jews

FREIBURG, Germany (AP)— Two former Gestapo officials have been charged with aiding in the murder of 200 Polish Jews during World War II and of sending 4,000 to 5,000 Jews to various extermination camps.

The two are Robert Weissmann, 56, an insurance company employe, and Arno Sehmisch, 59, a salesman.

The charge sheet identifies Weissmann as the Gestapo leader in Zakopane, Poland in 1942-43 and then Gestapo chief for the Krakow District. Sehmisch succeeded Weissman in Zakopane.

The charges accuse both men of ordering the shooting of Jewish men, women and children and of participating in the shootings.

Even after marriage Peggy thus craved punishment as a prelude to marital affairs, for she is a good example of a masochist.

And because she was "conditioned" in childhood to paddling in connection with erotic thrills, she coaxed her bridegroom to use a hairbrush on her rear piazza.

Many modern wives also obtain a greater erotic thrill from a mild amount of fierce wooing. That's why they talk about "cave man wooing."

In Shakespeare's famous "Taming of the Shrew," you may recall that it wasn't till her suitor finally browbeat her into submission that the heroine subsided into delighted submission.

A nagging wife is thus a first cousin to the heroine of that famous play by Shakespeare.

For when a woman subconsciously senses that her mate is not as virile and sadistic as she'd prefer, such a woman will then nag him.

Vaguely, she thus hopes to incite him into more physical dominance. She isn't even averse to a violent laying on of hands, for she cannot obtain her maximum erotic excitement from a meek, mousy male.

In almost all species, the mating male is thus a vigorous, forceful creature, not opposed to fighting if need be to win his female partner

And a craving for vigorous physical dominance is typical of the normal female, for females are endowed with a somewhat masochistic nature.

In fact, we psychiatrists find that many wives who may actually receive a black eye occasionally, seldom think of a divorce, if they are erotically satisfied

Yet the nagging wife seeks fivorce on grounds of merely "mental cruelty."

So send for my booklet "Sex Differences Between Men and Women," enclosing a long stamped, return envelope, plus 20 cents.

State Advertising Fund To Go to Three Firms

DENVER (UPI)— State officials said Wednesday that the $500,000 annual Colorado state advertising fund will go to three agencies instead of five in the coming fiscal year.

G. A. Sabin, chairman of the Colorado Advertising and Publicity Advisory Committee, said the agencies to receive the money would be named in secret session.

"We think the interests of the agencies under consideration are best served by the closed door method of selection," Sabin said.

The official said 15 of 27 agencies being considered for the posts already had been "weeded out." He said only agencies "composed of Colorado men, who have spent their lives building their businesses in Colorado" were being considered.

The first lighthouse in the US. on the Atlantic Coast was built of stone on Little Brewster Island of Boston Harbor in 1716.

Two Ex-Gestapo Men Accused of Killing Jews

FREIBURG, Germany (AP)—Two former Gestapo officials have been charged with aiding in the murder of 200 Polish Jews during World War II and of sending 4,000 to 5,000 Jews to various extermination camps.

The two are Robert Weissmann, 56, an insurance company employe, and Arno Sehmisch, 59, a salesman.

The charge sheet identifies Weissmann as the Gestapo leader in Zakopane, Poland in 1942-43 and then Gestapo chief for the Krakow District. Sehmisch succeeded Weissman in Zakopane.

The charges accuse both men of ordering the shooting of Jewish men, women and children and of participating in the shootings.

The case is one of a number involving Nazi crimes being heard or pending before German courts.

WASHINGTON — Unless there is a change to a better slogan, President Johnson's campaign for a four - year term is going to emphasize "the Great Society" as the goal of his administration.

The vision is of an American utopia based, as he says, on "abundance and liberty for all." This is the sort of crusade everybody supposedly has been waiting to join, as it suggests that things have been going to pot for a long time and that the time has come for a big spiritual uplift drive led by LBJ.

The President has been using this Great Society refrain in more and more speeches. The White House decided it was worth pushing when it went over big before an egghead type of audience at Ann Arbor, Mich., May 22, where the President delivered a University of Michigan commencement address.

Before a similar gathering Saturday at the University of Texas Johnson put a few embellishments on his Great Society theme. The nation, he said, now had reached a fork in the road — one leading to the wonderful Great Society, the other to "a legacy of despair and degradation."

Whether this slogan, the Great Society, originated in Johnson's mind or was the product of his "think factory" — aids William Moyers, Douglass Cater and Horace Busby — is relatively inconsequential, except that it is an unimaginative choice.

John F. Kennedy had his New Frontier, FDR his New Deal, Harry Truman his Fair Deal and Woodrow Wilson his New Freedom. It must be granted that Johnson latched on first to a better slogan, namely the "Better Deal." But that didn't take, and so we have the Great Society.

It is our guess that the new slogan won't catch on either, and most political veterans of presidential campaigns agree privately. In the first place, the word "society" has a snobbish ring to it, ill fitting a president from Texas. Secondly, it is being pointed out that the tags other Democratic presidents tried to place on their administrations had an authentic partisan meaning while Johnson's deliberately tries to emphasize a nonpartisan unity crusade for a better America.

SOME OF THE TAGS HAD MEANING

Woodrow Wilson's New Freedom involved a controversial vision. As he outlined it in 1912, it was in terms of "a new social age, a new era of human relationship, a new economic society" which could come about only destroying the "far-reaching system" of business monopoly.

FDR's New Deal had similar timely significance. He tossed out the pledge of a "new deal for the American people" in his 1932 acceptance speech. In the middle of a depression such a vision had meaning.

Truman's Fair Deal was just a variation of the New Deal and with little meaning of its own. But Kennedy's New Frontier theme, made in his 1960 acceptance speech, had significance at the time even if later the tag lost its original gloss.

Kennedy's New Frontier appeal was basically to the young.

"It would be easier to shrink back from that frontier," he said, "to look to the safe mediocrity of the past, to be lulled by good intentions and high rhetoric — and those who prefer that course should not cast their votes for me, regardless of party."

LBJ WANTS TO PERSUADE REPUBLICANS, TOO

Johnson's present appeal for support of his aim of a Great Society, however, deliberately lacks the lusty partisan spark. It is admitted that it is in line with the President's desire to wage a high - level campaign based on his effort to be "President of all the people" and thus push causes which will appeal as much to "forward - looking" Republicans as to Democrats.

He spelled out his Great Society ideals most clearly in his speeches at the Universities of Michigan and Texas. In case there is any question about how few Americans could disagree with his rhetorical objectives, consider these descriptions of the Great Society:

"The Great Society rests on abundance and liberty for all. It demands an end to poverty and racial injustice — to which we are totally committed in our time."

"The Great Society is a place where every child can find knowledge to enrich his mind and enlarge his talents. It is a place where leisure is a welcome chance to build and reflect, not a feared cause of boredom and restlessness."

HE HAS A THEME SONG READY AT HAND

"It is a place where the city of man serves not only the needs of the body and the demands of commerce but the desire for beauty and the hunger of the community."

"It is a place which honors creation for its own sake and for what it adds to the understanding of the race. It is a place where men are more concerned with the quality of their goals than the quantity of their goods."

In addition to the apparent theme of the Great Society there is considerable evidence that there will be a theme song, too, although one not particularly felevant to the lofty sentiments about the better - America Johnson will work for if he gets a four - year term.

The theme song is "The Eyes of Texas Are Upon You."

The President prefers to rise and put his right hand over his heart when this song is played at any of his appearances. The audiences naturally respond. As Edward T. Folliard, White House correspondent of the Washington Post, has reported: "It looks as if he (Johnson) is out to make the Texas song a part of the American ritual, a sort of Anthem No. 2."

In case anyone is unaware of the tune, it's the same as "I've been working on the railroad all the livelong day."

By DOROTHEA M. BROOKS
United Press International

NEW YORK (UPI) — Condominium, town house and "all-electric" are news in the housing field.

Not so newsy is the fact that moderately priced, conveniently located housing is not easy to come by, particularly in the suburban areas of metropolitan centers.

In New York's Westchester County, for instance, land values often run as high as $10,000 for a half-acre plot and zoning laws call prevalently for one-half to two acres. The tremendous land investment required for housing development under these circumstances has made it almost impossible to build middle-income one-family homes. Indicative of this is the drop in building starts in the county to less than 2,000 homes in 1963.

Now, Syracuse Brothers, Inc., have combined condominium, town house and all-electric in a new 290 - family community where prices will average $17,000.

Joseph Syracuse, builder of luxury housing in Westchester for more than 20 years and head of the county Home Builders Association, estimates it would require sales prices up to $25,000 to create one-family homes of the same construction in the area.

Known as Hillcrest Park, the development is being built in the form of clusters of four to ten two - story, duplex town houses spaced around a park-like area on a 23-acre elevated, wooded tract on the outskirts of the small city of Peekskill. Only 25 per cent of the land area will be used for construction.

The houses are being offered for sale under the condominium form of ownership which provides ownership of the dwelling unit, use of the plot and undivided common interest in the land and off-site improvements of the community. The homes may be financed with mortgages up to 30 years and they are transferable just as private homes are.

Each of the town houses will average more than 1,450 square feet, with three or four bedrooms, 1½ or 2½ baths. The lower floors consist of eat-in kitchen, living - dining room, powder room and full-size entry foyer. The units are soundproofed and double - walled. Storm sash and insulated sliding glass doors to rear porch or patio are included.

Each of the adjoining models varies in interior design and exterior facade while maintaining a coordinated architectural balance. Each house will have a front and rear lawn.

In order to make maximum use of interior house space and keep prices as low as possible, Syracuse has eliminated the basement — a major departure from standard one - family construction in Westchester.

To do this without skimping on room size or storage facilities, the homes will be "all-electric" by General Electric, featuring individual room control baseboard heating — and cooling if desired—with monthly fuel rates guaranteed by bond for the first three years of occupancy to approximately those of on-premises fuel burning equipment.

Included in the purchase price are built-in oven and counter range, 12 cubic foot refrigerator and garbage disposal, by G.E.

All electricity and telephone wires will be carried through underground cables, eliminating unsightly poles and overhead wiring.

Syracuse characterized the development as "semi-urban" combining some of the better features of both urban and suburban living.

Not every family which shuns metropolitan living yearns for the typical suburban bit. The semi - urban locale, adjoining small or medium size cities, Syracuse said, offers the suburban amenities and at the same time provides urban conveniences. Hillcrest Park, for instance, although scenic, wooded and suburban in character, is only five blocks from the heart of Peekskill, its shopping, schools, churches, clubs and transportation.

'Combo' Housing Is New Concept in Real Estate

By DOROTHEA M. BROOKS
United Press International

NEW YORK (UPI) — Condominium, town house and "all-electric" are news in the housing field.

Not so newsy is the fact that moderately priced, conveniently located housing is not easy to come by, particularly in the suburban areas of metropolitan centers.

In New York's Westchester County, for instance, land values often run as high as $10,000 for a half-acre plot and zoning laws call prevalently for one-half to two acres. The tremendous land investment required for housing development under these circumstances has made it almost impossible to build middle-income one-family homes. Indicative of this is the drop in building starts in the county to less than 2,000 homes in 1963.

Now, Syracuse Brothers, Inc., have combined condominium, town house and all-electric in a new 290-family community where prices will average $17,000.

Joseph Syracuse, builder of luxury housing in Westchester for more than 20 years and head of the county Home Builders Association, estimates it would require sales prices up to $25,000 to create one-family homes of the same construction in the area.

Known as Hillcrest Park, the development is being built in the form of clusters of four to ten two-story, duplex town houses spaced around a park-like area on a 23-acre elevated wooded tract on the outskirts of the small city of Peekskill. Only 25 per cent of the land area will be used for construction.

The houses are being offered for sale under the condominium form of ownership which provides ownership of the dwelling unit, use of the plot and undivided common interest in the land and off-site improvements of the community. The homes may be financed with mortgages up to 30 years and they are transferable just as private homes are.

Each of the town houses will average more than 1,450 square feet, with three or four bedrooms, 1½ or 2½ baths. The lower floors consist of eat-in kitchen, living - dining room, powder room and full-size entry foyer. The units are soundproofed and double - walled. Storm sash and insulated sliding glass doors to rear porch or patio are included.

Each of the adjoining models varies in interior design and exterior facade while maintaining a coordinated architectural balance. Each house will have a front and rear lawn.

In order to make maximum use of interior house space and keep prices as low as possible, Syracuse has eliminated the basement — a major departure from standard one - family construction in Westchester.

To do this without skimping on room size or storage facilities, the homes will be "all-electric" by General Electric, featuring individual room control baseboard heating — and cooling if desired — with monthly fuel rates guaranteed by bond for the first three years of occupancy to approximately those of on-premises fuel burning equipment.

Included in the purchase price are built-in oven and counter range, 12 cubic foot refrigerator and garbage disposal by G.E.

All electricity and telephone wires will be carried through underground cables, eliminating unsightly poles and overhead wiring.

Syracuse characterized the development as "semi-urban," combining some of the better features of both urban and suburban living.

Not every family which shuns metropolitan living yearns for the typical suburban bit. The semi - urban locale adjoining small or medium size cities, Syracuse said, offers the suburban amenities and at the same time provides urban conveniences. Hillcrest Park, for instance, although scenic wooded and suburban in character, is only five blocks from the heart of Peekskill, its shopping, schools, churches, clubs and transportation.

Political Shuffle Follows Rioting

By ROBERT LIU

TOKYO (AP)—Kim Chong-pil, a chief target of the mounting student demonstrations in South Korea, resigned today as chairman of President Chung Hee Park's ruling Democratic Republican party.

Park accepted Kim's resignation in an effort to quiet the swelling public discontent. He had rejected a resignation from Kim over the weekend.

Kim, 37, was Park's righthand man, former head of the secret police and a key plotter in the 1961 military coup that brought Park into power.

Park also ordered all colleges and universities in the country closed until July 4, a day before the start of the two-month summer vacation. Eighty-five schools with a total enrollment of 125,000 are affected. Leading universities had been the breeding ground for the riotous demonstrations which this week have raised the gravest challenge so far to Park's regime.

As a leader in recent negotiations to restore normal relations with Japan, Korea's old enemy Kim was a particular object of student wrath. The current wave of student unrest began last March to protest the talks with Japan.

A spokesman said Park expressed appreciation for Kim's work as party chairman when he called at the presidential mansion this afternoon to offer his resignation.

Seoul remained quiet under martial law. But despite a government threat to extend martial law over the whole country, students demonstrated in five cities today. The worst outbreak occurred in Pusan, South Korea's second largest city. Police resorted to tear gas for the first time in Pusan to break up a gathering of students at Donga University.

A total of 2,500 high school students staged antigovernment demonstrations in Kimchon, Chongju and Kwangju.

Mariners See Model of Chapel

Thirty-seven members and guests of the Mariners organization of the First United Presbyterian Church of Canon City gathered at the Pre-Parole Center on May 26. The meeting was presided over by Roy Jasper.

Guests at the meeting included Mr. and Mrs. Riley Simmarell, the Ed Fasslers, the A. A. Colvins, the Dorsey Forakers, Mr. and Mrs. Matt Curtis and the Louis Van Loos.

Program Held At GA Center

The musical program at the Golden Age Center of Canon City Saturday night opened with piano numbers by Miss Twilla Oswald and Miss Crecia Helm, piano students of Mrs. J. Walter Haymaker.

Also on the program were Miss Jolene Tatar, George Starika, Miss Ruth Freed, and Larry Kuretich, all accordion pupils of Mrs. William White, who also played several accordion selections.

Religious numbers sung by J. C. Strickland, C. E. McCormick and Charles Hopper closed the program. The men were accompanied by Mrs. Rollo Gebhardt at the piano.

The kilt was a form of male attire in ancient times, and probably originated in the Mediterranean area, not as is commonly believed, in Scotland.

The First Methodist Church of Canon City was the setting for the annual spring flower show sponsored by the Skyline Garden Club on May 27. This year's theme was "Beauty is Everyone's Business."

Assisting the Skyline Club with contributions and other help were the Woman's Club of Canon City, Garden Department; the Green Thumb Club; and others.

The iris were larger and more beautiful than ever this year and several new species were entered. Other spring flowers made beautiful bouquets, while bird baths, rocks and unusual arrangements completed the show.

By RALPH BERNSTEIN
Associated Press Sports Writer

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Sandy Koufax revealed Thursday night his no-hitter against the Philadelphia Phillies was the result of a careful study of his pitching form that disclosed he has been making a mistake in his delivery.

Surrounded in the Los Angeles Dodgers' clubhouse after his 3-0 triumph, Koufax said:

"I have been studying pictures in magazines of my form and suddenly realized that I had been stepping to far to the left with the right foot across my body.

"So in the first few innings I concentrated on making an adjustment, stepping more to the right. It felt fine. I had the old pitching rhythm back.

"As a matter of fact, by the fifth inning I forgot all about it. Everything was natural again. I was throwing the way I wanted to."

Koufax, his handsome, unshaven face a study in satisfaction, said his job against the league leading Phillies was the best of his three no-hitters.

Speaking with the smooth confidence of a politician, he recalled that in his 1962 no-hitter against the New York Mets he walked five, and last year when he blanked the San Francisco Giants he passed two and had more trouble with his control.

"This time I had my control," he said. "I felt I had better stuff here than I did in the other two. Thank goodness, it was the first time this season I've been able to put everything together."

He said the fourth ball to third baseman Richie Allen in the fourth inning, the only Philadelphia player to reach base, was a low fast ball.

"It's a funny thing," he related. "Doug (Camilli, Dodgers' catcher) called for a curve ball, I shook him off for the fast ball. Then while I was winding up I thought to myself, 'Doug's right, a curve ball would be better.' But I didn't think fast enough and instead of stepping off the rubber I went through with the fast ball, and it was low, no doubt of that."

Someone asked why he didn't change the pitch while pitching and Koufax replied:

"You can't do that. It's like stopping on the back swing in golf. You just don't."

The 28-year-old Koufax confessed that he got just as big a thrill out of his third no-hitter as he did his first. He said he knew all the way that the Phillies were hitless.

"Heck, I know what's going on out there," he exclaimed. "You have to."

Although nobody said anything either on the Dodger or Philadelphia benches, Koufax said he wasn't superstitious and didn't believe in the tale that mentioning a no-hitter is a jinx.

"When I pitched the one against the Mets, Solly Hemus, a coach, reminded me of it every inning, starting in the first when I retired the first three batters," Koufax said.

The outstanding pitcher in the majors last year, Koufax has been having his difficulties getting into a winning groove in 1964. But he feels that from here on out he'll be as "tough as ever."

Asked if he felt tense in the ninth with the no-hitter three outs away, Koufax said, "No, I just worked harder, threw harder. I think at that point you become a thrower instead of a pitcher, trying to blow it by them."

Koufax and the other Dodgers agreed that the only real chance the Phillies had for a hit was in the seventh when Allen chopped one toward third and Junior Gilliam charged in, grabbed it off the grass and rifled the Phils' runner out.

Gilliam, still angry with himself for a boot in the 11th inning of Wednesday night's game that allowed the winning run to score, said of the play:

"It wasn't any harder than the one I booted the other night."

Camilli and Koufax agreed that the 200-pound southpaw threw nothing but fast balls and curves all night and that Koufax shook off his catcher's signs no more than usual, about a dozen times.

"I'd say Sandy did right well," he commented wryly.

City Team Established as Solid Favorite In High School All-Star Contest Tonight

By TOM CUSHMAN
Gazette Telegraph Sports Writer

An outstanding quartet of pitchers and a lineup of robust sluggers will make the City stars a solid favorite to win the first annual high school All-Star baseball game at Memorial Park tonight.

The novel contest, which is being staged as a benefit for the summer baseball program in Colorado Springs, will match a squad from three city schools against a team selected from five suburban institutions. Game time is scheduled for 7:30 p.m. with Saturday night listed as an alternate date if inclimate weather should happen to interfere this evening.

The Metropolitan team, which is coached by Eldon Helm of Cheyenne Mountain and Russ Lyon of Air Academy High, is operating under something of a handicap in that many of the better players in those schools were not members of the senior class — and this contest is limited to final year stars. In contrast, Gib Funk of Wasson and Jerry Hughes of Palmer, coaches of the City team, have one of the finest groups of seniors available here in several years.

Funk has designated Bob Kochis, a veteran righthander with a live fast ball and excellent breaking stuff, to lead off the pitching performance for the City squad. While toiling for Funk's Wasson team this spring, Kochis posted a brilliant 1.00 earned run average in 49 innings, walked just 10, and fanned 62.

The hurlers are limited to three innings of work in this game but the head coach of the City stars should have no problems with that rule. After Kochis he can take his choice from among Bob Torrie and Clay Chambers off his own staff and Ted Jones of Palmer. Torrie was 4-0 for the T-Birds this spring while posting a 1.26 ERA and fanning 34 in 33 1-3 innings; Chambers had a 6-1 mark, a 1.54 ERA, and 39 strikeouts in 35 2-3 innings; and Jones had a 4-1 record, a 1.74 ERA, and 54 strikeouts in 40 innings.

Overall the staff compiled a 19-4 record in AAA action this spring, had a composite 1.37 earned run mark, and whiffed 189 batters in 158 innings of work.

Helm's starting pitcher, Danny Gieck of Harrison, also ran up an impressive record while carying the load for a young Panther squad this spring. Gieck overcame the effects of an early-season sore arm to build a 5-4 record for a team made up mostly of sophomores, had a fine 2.62 earned run average in 58 2-3 innings, and had a total of 96 strikeouts. In his final start of the year, the Harrison ace fired a no-hitter at Manitou Springs, fanning 14 in the process.

After Gieck, Helm can go to Carter Dean of Academy High, Chuck McGee of Cheyenne, or Steve Kohl of Manitou Springs. Barrie Riddoch of Cheyenne, who will start in right field, has also done relief pitching for the Indians' Pikes Peak League champions.

In addition to the standout pitching, the City stars appear to be solid in other departments. Hal Meller of Wasson gives them a standout catcher and Don Breeding of Palmer is a solid backup man at that position. Around the infield the City is loaded with hard-hitting veterans such as Jerry Golden and Chuck Reinking of Palmer and Mike Teague and Chambers of Wasson. The one possible trouble spot is shortstop where Funk had no player that had performed there regularly. Gary Johnson, who played third base for the Terrors, will move over for this contest.

The starting outfield will feature a star from each of the three schools with John Wickham of Wasson in left, Don Shoffner of Palmer in center, and Dave Grantz of St. Mary's in right. Terry Stillwaugh of Wasson provides strength in either the outfield or infield. St. Mary's Pat McElderry, the other squad member, injured a hand in practice Wednesday and may not be able to play this evening.

The Metro team will field a starting lineup of players primarily from Cheyenne and Academy High, the two powers of the Pikes Peak League this spring. Helm has his own veteran catcher, Joel Folk, for duty at that position and Cheyenne's Gary Graham, one of the area's outstanding athletes, will work at second. John Irvin, Bill Culver, and Lance Jensen of the Academy team will likely fill the other starting positions in the infield with Tom Pearson of Widefield listed as a possibility at shortstop.

In the outfield, solid-hitting John McWherter of Academy High will be in left, with Jack O'Brien of Cheyenne in center and Riddoch in right.

Both squads have been hindered by the recent rains which washed out one practice session after another before fair weather set in at midweek. Nevertheless both appear to be ready for peak efforts in the nine inning battle tonight.

The idea from the game came from the coaches of the region who were anxious to see funds made available to improve the summer baseball program which has lagged badly here in recent years. All proceeds tonight will go toward that purpose.

The advance sale of tickets has been in progress for several weeks and for those not having ducats yet, the Memorial Park box office will be open at 6:30 tonight. Adult tickets are $1 with student admission 50 cents. Children under 12 will be admitted free when accompanied by an adult.

STRONG ARMS OF THE CITY TEAM—This is the outstanding quartet of City pitchers that will face the Suburban stars in the first annual high school All-Star Baseball Game at Memorial P ark at 7:30 tonight. From left: Clay Chambers, who had a 6-1 record and a 1.54 earned run average for Wasson this spring; Ted Jones of Palmer who was 4-1 with a 1.74 ERA; Bob Kochis of Wasson who was 5-2 with a 1.00 ERA; and Bob Torrie of Wasson who was 4-0 with a 1.26 ERA. Kochis, who fanned 62 batters in 49 innings for the T-Birds, will draw the starting call against Danny Gieck of the Suburban stars. (Gazette Telegraph Photo)

Falcons Fall to ASU In District Baseball

MESA, Ariz. — They're still determining winners in baseball by the numer of runs scored—not the most hits — so Arizona State University will represent NCAA District 7 in the College World Series this year.

For the second straight time, the Air Force Academy outhit the Sun Devils in their best-of-three playoff for district honors, but ASU made theirs count more as they wrapped up the series in two straight Thursday night with a narrow 7-6 victory.

Now Arizona State and the University of Missouri will oppose each other in the final game of the opening round of play in the NCAA finals at Omaha this next Monday at 9:30 p.m. as the double elimination World Series gets underway.

Thursday night's victory, along with a 6-1 triumph last Monday over the Falcons in Colorado Springs, handed the Devils the regional title. In the first meeting between these two, the AFA had an 8-6 advantage in hits and Thursday they had an even wider margin of 14-5 in safeties — but Arizona had the runs.

It was another nightmare of frustration for the Falcons as they stranded an even dozen base runners in Thursday's contest. That gave them a grand total of 30 left on base for the two games with ASU, which should stand as some sort of playoff record.

The Air Force, forced to give up the home advantage because of a week-long rain in Colorado that washed the seires to Arizona , took a two-run lead in the opening inning and ran that margin to 4-0 with another two runs in the fourth. But Arizona State went in front to stay with three-run sprees in the fifth and sixth iinnings. . . with five of them the unearned variety.

Dick Heiden topped the A-State attack with two hits in four appearances, including a double that highlighted the three-run burst in the fifth inning. Shortstop Darryl Bloodworth was the top AFA hitter with three for four at the plate.

Both teams had trouble afield in the dimly lit park here in Mesa, nicknamed Candle-lit Park by some of the local fans. Arizona State committed four errors and the Air Force three.

Reliefer Sam Cook was credited with the victory and Air Force starter Fred Olmsted picked up his first loss in nine decisions this season. The Sun Devils collected only five hits, but Olmsted had trouble with wildness throughout the contest. Sophomore Al McClure came on in relief for Olmsted in the sixth, but the damage was done by then.

The actual winning run was scored by Arizona State on the tricky double steal in the top of the seventh inning. Center fielder Jack Handley zipped in from third base with the final margin of victory as the Air Force tried to stop the steal of second by the other base runner.

Arizona State's victory gave the NCAA tournament its last entry as Missouri had qualified Thursday afternoon when its game with St. Louis was rained out. The Tigers, who have a 22-game winning streak, had beaten St. Louis the day before, 2-1, and had an agreement that if any other games in their playoff were rained out the winner of the first game would represent the district.

Missouri is ranked No. 1 in the country, and Arizona State is No. 2 in the latest college poll. They will meet in the opening round, which is bound to knock out one of the top two teams the first night.

The World Series will open at noon (EST) on Monday with Seton Hall and Maine, the Eastern entries, playing. Texas A&M meets Minnesota, the eventual champion in its two previous series appearances, at 3 p.m.

Opening the night program will be Southern California, the defending champion, and Mississippi at 7 p.m. Then Missouri and Arizona State follow in the first day's windup at 9:30 p.m.

Missouri Top Team In Poll

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) — In a thrilling race to the wire, Missouri nipped Arizona State University and ranks as the No. 1 collegiate baseball club in the land.

The final poll of the season conducted by the newspaper, Collegiate Baseball, showed Missouri and Arizona State with 19 first-place votes each, but Missouri nipped the Sun Devils by three points, 349 to 346, when the total points were tabulated.

Ironically, the two clubs were involved in an unprecedented deadlock in the previous poll. And if both clubs qualified in their district playoffs this week, they were scheduled to meet in the opening round of the annual College World Series at Omaha Monday night in what could be one of the most dramatic meetings in the history of the college classic.

Two more teams with their sights on the national championship—and with excellent chances of winning—are No. 3-ranked Mississippi, fielding one of its most powerful clubs in history, and University of Southern California, No. 4. USC won the NCAA title last year and has 21 lettermen back from that championship club. But the competition is so keen this year USC has to share the pre-tournament favorite's role with at least three other teams.

Rounding out the top 10 were, in order: Texas A&M, Minensota, Seton Hall, Oregon, Santa Clara and North Carolina.

Yankees Outlast Twins Via Bobby Richardson's Bat

By MURRAY CHASS
Associated Press Sports Writer

Bobby Richardson is hitting more and striking out less.

Actually, if he would strike out any less, he wouldn't.

Richardson, who has fanned only twice in 184 times at bat this season, struck five hits for the second time this season as the New York Yankees outlasted Minnesota 9-7 Thursday.

The perfect performance boosted the second baseman's batting average to .310. Only three games ago Richardson was hitting .282.

Only three other players in the majors have belted five hits in a game this season. Richardson was the first to do it, banging out five singles in the first game of a doubleheader against Cleveland May 10.

His hits Thursday consisted of four singles and a double. He also scored twice and drove in a run.

"It can't be explained," Richardson said of his feat. "Frequently you hit three or four good balls during a game, but they will be right at somebody. For a day like this, they have to all go to the right spot, mine did."

Richardson's strike out rate, or near lack of it, is even more phenomenal than his five-hit production. He always has been among the league leaders in fewest strikeouts, but there may not even be a contest this season.

For the past three years, Richardson has fanned an average of 23 times in 661 plate appearances, or once every 29 times at bat. If he maintains his present rate for the same number of at bats, he would fan only seven times.

Only one other game was played in the American League Thursday. Chicago defeated Cleveland in that one 5-1. Rain washed out the Baltimore-Kansas City game.

In the National League Sandy Koufax pitched a record-tying third no-hitter in the Los Angeles Dodgers' 3-0 victory over Philadelphia. In other games Pittsburgh stopped San Francisco 4-2, Cincinnati beat Milwaukee 6-3, Chicago nipped St. Louis 2-1 and Houston whipped New York 7-3.

Even with Richardson's hitting, the Yankees needed three-run homers by Joe Pepitone and Roger Maris for their victory. Pepitone connected in the four-run first while Maris' blow gave New York a 9-5 lead in the fourth.

Reliever Pete Mikkelsen won his fourth game against one defeat, pitching his way out of jams in the last three innings.

Ray Herbert and Frank Kreutzer limited the Indians to five hits. Kreutzer didn't give up anything after relieving Herbert in the sixth. The White Sox starter had to leave the game when his elbow stiffened.

The game was tied 1-1 in the sixth until Al Weis singled and Floyd Robinson slammed his seventh homer. The Indians scored in the first on Dick Howser's double, an infield out and Leon Wagner's sacrifice fly.

Back Injury Stops Patterson From Training

STOCKHOLM (AP)—A back injury has interrupted Floyd Patterson's training and has the former heavyweight champion very worried today.

The 29-year-old New Yorker is scheduled to meet Eddie Machen of Los Angeles here July 5 in an elimination bout that could earn the winner a shot at heavyweight champion Cassius Clay.

There was some talk here that the Patterson's aching back may force a postponement of the Machen fight. Machen is due to leave Los Angeles June 10 to finish his training in Sweden.

Neither Patterson nor his trainer-manager Dan Florio disclosed any details of the back trouble except to admit that Patterson was hurting and that he had visited a chiropractor in the east coast town of Kalmar Thursday. Patterson's training camp is at Ronneby in the south.

Florio was optimistic that rest would cure the trouble while Patterson was pessimistic. He had difficulty moving around. Florio, who has trained Patterson from the beginning of his pro career in 1952, said the fighter never has been bothered by back trouble before.

Twins Give Bonus to Pitcher

SANTA CLARA, Calif. (AP)—Pete Magrini, right-handed pitching ace of the Santa Clara University Broncos, was signed Thursday to a bonus contract by the Minnesota Twins of the American League, and assigned to Charlotte, N.C., of the Class AA Southern Association.

Amount of the bonus was not disclosed. Magrini would say only that the contract was "very good."

Magrini, 21, became the third Santa Clara senior to be signed to major league contracts in the past week. Left-handed pitcher Larry Laughlin signed with the National League Philadelphia Phillies last Sunday and third-baseman Tim Cullen was signed Monday by the Boston Red Sox of the American League.

Magrini, 6 feet and 190 pounds, posted an 11-1 record this year. He was 6-1 in the California Intercollegiate Baseball Association and was named to the CIBA's all-league team.

Magrini will report to the Charlotte farm club Monday.

Pirate Rookie Blass Checks Giants; Robinson's Homers Topple Reds

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

Sandy Koufax has finished practicing.

He finished about halfway through the third no-hitter of his major league career, allowing only one walk in a 3-0 victory over Philadelphia Thursday night and joining Bob Feller as the only triple no-hit hurlers in modern baseball history.

Minutes later, in the Los Angeles Dodgers' dressing room, the unshaven Koufax made a startling revelation—in the first few innings he was just trying to adjust his motion.

"I have been studying pictures in magazines of my form," Koufax explained, "and suddenly realized that I had been stepping too far to the left with the right foot across my body.

"So in the first few innings I concentrated on making an adjustment, stepping more to the right. It felt fine. I had the old pitching rhythm back."

No one knew it was missing. Koufax had not been the sensational pitcher he was last year when he won Most Valuable Player honors and the Cy Young Award as the best pitcher in the majors. But everyone presumed he was still shaking off an early season injury.

Against the Phillies, it was difficult to tell where Koufax corrected his mistake. Only four balls were hit to the outfield and the closest thing to a hit was Richie Allen's slow grounder in the seventh inning, scooped up by third baseman Jim Gilliam, who quickly fired to first for the out.

Allen also was the lone Phillies' baserunner but was thrown out attempting to steal after walking on a 3-2 pitch in the fourth inning.

Koufax said the fourth ball to Allen—the only thing that stood in the way of a perfect game—was a low fast ball thrown after he shook off a sign from catcher Doug Camilli.

"He called for a curve," said Koufax. "I shook him off for the fast ball. Then while I was winding up I thought to myself, 'Doug's right, a curve ball would be better'. But I didn't think fast enough and I went through with the fast ball, and it was low no doubt of that."

Feller, the only other pitcher to hurl three no-hitters, in post-1900 action, was in Cleveland Thursday night as the Indians played the Chicago White Sox. He wasn't at all surprised that Koufax had matched his three no-hitters.

"Why, the way this guy's going," said Feller, "he may get three more of them before he's through."

Feller didn't see his favorites win, the Indians losing to the White Sox 5-1. In the only other American League game played, the New York Yankees defeated Minnesota 9-7.

In other National League action, Pittsburgh whipped San Francisco 4-2, the Chicago Cubs edged St. Louis 2-1, Cincinnati downed Milwaukee 6-3 and Houston beat the New York Mets 7-3.

Koufax, bringing his record to 6-4 with the 99th victory of his career, struck out 12 Phillies, and thus tied another record. It was the 54th time in his career he had struck out 10 or more batters, equailing the mark previously shared by Feller and Rube Waddell.

Koufax got the only runs he needed when Frank Howard hit his 14th homer in the seventh inning off Chris Short following singles by Gilliam and Tommy Davis.

Rookie Steve Blass checked the Giants on five hits while the Pirates struck for four runs in the fourth and put it away. Willie Stargell singled home the first run in the uprising, Bill Mazeroski singled home two more and Bob Bolin forced in the final run with a bases-loaded walk.

The Cubs and Cardinals played the season's fastest game in the NL. Ron Santo's two-run homer in the fourth providing Chicago's runs while Charley James homered for St. Louis. It was Santo's third homer in three games and gave Dick Ellsworth, 7-4, the edge against Bob Gibson, 2-5, in a battle of six-hitters.

Frank Robinson's second home run of the game, a three-run shot in the ninth gave the Reds their victory. The Braves pulled off a triple play in the second inning when Leo Cardenas lined to Mike de la Hoz with two men on. The second baseman flipped to shortstop Denis Menke for the second out and the relay to first nailed No. 3.

Dick Farrell brought his record to 8-1 against the Mets with 3 2-3 innings of no-hit relief work by Don Larsen. The Colts, meanwhile, collected 15 hits—four each by Bob Lillis and Eddie Kasko—and were aided by four New York errors.

T-39 Mishap At Pete Field

An Air Force T-39 Sabreliner, jet aircraft piloted by Captain James L. Landers, over ran the runway at Peterson Field, causing minor damage to the aircraft and no injury to the passengers, at 11:38 a.m. Thursday.

The aircraft, bound for Andrews Air Force Base, was carrying Col. Howard H. Cloud, Ent base commander, and Capt. Kenneth Becker. The co-pilot was Lt. Col. Walter S. Crum, and the crew chief was S. Sgt. John J. Bergin, of the 4600th Organizational Maintenance Squadron.

A board of officers has been appointed to investigate the cause of the accident.

Average per capita income in Washington, D.C., was $3,219 in 1962, higher than any state except Nevada, according to the Population Reference Bureau.

Range Riders To Meet With Carson Group

Members of the Pikes Peak or Bust Rodeo Range Riders will flex their riding muscles at Ft. Carson Saturday and Sunday, with men of the Carson-based Cavalier Riding Club.

Special Troops, directed by Major Leslie Miller, executive officer, will support the weekend activity which will help the Range Riders get in condition for their hoseback trek around Pikes Peak in July.

More than 60 members of the two organizations are expected to turn out.

The riders will check in at the Fort Carson Rod and Gun Club area at the Mary-Ellen Ranch on Saturday morning and have lunch at the clubhouse. Ground conditions and weather permitting, they will see a polo game before riding to their campsite at the south end of Carson southeast of Lytle School.

Their evening schedule includes caring for their mounts, getting settled in their tents and eating followed by entertainment provided by Ent Special Services.

On Sunday morning the Range Riders and Cavaliers will have breakfast followed by church services in the open, mounted games by the Cavaliers and the ride back to the Ft. Carson Rod and Gun Club.

Political Shuffle Follows Rioting

By ROBERT LIU

TOKYO (AP)—Kim Chong-pil, a chief target of the mounting student demonstrations in South Korea, resigned today as chairman of President Chung Hee Park's ruling Democratic Republican party.

Park accepted Kim's resignation in an effort to quiet the swelling public discontent. He had rejected a resignation from Kim over the weekend.

Kim, 37, was Park's righthand man, former head of the secret police and a key plotter in the 1961 military coup that brought Park into power.

Park also ordered all colleges and universities in the country closed until July 4, a day before the start of the two-month summer vacation. Eighty-five schools with a total enrollment of 125,000 are affected. Leading universities had been the breeding ground for the riotous demonstrations which this week have raised the gravest challenge so far to Park's regime.

As a leader in recent negotiations to restore normal relations with Japan, Korea's old enemy Kim was a particular object of student wrath. The current wave of student unrest began last March to protest the talks with Japan.

A spokesman said Park expressed appreciation for Kim's work as party chairman when he called at the presidential mansion this afternoon to offer his resignation.

Seoul remained quiet under martial law. But despite a government threat to extend martial law over the whole country, students demonstrated in five cities today. The worst outbreak occurred in Pusan, South Korea's second largest city. Police resorted to tear gas for the first time in Pusan to break up a gathering of students at Dong-ga University.

A total of 2,500 high school students staged antigovernment demonstrations in Kimchon, Chongju and Kwangju.

In Taegu, 17 law students continued a hunger strike they began Thursday demanding the end of military rule in Seoul and the release of students arrested in earlier demonstrations.

Ex-Hockey Player Leads Thunderbird Golf Tourney

By JIM BECKER
Associated Press Sports Writer

RYE, N.Y. (AP)—For Jerry Magee, golf has been better than a poke in the eye with a hockey stick. But not much.

The husky Canadian made $24 in official money on the tour last year, and he hasn't topped the $1,000 mark yet this campaign.

For that kind of money he gave up thoughts of a pro hockey career some years ago, but only after he got poked in the eye with a hockeystick. He was left with a bad right eye, and some second thoughts.

"There have been times when I wondered if I gave up the right game," said Magee.

But today the 30-year-old Toronto pro, whose hair is already graying a little from standing over three-foot putts, led the $100,000 Thunderbird tournament with a first round six-under-par 66 for the 6,573-yard Westchester Country Club course.

He had a one stroke leadover Phil Rodgers and Ken Venturi, whose game went to pieces three year s ago when he suffered a back injury and who has only recently returned to form. Venturi and Rodgers had 67, with Rodgers playing the last 10 holes seven under par after a rocky start.

The touring pros, sharpening up for the U.S. Open in two weeks, wrecked the short course on a fine day for golf. A gusty wind blew in mid-day but it seemed to help as much as it hurt.

In all, 43 players broke par 72.

There were nine at 68, including last year's winner, Arnold Palmer, and the man he beat in a playoff, Paul Harney.

Others were 68 for Kel Nagle of Australia, Bob Goalby, Tony Lema, Bob Nichols, Harold Kneece, Bob Rosburg and Marty Furgol.

Six more, including Bob Duden who putts croquet mallet-style, had 69.

Open champion Julius Boros had 72. Jack Nicklaus was well back at 73.

"I took six on each of the par five on the back nine, where I was hoping for fours," Nicklaus said. I'm just not playing well."

Palmer was. Asked if he was getting in the groove for the Open, he said "I hope so. I made some putts and I missed some, but I was satisfied with my game."

Venturi, who had to telephone and ask for an invitation to play in the Thunderbird, said "each week I seem to play a little better. I'm working my way back to where I was.

"I won't say I slumped when I hurt my back. I dropped. It was just like falling out a window. I haven't been able to play since."

Dancer Faces Seven Rivals In Race for Triple Crown

By ORLO ROBERTSON
Asociated Press Sports Writer

And it's 3-to-5 that the Kentucky Derby and Preakness winner will accomplish the feat by winning the 96th running of the $125,000-added Belmont Stakes before an Aqueduct crowd of some 65,000 and a national television and radio audience.

Only eight horses have put together the triple in the 90 years in which the Kentucky Derby, Preakness and Belmont have been run. The last was Citation in 1948. Since then just two colts, Tim Tam and Carry Back have come up to the 1½ miles of the Belmont with a chance for a sweep. Outsiders ruined both—for Tim Tam in 1958 and Carry Back in 1961.

With eight starters the race will be worth $154,600. The winner will earn the richest Belmont purse of $110,850 with $25,000 for second, $12,500 third and $6,250 fourth. There were originally 146 nominations at $100 each. It costs another $250 to enter and an additional $1,000 to start.

Post time is 3:45 p.m., EST with television (CBS) scheduled for 3:30-4 p.m. and radio (CBS) from 3:40-4 p.m.

From the position of the second choice to Hill Rise in the Kentucky Derby and Preakness the Dancer has established himself as the short-priced favorite. He won the Derby by a neck over Hill Rise and beat The Scoundrel, now sidelined by an injury, by 2¼ lengths in the Preakness. Hill Rise was a nose back in third.

Roman Brother ran fourth in the Derby and a dismal fifth in the Preakness but came back to take last Saturday's Jersey Derby over 1⅛ miles. Quadrangle was fifth in the Derby and fourth in the Preakness and then turned in a top effort for runner-up honors behind the 5-year-old Olden Times in the Metropolitan Handicap last Saturday. He turned in a flashy work out Thursday with six furlongs in 1:13 2- after reeling off five-eighths of a mile in 59 seconds.

Orientalist, a royally bred son of Swaps out of O'Melia sired by the English Derby winner, Owen Tudor, never has raced in such high class company. But trainer Jimmy Conway, admittedly high on the colt last year, figures the striking black Darby Dan representative is just reaching top form.

Bill Hartack and Willie Shoemaker will occupy their familiar seats atop Northern Dancer and Hill Rise, respectively. Fernando Alvarez, a Chilean from Panama who won with Roman Brother in the Jersey Derby, again will be astride the Harbor View gelding. Manuel Ycaza replaces Braulio Baeza on Quadrangle and Baeza pilots Orientalist.

Johnny Rotz will be astride Brave Lad while Johnny Sellers will pilot Shook and Bill Boland will be up on Determined Man.

Other top events include the $40,000-added Swaps over one mile at Arlington Park; Delawar Park's $25,000-added Kent for 3-year-olds and $20,000-added Polly Drummond for 2-year-old fillies and the $15,000 added Tyro for 2-year-olds at Monmouth Park.

Kelso, Horse of The Year the last four years, heads the field for the 1 1-16 miles of the Californian. The champion failed dismally in his 1964 debut two weeks ago but trainer Carl Hanford says he is ready for the rich test. He'll carry top weight of 127 pounds along with Mr. Consistency. Admiral's Voyage picks up 123. The well regarded Cyrano was taken out of the race because of an ailing front leg.

The Swaps is for 4-year-olds and if there are more than 16 entries it will be split into two divisions. Top contenders are Clem Pac, Dunfee, Bold Destroyer and Nushka.

Second flight 3-year-olds clash in the 1 1-16 miles of the Kent with the field topped by Knightly Manner, winner of the Chesapeake, Kentucky Jug, Bupers and Sheldrake.

HE'S AFTER THE TRIPLE CROWN — Northern Dancer, winner of the Kentucky Derby and the Preakness, presented this study at Belmont Park in New York Thursday where he is working out for Saturday's Belmont Stakes. If the Canadian-owned horse takes the Belmont Stakes, which will be run at nearby Aqueduct race track, he'll be the first winner of the Triple Crown since Citation in 1948. (AP Wirephoto)

Koufax Feat Tops Season's Wildest Week of Baseball

By MURRAY CHASS
Associated Press Sports Writer

This was the week that was in baseball:

The week, one of the wildest in the game, started Sunday with a 23-inning game between the San Francisco Giants and the New York Mets.

Lasting seven hours and 23 minutes, the contest—won by the Giants 8-6—established numerous records. Among others, it was the longest on a time basis in major league history.

In the 14th inning of that game, the Mets pulled off a triple play, the second of the season. Orlando Cepeda was the victim.

In Thursday's game between Cincinnatti and Milwaukee, the Braves executed another triple play. Leo Cardenas hit into it in the second inning.

A few hours later, Sandy Koufax of Los Angeles pitched the third no-hitter of his career as the Dodgers blanked Philadelphia 3-0.

Koufax tied Bob Feller's modern no-hit record while, at the same time, facing the minimum 27 batters. Richie Allen, who walked in the fourth, was the only baserunner. He was out stealing.

Koufax also struck out 12, marking the 54th time he has struck out 10 or more batters in a game. That ties him with Feller and Rube Waddell.

Then there was the defensive play Willie Mays pulled Wednesday night in the Giants' 3-0 victory over Pittsburgh. The great center fielder dropped a fly ball for an error, the first time he did that in 10 years.

The week, incidentally, has two days left.

Johnny Bizzarro Gets His Chance Against Narvaez

Both are aiming high. Bizzarro, rated No. 1 or No. 2 in the junior lightweight—130 pounds—class by the various rankings, is anxious for another shot at Flash Elordes' title. Narvaez, No. 7 or No. 8 in the rankings among Carlos Ortiz' contenders in the lightweight class, hopes to graduate to a championship bout.

Bizzarro has a 46-7-2 record dating back to 1958. In two 1964 starts he lost a decision to Kenny Lane and stopped Ricky Palmieri.

Narvaez, unbeaten since Dec. 16, 1961, stopped Tony LaBarbara and outpointed Luis Molina and Vincent Derado this year. His record is 19-11-1.

The 10-round match will be carried on network (ABC) television at 9 p.m., EST. Two judges and a referee will score it by rounds, using a supplementary point system in case the rounds are even.

Pueblo Gives Zaharias Okay To Lease Course

PUEBLO (AP) — The City Council has given preliminary approval to a project to lease City Park Golf Course to George Zaharias, former professional wrestler and later a sports and golf promoter.

The action is subject to ratification later by the council, probably at its June 22 meeting.

The proposal calls for a 15-year lease under which Zaharias would pay $5,000 per year or 10 per cent of membership and greens fees, whichever is greater.

Zaharias, who calls Pueblo his home city, said he plans to build a $75,000 clubhouse and to add a nine-hole course to the present 18 holes.

He estimated his total expansion program would cost $125,000 to 150,000 by 1966. Zaharias was married to the late Babe Didriksen Zaharias, stellar golfer and all-around athlete.

Janssen Leads Blue Marlin Fish Tourney

HATTERAS, N.C. (AP)—Joe Janssen Sr. of Longport, N.J., who caught and released his second marlin Thursday, has taken the lead in the International Blue Marlin Tournament with 600 points.

A total of seven marlin were boated or released during the third day of the four-day tournament which has attracted some 100 anglers.

They included Govs. Terry Sanford of North Carolina and John Connally of Texas Thursday. The Texan caught the largest fish.

Connally, the guest of Sanford during the fifth annual tournament, was credited with the biggest catch of four dolphin, a 25 - pounder. The governors failed to catch a marlin, but did land the dolphin.

In second place with 462 points was William Fletcher of Easton, Md., who landed a 369½-pound marlin.

Poli Sheanhen, Bethesda, Md., who caught and released his marlin Tuesday, was in third place with 450 points.

Two More Indy Veterans Enter Continental Race

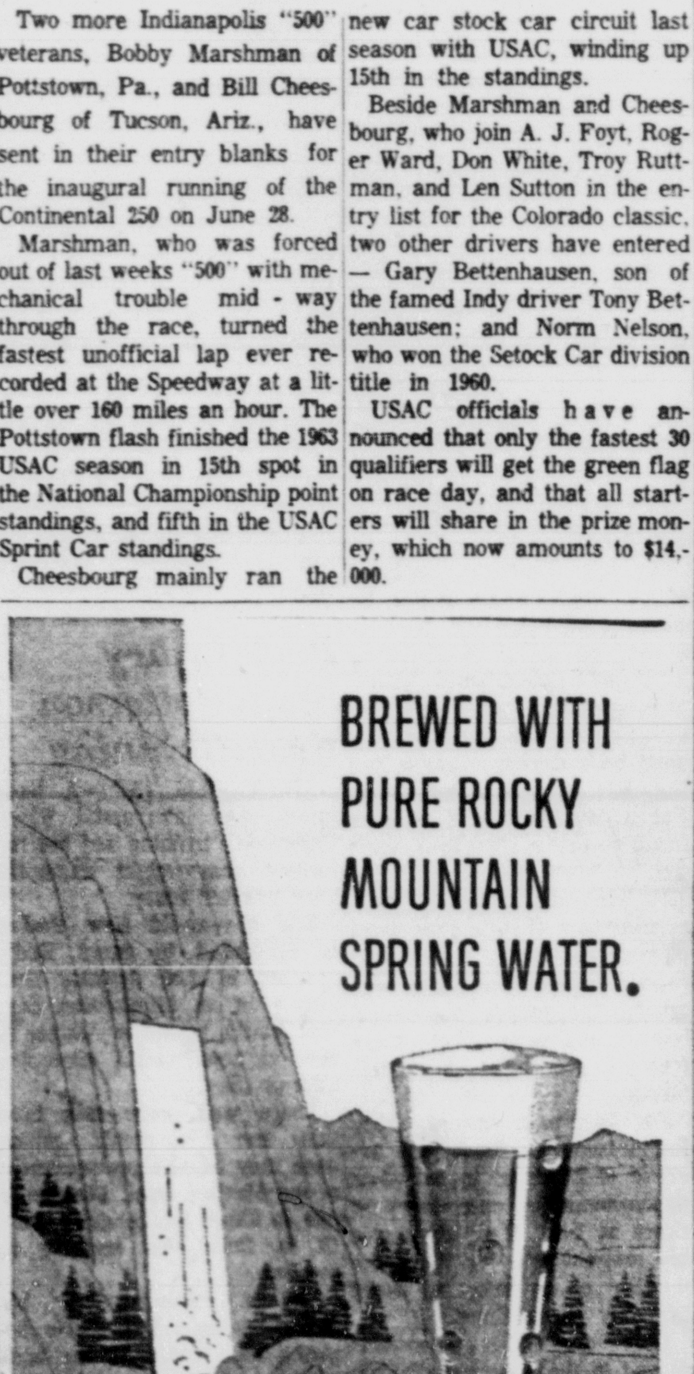
Two more Indianapolis "500" veterans, Bobby Marshman of Pottstown, Pa., and Bill Cheesbourg of Tucson, Ariz., have sent in their entry blanks for the inaugural running of the Continental 250 on June 28.

Marshman, who was forced out of last weeks "500" with mechanical trouble mid - way through the race, turned the fastest unofficial lap ever recorded at the Speedway at a little over 160 miles an hour. The Pottstown flash finished the 1963 USAC season in 15th spot in the National Championship point standings, and fifth in the USAC Sprint Car standings.

Cheesbourg mainly ran the new car stock car circuit last season with USAC, winding up 15th in the standings.

Beside Marshman and Cheesbourg, who join A. J. Foyt, Roger Ward, Don White, Troy Ruttman, and Len Sutton in the entry list for the Colorado classic, two other drivers have entered — Gary Bettenhausen, son of the famed Indy driver Tony Bettenhausen; and Norm Nelson, who won the Setock Car division title in 1960.

USAC officials have announced that only the fastest 30 qualifiers will get the green flag on race day, and that all starters will share in the prize money, which now amounts to $14,000.



Traveler Hurler Paces PCL Win Over Bears

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Gary Kroll struck out 15 batters to lead Arkansas to a 4-1 victory over Denver Thursday night and keep the Travelers at the apex of the Pacific Coast League's Eastern Division.

Meanwhile, Oklahoma City defeated Seattle 3-1, snapping a six - game Rainier winning streak and remained second one-half game behind Arkansas.

Salt Lake City tied its game with Indianapolis in the ninth inning and then won it 9-5 in the 12th, San Diego beat Spokane 6-4 and Hawaii stopped Tacoma 5-2. The Dallas at Portland game was postponed because of wet grounds.

Despite the strikeouts, Kroll gave up 10 hits to Denver, but the Bears failed to put them together and scored their only run on a homer by J. W. Porter. The Travelers, who produced eight hits, scored all their four runs in the third, and three were unearned.

The Rainiers' Barry Shetrone opened the scoring at Seattle with a home run in the third. Ernie Fazio and Glenn Vaughn led off with back-to-back doubles for the 89ers in the sixth to tie the score. Then, after a single by Jim Beauchamp, Seattle pitcher Wilbur Wood loaded the bases with a walk. A bouncer to Wood stuck in his glove, which came off his hand as he fell, and Vaughn scored with the winning run.

Home runs kept Salt Lake City in the game twice at Indianapolis and added the climax. John Boccabella homered in the fourth to tie the score 2-all. Paul Popovich sent the game into extra innings with a circuit clout in the ninth and Bill Ott blasted one in the 12th to score the final three runs. A single by Glenn Beckert and a double by Leroy Gregory scored the tie-breaker in the 12th before Ott's homer.

Phoenix Wins National Junior Golf Tourney

The Arizona squad, carrying a five-stroke lead into the finals, won by 16 strokes, 1225 to 1241, after 27 holes. Miami-Dade of Florida was third at 1258.

Stubbs sank a 40-foot chip shot on the fourth playoff hole for a birdie 3. Both had played one-under-par golf for the first three playoff holes. They were tied at 303 each after 72 holes.

Odessa's Charles Bower and Bob Rivera captured the doubles title to turn the tide for the Texans' second straight tennis title. They defeated Tom Nelson and Tom Shattuck of Central Florida 8-6, 6-3.

Jackson's Ed Waits whipped Jay Davis of Columbus, Ga., 1-6, 6-1, 6-3 to take the singles title.

In consolation singles, Tim Barrett of St. Petersburg, Fla., defeated Ted Creager of Flint, Mich., 6-2, 5-7, 6-3.

Central Florida was third in tennis with 15 points. Columbus had 10.

Molina Decisions Tony Perez

Referee Frankie Carter, the only official, scored it six rounds for Molina to three for Perez, with one round even. The crowd of 2,000 booed the decision. Molina was penalized one point in the ninth round for swinging after the bell.

KOUFAX PITCHES THIRD NO-HITTER—Sandy Koufax of the Los Angeles Dodgers holds up three fingers to denote that his no-hit game against the Phillies Thursday night in Philadelphia was the third no-hitter of his career. Frank Howard of the Dodgers sewed up the game by hitting a home run in the seventh inning with two men on base to scuttle the Phillies, 3-0.

Sandy Fires Third No-Hitter

By RALPH BERNSTEIN
Associated Press Sports Writer

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Sandy Koufax revealed Thursday night his no-hitter against the Philadelphia Phillies was the result of a careful study of his pitching form that disclosed he has been making a mistake in his delivery.

Surrounded in the Los Angeles Dodgers' clubhouse after his 3-0 triumph, Koufax said:

"I have been studying pictures in magazines of my form and suddenly realized that I had been stepping to far to the left with the right foot across my body.

"So in the first few innings I concentrated on making an adjustment, stepping more to the right. It felt fine. I had the old pitching rhythm back.

"As a matter of fact, by the fifth inning I forgot all about it. Everything was natural again. I was throwing the way I wanted to."

Koufax, his handsome, unshaven face a study in satisfaction, said his job against the league leading Phillies was the best of his three no-hitters.

Speaking with the smooth confidence of a politician, he recalled that in his 1962 no-hitter against the New York Mets he walked five, and last year when he blanked the San Francisco Giants he passed two and had more trouble with his control.

"This time I had my control," he said. "I felt I had better stuff here than I did in the other two. Thank goodness, it was the first time this season I've been able to put everything together."

He said the fourth ball to third baseman Richie Allen in the fourth inning, the only Philadelphia player to reach base, was a low fast ball.

"It's a funny thing," he related. "Doug (Camilli, Dodgers' catcher) called for a curve ball. I shook him off for the fast ball. Then while I was winding up I thought to myself, 'Doug's right, a curve ball would be better.' But I didn't think fast enough and instead of stepping off the rubber I went through with the fast ball, and it was low, no doubt of that."

Someone asked why he didn't change the pitch while pitching and Koufax replied:

The 28-year-old Koufax confessed that he got just as big a thrill out of his third no-hitter as he did his first. He said he knew all the way that the Phillies were hitless.

"Heck, I know what's going on out there," he exclaimed. "You have to."

Although nobody said anything either on the Dodger or Philadelphia benches, Koufax said he wasn't superstitious and didn't believe in the tale that mentioning a no-hitter is a jinx.

"When I pitched the one against the Mets, Solly Hemus, a coach, reminded me of it every inning, starting in the first when I retired the first three batters," Koufax said.

The outstanding pitcher in the majors last year, Koufax has been having his difficulties getting into a winning groove in 1964. But he feels that from here on out he'll be as "tough as ever."

Asked if he felt tense in the ninth with the no-hitter three outs away, Koufax said, "No, I just worked harder, threw harder. I think at that point you become a thrower instead of a pitcher, trying to blow it by them."

Koufax and the other Dodgers agreed that the only real chance the Phillies had for a hit was in the seventh when Allen chopped one toward third and Junior Gilliam charged in, grabbed it off the grass and rifled the Phils' runner out.

Gilliam, still angry with himself for a boot in the 11th inning of Wednesday night's game that allowed the winning run to score, said of the play:

"It wasn't any harder than the one I booted the other night."

Camilli and Koufax agreed that the 200-pound southpaw threw nothing but fast balls and curves all night and that Koufax shook off his catcher's signs no more than usual, about a dozen times.

Camilli admitted that pitchers like Koufax and Don Drysdale usually call their own game.

"I'd say Sandy did right well," he commented wryly.

By TOM CUSHMAN
Gazette Telegraph Sports Writer

An outstanding quartet of pitchers and a lineup of robust sluggers will make the City stars a solid favorite to win the first annual high school All-Star baseball game at Memorial Park tonight.

The novel contest, which is being staged as a benefit for the summer baseball program in Colorado Springs, will match a squad from three city schools against a team selected from five suburban institutions. Game time is scheduled for 7 30 p m with Saturday night listed as an alternate date if inclimate weather should happen to interfere this evening.

The Metropolitan team, which is coached by Eldon Helm of Cheyenne Mountain and Russ Lyon of Air Academy High, is operating under something of a handicap in that many of the better players in those schools were not members of the senior class — and this contest is limited to final year stars. In contrast, Gib Funk of Wasson and Jerry Hughes of Palmer, coaches of the City team, have one of the finest groups of seniors available here in several years.

Funk has designated Bob Kochis, a veteran righthander with a live fast ball and excellent breaking stuff to lead off the pitching performance for the City squad. While toiling for Funk's Wasson team this spring, Kochis posted a brilliant 1 00 earned run average in 49 innings, walked just 10, and fanned 62.

The hurlers are limited to three innings of work in this game but the head coach of the City stars should have no problems with that rule. After Kochis he can take his choice from among Bob Torrie and Clay Chambers off his own staff and Ted Jones of Palmer. Torrie was 4-0 for the T-Birds this spring while posting a 1.26 ERA and fanning 34 in 33 1-3 innings. Chambers had a 6-1 mark, a 1 54 ERA, and 39 strikeouts in 35 2-3 innings, and Jones had a 4-1 record, a 1 74 ERA, and 54 strikeouts in 40 innings.

Overall the staff compiled a 19-4 record in AAA action this spring, had a composite 1 37 earned run mark, and whiffed 189 batters in 158 innings of work.

Helm's starting pitcher, Danny Gieck of Harrison, also ran up an impressive record while carying the load for a young Pantner squad this spring. Gieck overcame the effects of an early-season sore arm to build a 5-4 record for a team made up mostly of sophomores, had a fine 2 62 earned run average in 58 2-3 innings and had a total of 96 strikeouts. In his final start of the year, the Harrison ace fired a no-hitter at Manitou Springs, fanning 14 in the process.

After Gieck Helm can go to Carter Dean of Academy High, Chuck McGee of Cheyenne, or Steve Kohl of Manitou Springs. Barrie Riddoch of Cheyenne, who will start in right field, has also done relief pitching for the Indians' Pikes Peak League champions.

In addition to the standout pitching, the City stars appear to be solid in other departments. Hal Meller of Wasson gives them a standout catcher and Don Breeding of Palmer is a solid backup man at that position. Around the infield the City is loaded with hard-hitting veterans such as Jerry Golden and Chuck Reinking of Palmer and Mike Teague and Chambers of Wasson. The one possible trouble spot is shortstop where Funk had no player that had performed there regularly. Gary Johnson, who played third base for the Terrors, will move over for this contest.

The starting outfield will feature a star from each of the three schools with John Wickham of Wasson in left, Don Shoffner of Palmer in center, and Dave Grantz of St Mary's in right. Terry Stillwaugh of Wasson provides strength in either the outfield or infield. St Mary's Pat McElderry, the other squad member, injured a hand in practice Wednesday and may not be able to play this evening.

The Metro team will field a starting lineup of players primarily from Cheyenne and Academy High, the two powers of the Pikes Peak League this spring. Helm has his own veteran catcher, Joel Folk, for duty at that position and Cheyenne's Gary Graham, one of the area's outstanding athletes, will work at second. John Irvin, Bill Culver, and Lance Jensen of the Academy team will likely fill the other starting positions in the infield with Tom Pearson of Widefield listed as a possibility at shortstop.

In the outfield, solid-hitting John McWherter of Academy High will be in left, with Jack O'Brien of Cheyenne in center and Riddoch in right.

Both squads have been hindered by the recent rains which washed out one practice session after another before fair weather set in at midweek. Nevertheless both appear to be ready for peak efforts in the nine inning battle tonight.

The idea from the game came from the coaches of the region who were anxious to see funds made available to improve the summer baseball program which has lagged badly here in recent years. All proceeds tonight will go toward that purpose.

The advance sale of tickets has been in progress for several weeks and for those not having ducats yet, the Memorial Park box office will be open at 6:30 tonight. Adult tickets are $1 with student admission 50 cents. Children under 12 will be admitted free when accompanied by an adult.

STRONG ARMS OF THE CITY TEAM—This is the outstanding quartet of City pitchers that will face the Suburban stars in the first annual high school All-Star Baseball Game at Memorial P ark at 7:30 tonight. From left: Clay Chambers, who had a 6-1 record and a 1.54 earned run average for Wasson this spring; Ted Jones of Palmer who was 4-1 with a 1.74 ERA; Bob Kochis of Wasson who was 5-2 with a 1.00 ERA; and Bob Torrie of Wasson who was 4-0 with a 1.26 ERA. Kochis, who fanned 62 batters in 49 innings for the T-Birds, will draw the starting call against Danny Gieck of the Suburban stars. (Gazette Telegraph Photo)

Falcons Fall to ASU In District Baseball

MESA, Ariz. — They're still determining winners in baseball by the numer of runs scored—not the most hits — so Arizona State University will represent NCAA District 7 in the College World Series this year.

For the second straight time, the Air Force Academy outhit the Sun Devils in their best-of-three playoff for district honors, but ASU made theirs count more as they wrapped up the series in two straight Thursday night with a narrow 7-6 victory.

Now Arizona State and the University of Missouri will oppose each other in the final game of the opening round of play in the NCAA finals at Omaha this next Monday at 9:30 p.m. as the double elimination World Series gets underway.

Thursday night's victory, along with a 6-1 triumph last Monday over the Falcons in Colorado Springs, handed the Devils the regional title. In the first meeting between these two, the AFA had an 8-6 advantage in hits and Thursday they had an even wider margin of 14-5 in safeties — but Arizona had the runs.

It was another nightmare of frustration for the Falcons as they stranded an even dozen base runners in Thursday's contest. That gave them a grand total of 30 left on base for the two games with ASU, which should stand as some sort of playoff record.

The Air Force, forced to give up the home advantage because of a week-long rain in Colorado that washed the seires to Arizona , took a two-run lead in the opening inning and ran that margin to 4-0 with another two runs in the fourth. But Arizona State went in front to stay with three-run sprees in the fifth and sixth iinnings. . . with five of them the unearned variety.

Dick Heiden topped the A-State attack with two hits in four appearances, including a double that highlighted the three-run burst in the fifth inning. Shortstop Darryl Bloodworth was the top AFA hitter with three for four at the plate.

Both teams had trouble afield in the dimly lit park here in Mesa, nicknamed Candle-lit Park by some of the local fans. Arizona State committed four errors and the Air Force three.

Reliefer Sam Cook was credited with the victory and Air Force starter Fred Olmsted picked up his first loss in nine decisions this season. The Sun Devils collected only five hits, but Olmsted had trouble with wildness throughout the contest. Sophomore Al McClure came on in relief for Olmsted in the sixth, but the damage was done by then.

The actual winning run was scored by Arizona State on the tricky double steal in the top of the seventh inning. Center fielder Jack Handley zipped in from third base with the final margin of victory as the Air Force tried to stop the steal of second by the other base runner.

Arizona State's victory gave the NCAA tournament its last entry as Missouri had qualified Thursday afternoon when its game with St. Louis was rained out. The Tigers, who have a 22-game winning streak, had beaten St Louis the day before, 2-1, and had an agreement that if any other games in their playoff were rained out the winner of the first game would represent the district.

Missouri is ranked No. 1 in the country, and Arizona State is No. 2 in the latest college poll. They will meet in the opening round, which is bound to knock out one of the top two teams the first night.

The World Series will open at noon (EST) on Monday with Seton Hall and Maine, the Eastern entries, playing. Texas A&M meets Minnesota, the eventual champion in its two previous series appearances, at 3 p.m.

Opening the night program will be Southern California, the defending champion, and Mississippi at 7 p.m. Then Missouri and Arizona State follow in the first day's windup at 9:30 p.m.

Missouri Top Team In Poll

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) — In a thrilling race to the wire, Missouri nipped Arizona State University and ranks as the No. 1 collegiate baseball club in the land.

The final poll of the season conducted by the newspaper, Collegiate Baseball, showed Missouri and Arizona State with 19 first-place votes each, but Missouri nipped the Sun Devils by three points, 349 to 346, when the total points were tabulated.

Ironically, the two clubs were involved in an unprecedented deadlock in the previous poll. And if both clubs qualified in their district playoffs this week, they were scheduled to meet in the opening round of the annual College World Series at Omaha Monday night in what could be one of the most dramatic meetings in the history of the college classic.

Two more teams with their sights on the national championship—and with excellent chances of winning—are No. 3-ranked Mississippi, fielding one of its most powerful clubs in history, and University of Southern California, No. 4. USC won the NCAA title last year and has 21 lettermen back from that championship club. But the competition is so keen this year USC has to share the pre-tournament favorite's role with at least three other teams.

Rounding out the top 10 were, in order: Texas A&M, Minnesota, Seton Hall, Oregon, Santa Clara and North Carolina.

Yankees Outlast Twins Via Bobby Richardson's Bat

By MURRAY CHASS
Associated Press Sports Writer

Bobby Richardson is hitting more and striking out less.

Actually, if he would strike out any less, he wouldn't.

Richardson, who has fanned only twice in 184 times at bat this season, struck five hits for the second time this season as the New York Yankees outlasted Minnesota 9-7 Thursday.

The perfect performance boosted the second baseman's batting average to .310. Only three games ago Richardson was hitting .282.

Only three other players in the majors have belted five hits in a game this season. Richardson was the first to do it, banging out five singles in the first game of a doubleheader against Cleveland May 10.

His hits Thursday consisted of four singles and a double. He also scored twice and drove in a run.

"It can't be explained," Richardson said of his feat. "Frequently you hit three or four good balls during a game, but they will be right at somebody. For a day like this, they have to all go to the right spot, mine did."

Richardson's strike out rate, or near lack of it, is even more phenomenal than his five-hit production. He always has been among the league leaders in fewest strikeouts, but there may not even be a contest this season.

For the past three years, Richardson has fanned an average of 23 times in 661 plate appearances, or once every 29 times at bat. If he maintains his present rate for the same number of at bats, he would fan only seven times.

Only one other game was played in the American League Thursday. Chicago defeated Cleveland in that one 5-1. Rain washed out the Baltimore-Kansas City game.

In the National League Sandy Koufax pitched a record-tying third no-hitter in the Los Angeles Dodgers' 3-0 victory over Philadelphia. In other games Pittsburgh stopped San Francisco 4-2, Cincinnati beat Milwaukee 6-3, Chicago nipped St. Louis 2-1 and Houston whipped New York 7-3.

Even with Richardson's hitting, the Yankees needed three-run homers by Joe Pepitone and Roger Maris for their victory. Pepitone connected in the four-run first while Maris' blow gave New York a 9-5 lead in the fourth.

Reliever Pete Mikkelsen won his fourth game against one defeat, pitching his way out of jams in the last three innings.

Ray Herbert and Frank Kreutzer limited the Indians to five hits. Kreutzer didn't give up anything after relieving Herbert in the sixth. The White Sox starter had to leave the game when his elbow stiffened.

The game was tied 1-1 in the sixth until Al Weis singled and Floyd Robinson slammed his seventh homer. The Indians scored in the first on Dick Howser's double, an infield out and Leon Wagner's sacrifice fly.

Back Injury Stops Patterson From Training

STOCKHOLM (AP)—A back injury has interrupted Floyd Patterson's training and has the former heavyweight champion very worried today.

The 29-year-old New Yorker is scheduled to meet Eddie Machen of Los Angeles here July 5 in an elimination bout that could earn the winner a shot at heavyweight champion Cassius Clay.

There was some talk here that the Patterson's aching back may force a postponement of the Machen fight. Machen is due to leave Los Angeles June 10 to finish his training in Sweden.

Neither Patterson nor his trainer-manager Dan Florio disclosed any details of the back trouble except to admit that Patterson was hurting and that he had visited a chiropractor in the east coast town of Kalmar Thursday. Patterson's training camp is at Ronneby in the south.

Florio was optimistic that rest would cure the trouble while Patterson was pessimistic. He had difficulty moving around. Florio, who has trained Patterson from the beginning of his pro career in 1952, said the fighter never has been bothered by back trouble before.

Pirate Rookie Blass Checks Giants; Robinson's Homers Topple Reds

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

Sandy Koufax has finished practicing.

He finished about halfway through the third no-hitter of his major league career, allowing only one walk in a 3-0 victory over Philadelphia Thursday night and joining Bob Feller as the only triple no-hit hurlers in modern baseball history.

Minutes later, in the Los Angeles Dodgers' dressing room, the unshaven Koufax made a startling revelation—in the first few innings he was just trying to adjust his motion.

"I have been studying pictures in magazines of my form," Koufax explained, "and suddenly realized that I had been stepping too far to the left with the right foot across my body.

"So in the first few innings I concentrated on making an adjustment, stepping more to the right. It felt fine. I had the old pitching rhythm back."

No one knew it was missing. Koufax had not been the sensational pitcher he was last year when he won Most Valuable Player honors and the Cy Young Award as the best pitcher in the majors. But everyone presumed he was still shaking off an early season injury.

Against the Phillies, it was difficult to tell where Koufax corrected his mistake. Only four balls were hit to the outfield and the closest thing to a hit was Richie Allen's slow grounder in the seventh inning, scooped up by third baseman Jim Gilliam, who quickly fired to first for the out.

Allen also was the lone Phillies' baserunner but was thrown out attempting to steal after walking on a 3-2 pitch in the fourth inning.

Koufax said the fourth ball to Allen—the only thing that stood in the way of a perfect game—was a low fast ball thrown after he shook off a sign from catcher Doug Camilli.

"He called for a curve," said Koufax. "I shook him off for the fast ball. Then while I was winding up I thought to myself, 'Doug's right, a curve ball would be better'. But I didn't think fast enough and I went through with the fast ball, and it was low no doubt of that."

Feller, the only other pitcher to hurl three no-hitters, in post-1900 action, was in Cleveland Thursday night as the Indians played the Chicago White Sox. He wasn't at all surprised that Koufax had matched his three no-hitters.

"Why, the way this guy's going," said Feller, "he may get three more of them before he's through."

Feller didn't see his favorites win, the Indians losing to the White Sox 5-1. In the only other American League game played, the New York Yankees defeated Minnesota 9-7.

In other National League action, Pittsburgh whipped San Francisco 4-2, the Chicago Cubs edged St. Louis 2-1, Cincinnati downed Milwaukee 6-3 and Houston beat the New York Mets 7-3.

Koufax, bringing his record to 6-4 with the 99th victory of his career, struck out 12 Phillies, and thus tied another record. It was the 54th time in his career he had struck out 10 or more batters, equailing the mark previously shared by Feller and Rube Waddell.

Koufax got the only runs he needed when Frank Howard hit his 14th homer in the seventh inning off Chris Short following singles by Gilliam and Tommy Davis.

Rookie Steve Blass checked the Giants on five hits while the Pirates struck for four runs in the fourth and put it away. Willie Stargell singled home the first run in the uprising, Bill Mazeroski singled home two more and Bob Bolin forced in the final run with a bases-loaded walk.

The Cubs and Cardinals played the season's fastest game in the NL, Ron Santo's two-run homer in the fourth providing Chicago's runs while Charley James homered for St. Louis. It was Santo's third homer in three games and gave Dick Ellsworth, 7-4, the edge against Bob Gibson, 2-5, in a battle of six-hitters.

Frank Robinson's second home run of the game, a three-run shot in the ninth gave the Reds their victory. The Braves pulled off a triple play in the second inning when Leo Cardenas lined to Mike de la Hoz with two men on. The second baseman flipped to shortstop Denis Menke for the second out and the relay to first nailed No. 3.

Dick Farrell brought his record to 8-1 against the Mets with 3 2-3 innings of no-hit relief work by Don Larsen. The Colts, meanwhile, collected 15 hits—four each by Bob Lillis and Eddie Kasko—and were aided by four New York errors.

Twins Give Bonus to Pitcher

SANTA CLARA, Calif. (AP)—Pete Magrini, right-handed pitching ace of the Santa Clara University Broncos, was signed Thursday to a bonus contract by the Minnesota Twins of the American League, and assigned to Charlotte, N.C., of the Class AA Southern Association.

Amount of the bonus was not disclosed. Magrini would say only that the contract was "very good."

Magrini, 21, became the third Santa Clara senior to be signed to major league contracts in the past week. Left-handed pitcher Larry Laughlin signed with the National League Philadelphia Phillies last Sunday and third-baseman Tim Cullen was signed Monday by the Boston Red Sox of the American League.

Magrini, 6 feet and 190 pounds, posted an 11-1 record this year. He was 6-1 in the California Intercollegiate Baseball Association and was named to the CIBA's all-league team.

Magrini will report to the Charlotte farm club Monday.

Top Runners To Compete At Compton

COMPTON, Calif. (AP)—Long distance runner Bill Baillie of New Zealand heads a topnotch field of international track and field stars Friday night in the annual Compton invitational meet.

Baillie returns to one of his favorite distances, the 5,000 meters—the 10,000 is the other—in the final race of his first American visit.

He is due for a rousing, perhaps straining, farewell from a field that includes Bruce Kidd of Toronto, Can., Gerry Lindgren, the high school youngster from Spokane, Wash., Bob Schul from Miami, Ohio, and—

Little Jim Beatty, who is fighting his way back into shape in the hope of again becoming this nation's finest distance runner and potential Olympic Games winner at Tokyo this fall.

Kidd set the meet record here two years ago in 13:43.8, a time which the 32-year-old Baillie has beaten this year.

The mile occupies another important part of the program, featuring another battle between Dyrol Burleson of the Oregon Emerald Empire club and youthful Tom O'Hara of Loyola University at Chicago.

The seasoned Burleson defeated O'Hara in a blazing finish two weeks ago in the Modesto, Calif., Relays, and O'Hara obviously is looking for friendly revenge.

Not to be forgotten in the mile is Cary Weisiger, a teammate of Beatty from the North Carolina Track Club, who shares the distinction with O'Hara and Burleson of cracking four minutes in the mile.

Other talent includes Henry Carr of Arizona State in the 200 meters, an event in which he holds the world record; long jumper Ralph Boston, 400-meter specialist Adolph Plummer and hammer thrower Hal Connolly.

AAU Jumps Back Into Fire; Blasts NCAA Federations

NEW YORK (AP)—The AAU fired back at the NCAA's sponsored athletic federations Thursday and said it "will fight for the basic rights of every boy and girl to have a free will in participating in open competiton conducted by the recognized sports governing bodies of the United States."

This was announced by AAU President Jay-Ehret Mahoney following a special meeting of Mahoney's advisory committee here.

Mahoney pointed to action at a meeting of the Big Ten faculty representatives and athletic directors last May when it was voted to declare ineligible any of its athletes competing after Nov. 1 in open competition not sanctioned by the NCAA's sponsored federations in track and field, basketball and gymnastics.

"Not only has this college conference interfered with established practices, but these same college leaders would deprive these youngsters from ever representing their own country in important international competitions including the Olympic and Pan American Games," Mahoney said in a prepared statement.

The AAU is the recognized American representative in 11 International sports federations.

The NCAA's sponsored federations hope to succeed the AAU as the recognized body in track and field, basketball, gymnastics and baseball.

Both the AAU and the NCAA agreed to a truce agreement, hammered out by the late Gen. Douglas MacArthur, so the American effort would not be hampered in the Tokyo Games, Oct. 10-24.

Meanwhile, the NCAA is girding for the battle when the truce ends, Nov. 1.

"The AAU has always recognized the right of the colleges to regulate their own school programs," explained Mahoney. "However we have been charged with the direct responsibility from the International Amateur Athletic Federation to administer open competition. This action by the Big Ten must be considered in international circles as a complete disregard for established rules and regulations."

Bettors Cash Win Tickets On Fourth Horse

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP) — What a sight! People cashed win tickets on a horse that finished third, place tickets were good on the fourth finisher and show tickets paid off on the fifth horse.

The occasion was Thursday night's feature at the Lexington trots when a four-horse entry trained by Frank Ervin was barred from the betting. Two of the four were first to the finish line.

This made third-place Short Stop pay $5.40, $3.40 and $2.80; fourth-place Song's Key return $7 and $3 and fifth finisher Mr. Hunter pay $3.

Speedy Day won the race with Sickle second.

The last time Ervin put in a gang enrty, the best he could do was second. But it resulted in minus place and show pools costing the track money — so Ervin's horses were barred this time.

A minus pool comes when there isn't enough money bet to pay the necessary 10 cents on the dollar to winning bettors. The track has to put up the shortage.

Not only does this upset the track's owners, but it all but drives bettors with place and show tickets mad. Dilemma, the colt who beat the five - horse Ervin entry last week, paid $61.80, $2.20 and $2.20.

Trials Set Today For 200-Mile Sports Car Race

ORONO, Ont. (AP) — A field of 34 drivers headed into the qualifying trials today to determine the all-important starting-grid positions in Saturday's 200-mile International sports-car race at nearby Mosport Park.

It was a safe bet that big horsepower would decide who would have the front positions. For the first time in four years of racing at Mosport, heavy engines dominated the field.

Even the little British Lotus 19s, hose 270-horsepower Coventry Climax engines have pushed them to five victories in the last six International events here, are powered with 370-horsepower motors this year.

Jim Clark of Duns, Scotland, reigning world champion driver, is driving a Lotus 19b with a Ford V-8 motor. A. J. Foyt of Texas, winner of last Saturday's 500-mile Memorial Day race at Indianapolis, is entered with a Scarab driven by a big Chev V-8.

The big power indicated that some records would fall. Dan Gurney of Costa Mesa, Calif., set the lap record of 1:31.5 over the 2.45-mile circuit in a Lotus 19 two years ago. This year he has a Ford-powered Lotus 19B.

Last year Chuck Daigh of Long Beach, Calif., set the record for the 200 miles of 2:09:39.6 in a Lotus 19. He is not entered this year.

The race, worth as much as $3,000 for the winner, starts at 1 p.m., EST, and will be run in two heats. There was some grumbling among the drivers about the split race.

Richardson Collects Five Hits

ST. PAUL - MINNEAPOLIS (AP)—The littlest Yankee is the hottest hitter of them all right now.

Second baseman Bobby Richardson cracked out five hits in as many trips to the plate Thursday as New York outslugged the Minnesota Twins 9-7 to even a four-game series at two wins apiece.

Richardson accounted for nearly half of the Yankee hit total of 11, although it was a pair of three-run homers by Joe Pepitine and Roger Maris that gave the Yanks the victory.

It was the second time this season that the seven-year veteran, rated as one of the American League's best second baseman, has rapped five hits in one game. He did it at Cleveland three weeks ago when he went 5-for-6 in the first game of a doubleheader.

His five hits Thursday gave Richardson 10-for-18 in the four-game series here, raising his season average to .310.

You'd think Richardson would be above that with two such hot games at this point in the season.

"You've got to remember," Richardson cautioned, "that I went 0-for-5 in the second game of that Cleveland doubleheader, and that I was 1-for-15 in the Kansas City series before we came here."

Richardson deosn't think he's been hitting extremely well. "I've just been getting a piece of the ball," he said. "I'm not as hot as I was at the start of 1962 when I hit in each of our first 17 games."

When someone commented that Richardson was "down" to .283 when the series with Minnesota opened, the second baseman corrected the phraseology:

"You shouldn't say 'down' to .283 . . . that's 'up' for me."

Richardson carries a .272 lifetime batting average in the American League, and twice has hit over .300—with .301 in 1959 and .302 in 1962. With the start he's got in 1964, he thinks he has a chance to make it three times over .300.

Johnny Dee will be Notre Dame's new basketball coach next season.

Bryant Convenes Third Grid Coaching Clinic

TUSCALOOSA, Ala. (AP) — Fifty-six professional, college and high school football coaches—all former players under Alabama Coach Paul Bryant—convened today for Bryant's unique third annual closed door football clinic.

Closed door? Well, when he conceived of the idea about four years ago, Bryant decided that the note-exchanging clinics could be attended only by those who played under him and are now coaches.

The idea caught on. Some are back for the third time. Their only worry is hiding expanding waistlines from Bryant, a stickler for physical fitness in his players—and a teaser of loose waistlines spotted on former charges.

"You know it's real funny, but some of the fellows try to be standing in a crowd when Coach Bryant walks up," said Virginia Tech Coach Jerry Claiborne, who played for Bryant at Kentucky.

The year's clinic has drawn some of the nation's best. About 60 per cent of those attending represent high schools, the rest professional and college football. From the pro ranks, for example, come Minnesota Viking line coach Walt Yowarsky and Dallas Cowboy assistant coach Ermal Allen.

Oklahoma State head Coach Phil Cutchin, another player for Bryant at Kentucky, brought four of his assistants, also former players, to the clinic for the sessions.

"We wouldn't miss this for anything. It is a lot of fun, and you would be surprised at the ideas you can pick up," Chutchin said.

Serious topics include discussion on the slot-T, defensive linebacking, and lectures on the 5-4 defense. Also scheduled for today's agenda are discussions on Alabama and Texas high school football.

Loyd Taylor of Karnes City, Tex., High School was to tell coaches about football in Texas. He was a member of Bryant's 1957 championship squad at Texas A&M.

Taylor said this session is valuable "because at a lot of clinics the guys lecturing are talking strictly about pro or college stuff and it is hard to adapt it to the high school level. We don't have those fast 250-300 pound tackles in high school. Here the fellows who lecture get down to your level."

Red Sox Sign Versatile Young Player

Sorry, he's already in the Boston Red Sox organization.

Grebeck, called a "one-man platoon" by Kenney, is a 5-foot-10, 175-pounder.

"Mike was catching for Wellsville this season but then Statesville needed a catcher in a hurry and we moved him there, but not as a demotion," Kenney said. "By the time Mike arrived, Statesville had infield problems, so he's playing shortstop, right-handed."

Can you name the 6 reasons Martini devotees prefer the glorious Gordon's Martini?

1 To this day, the ancient pot still method is used in distilling Gordon's Gin. 2 Only gin from the heart of the run is bottled for Gordon's. 3 Gordon's uses only juniper berries and other choice botanicals aged to the peak of maturity. 4 Gordon's is extraordinarily dry. 5 Gordon's has a distinctively delicate flavour. 6 Gordon's maintains its exceptional quality because it still harks back to Alexander Gordon's original formula created in England in 1769. Reasons enough for enjoying a Glorious Gordon's Martini soon, wouldn't you say?

By ORLO ROBERTSON
Asociated Press Sports Writer

And it's 3-to-5 that the Kentucky Derby and Preakness winner will accomplish the feat by winning the 96th running of the $125,000-added Belmont Stakes before an Aqueduct crowd of some 65,000 and a national television and radio audience.

Only eight horses have put together the triple in the 90 years in which the Kentucky Derby, Preakness and Belmont have been run. The last was Citation in 1948. Since then just two colts, Tim Tam and Carry Back have come up to the 1½ miles of the Belmont with a chance for a sweep. Outsiders ruined both—for Tim Tam in 1958 and Carry Back in 1961.

In addition to Northern Dancer from E. P. Taylor's Windfields Farm of Canada, the names of El Peco's Hill Rise of California; Paul Mellon's Virginia-bred Quadrangle; Roman Brother, the mighty mite from Louis E. Wolfson's Harbor View Farm; Orientalist from John Galbreath's Darby Dan Farm; George D. Widener's Brave Lad and Herbert Allen's Shook and Determined Man were scheduled to be dropped into the entry box today. Galbreath won last year with Chateaugay.

With eight starters the race will be worth $154,600. The winner will earn the richest Belmont purse of $110,850 with $25,000 for second, $12,500 third and $6,250 fourth. There were originally 146 nominations at $100 each. It costs another $250 to enter and an additional $1,000 to start.

Post time is 3:45 p.m., EST with television (CBS) scheduled for 3:30-4 p.m. and radio (CBS) from 3:40-4 p.m.

From the position of the second choice to Hill Rise in the Kentucky Derby and Preakness the Dancer has established himself as the short-priced favorite. He won the Derby by a neck over Hill Rise and beat The Scoundrel, now sidelined by an injury, by 2¼ lengths in the Preakness. Hill Rise was a nose back in third.

Roman Brother ran fourth in the Derby and a dismal fifth in the Preakness but came back to take last Saturday's Jersey Derby over 1⅛ miles. Quadrangle was fifth in the Derby and fourth in the Preakness and then turned in a top effort for runner-up honors behind the 5-year-old Olden Times in the Metropolitan Handicap last Saturday. He turned in a flashy work out Thursday with six furlongs in 1:13 2- after reeling off five-eighths of a mile in 59 seconds.

Orientalist, a royally bred son of Swaps out of O'Melia sired by the English Derby winner, Owen Tudor, never has raced in such high class company. But trainer Jimmy Conway, admittedly high on the colt last year, figures the striking black Darby Dan representative is just reaching top form.

Brave Lad, Shook and Determined Man have shown nothing that would indicate they are capable of breaking into the money.

Bill Hartack and Willie Shoemaker will occupy their familiar seats atop Northern Dancer and Hill Rise, respectively. Fernando Alvarez, a Chilean from Panama who won with Roman Brother in the Jersey Derby, again will be astride the Harbor View gelding. Manuel Ycaza replaces Braulio Baeza on Quadrangle and Baeza pilots Orientalist.

Johnny Rotz will be astride Brave Lad while Johnny Sellers will pilot Shook and Bill Boland will be up on Determined Man.

Other top events include the $40,000-added Swaps over one mile at Arlington Park; Delawar Park's $25,000-added Kent for 3-year-olds and $20,000-added Polly Drummond for 2-year-old fillies and the $15,000 added Tyro for 2-year-olds at Monmouth Park.

Kelso, Horse of The Year the last four years, heads the field for the 1 1-16 miles of the Californian. The champion failed dismally in his 1964 debut two weeks ago but trainer Carl Hanford says he is ready for the rich test. He'll carry top weight of 127 pounds along with Mr. Consistency. Admiral's Voyage picks up 123. The well regarded Cyrano was taken out of the race because of an ailing front leg.

The Swaps is for 4-year-olds and if there are more than 16 entries it will be split into two divisions. Top contenders are Clem Pac, Dunfee, Bold Destroyer and Nushka.

Second flight 3-year-olds clash in the 1 1-16 miles of the Kent with the field topped by Knightly Manner, winner of the Chesapeake, Kentucky Jug, Bupers and Sheldrake.

HE'S AFTER THE TRIPLE CROWN — Northern Dancer, winner of the Kentucky Derby and the Preakness, presented this study at Belmont Park in New York Thursday where he is working out for Saturday's Belmont Stakes. If the Canadian-owned horse takes the Belmont Stakes, which will be run at nearby Aqueduct race track, he'll be the first winner of the Triple Crown since Citation in 1948. (AP Wirephoto)

Ex-Hockey Player Leads Thunderbird Golf Tourney

By JIM BECKER
Associated Press Sports Writer

RYE, N.Y. (AP)—For Jerry Magee golf has been better than a poke in the eye with a hockey stick. But not much.

The husky Canadian made $24 in official money on the tour last year and he hasn't topped the $1,000 mark yet this campaign.

For that kind of money he gave up thoughts of a pro hockey career some years ago but only after he got poked in the eye with a hockeystick. He was left with a bad right eye and some second thoughts.

"There have been times when I wondered if I gave up the right game," said Magee.

But today the 30-year-old Toronto pro, whose hair is already graying a little from standing over three-foot putts, led the $100,000 Thunderbird tournament with a first round six-under-par 66 for the 6,573-yard Westchester Country Club course.

He had a one stroke leadover Phil Rodgers and Ken Venturi, whose game went to pieces three year s ago when he suffered a back injury and who has only recently returned to form. Venturi and Rodgers had 67, with Rodgers playing the last 10 holes seven under par after a rocky start.

The touring pros, sharpening up for the U.S. Open in two weeks, wrecked the short course on a fine day for golf. A gusty wind blew in mid-day but it seemed to help as much as it hurt.

In all, 43 players broke par 72.

There were nine at 68, including last year's winner, Arnold Palmer, and the man he beat in a playoff, Paul Harney.

Six more, including Bob Duden who putts croquet mallet-style, had 69.

Open champion Julius Boros had 72. Jack Nicklaus was well back at 73.

"I took six on each of the par five on the back nine, where I was hoping for fours," Nicklaus said. "I'm just not playing well."

Palmer was. Asked if he was getting in the groove for the Open, he said "I hope so. I made some putts and I missed some, but I was satisfied with my game."

Venturi, who had to telephone and ask for an invitation to play in the Thunderbird, said "each week I seem to play a little better. I'm working my way back to where I was.

"I won't say I slumped when I hurt my back. I dropped. It was just like falling out a window. I haven't been able to play since."

Koufax Feat Tops Season's Wildest Week of Baseball

By MURRAY CHASS
Associated Press Sports Writer

This was the week that was in baseball:

The week, one of the wildest in the game, started Sunday with a 23-inning game between the San Francisco Giants and the New York Mets.

Lasting seven hours and 23 minutes, the contest—won by the Giants 8-6—established numerous records. Among others, it was the longest on a time basis in major league history.

In the 14th inning of that game, the Mets pulled off a triple play, the second of the season. Orlando Cepeda was the victim.

In Thursday's game between Cincinnati and Milwaukee, the Braves executed another triple play. Leo Cardenas hit into it in the second inning.

A few hours later, Sandy Koufax of Los Angeles pitched the third no-hitter of his career as the Dodgers blanked Philadelphia 3-0.

Koufax tied Bob Feller's modern no-hit record while, at the same time, facing the minimum 27 batters. Richie Allen, who walked in the fourth, was the only baserunner. He was out stealing.

Koufax also struck out 12, marking the 54th time he has struck out 10 or more batters in a game. That ties him with Feller and Rube Waddell.

Then there was the defensive play Willie Mays pulled Wednesday night in the Giants' 3-0 victory over Pittsburgh. The great center fielder dropped a fly ball for an error, the first time he did that in 10 years.

The week, incidentally, has two days left.

Johnny Bizzarro Gets His Chance Against Narvaez

Both are aiming high. Bizzarro, rated No. 1 or No. 2 in the junior lightweight—130 pounds—class by the various rankings, is anxious for another shot at Flash Elordes' title. Narvaez, No. 7 or No. 8 in the rankings among Carlos Ortiz' contenders in the lightweight class, hopes to graduate to a championship bout.

Bizzarro has a 46-7-2 record dating back to 1958. In two 1964 starts he lost a decision to Kenny Lane and stopped Ricky Palmieri.

Narvaez, unbeaten since Dec. 16, 1961, stopped Tony LaBarbara and outpointed Luis Molina and Vincent Derado this year. His record is 19-11-1.

The 10-round match will be carried on network (ABC) television at 9 p.m., EST. Two judges and a referee will score it by rounds, using a supplementary point system in case the rounds are even.

Pueblo Gives Zaharias Okay To Lease Course

PUEBLO (AP) — The City Council has given preliminary approval to a project to lease City Park Golf Course to George Zaharias, former professional wrestler and later a sports and golf promoter.

The action is subject to ratification later by the council, probably at its June 22 meeting.

The proposal calls for a 15-year lease under which Zaharias would pay $5,000 per year or 10 per cent of membership and greens fees, whichever is greater.

Zaharias, who calls Pueblo his home city, said he plans to build a $75,000 clubhouse and to add a nine-hole course to the present 18 holes.

He estimated his total expansion program would cost $125,000 to 150,000 by 1966. Zaharias was married to the late Babe Didriksen Zaharias, stellar golfer and all-around athlete.

Janssen Leads Blue Marlin Fish Tourney

HATTERAS, N.C. (AP)—Joe Janssen Sr. of Longport, N.J., who caught and released his second marlin Thursday, has taken the lead in the International Blue Marlin Tournament with 600 points.

A total of seven marlin were boated or released during the third day of the four-day tournament which has attracted some 100 anglers.

They included Govs. Terry Sanford of North Carolina and John Connally of Texas Thursday. The Texan caught the largest fish.

Connally, the guest of Sanford during the fifth annual tournament, was credited with the biggest catch of four dolphin, a 25 - pounder. The governors failed to catch a marlin, but did land the dolphin.

In second place with 462 points was William Fletcher of Easton, Md., who landed a 369½-pound marlin.

Poli Sheanhen, Bethesda, Md., who caught and released his marlin Tuesday, was in third place with 450 points.

Two More Indy Veterans Enter Continental Race

Two more Indianapolis "500" veterans, Bobby Marshman of Pottstown, Pa., and Bill Cheesbourg of Tucson, Ariz., have sent in their entry blanks for the inaugural running of the Continental 250 on June 28.

Marshman, who was forced out of last weeks "500" with mechanical trouble mid-way through the race, turned the fastest unofficial lap ever recorded at the Speedway at a little over 160 miles an hour. The Pottstown flash finished the 1963 USAC season in 15th spot in the National Championship point standings, and fifth in the USAC Sprint Car standings.

Cheesbourg mainly ran the new car stock car circuit last season with USAC, winding up 15th in the standings.

Beside Marshman and Cheesbourg, who join A. J. Foyt, Rogger Ward, Don White, Troy Ruttman, and Len Sutton in the entry list for the Colorado classic, two other drivers have entered — Gary Bettenhausen, son of the famed Indy driver Tony Bettenhausen; and Norm Nelson, who won the Setock Car division title in 1960.

USAC officials have announced that only the fastest 30 qualifiers will get the green flag on race day, and that all starters will share in the prize money, which now amounts to $14,000.

Traveler Hurler Paces PCL Win Over Bears

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Gary Kroll struck out 15 batters to lead Arkansas to a 4-1 victory over Denver Thursday night and keep the Travelers at the apex of the Pacific Coast League's Eastern Division.

Salt Lake City tied its game with Indianapolis in the ninth inning and then won it 9-5 in the 12th, San Diego beat Spokane 6-4 and Hawaii stopped Tacoma 5-2. The Dallas at Portland game was postponed because of wet grounds.

Despite the strikeouts, Kroll gave up 10 hits to Denver, but the Bears failed to put them together and scored their only run on a homer by J. W. Porter. The Travelers, who produced eight hits, scored all their four runs in the third, and three were unearned.

The Rainiers' Barry Shetrone opened the scoring at Seattle with a home run in the third. Ernie Fazio and Glenn Vaughn led off with back-to-back doubles for the 89ers in the sixth to tie the score. Then, after a single by Jim Beauchamp, Seattle pitcher Wilbur Wood loaded the bases with a walk. A bouncer to Wood stuck in his glove which came off his hand as he fell, and Vaughn scored with the winning run.

Home runs kept Salt Lake City in the game twice at Indianapolis and added the climax. John Boccabella homered in the fourth to tie the score 2-all. Paul Popovich sent the game into extra innings with a circuit clout in the ninth and Bill Ott blasted one in the 12th to score the final three runs. A single by Glenn Beckert and a double by Leroy Gregory scored the tie-breaker in the 12th before Ott's homer.

Phoenix Wins National Junior Golf Tourney

The Arizona squad, carrying a five-stroke lead into the finals, won by 16 strokes, 1225 to 1241, after 27 holes. Miami-Dade of Florida was third at 1258.

Stubbs sank a 40-foot chip shot on the fourth playoff hole for a birdie 3. Both had played one-under-par golf for the first three playoff holes. They were tied at 303 each after 72 holes.

Odessa's Charles Bower and Bob Rivera captured the doubles title to turn the tide for the Texans' second straight tennis title. They defeated Tom Nelson and Tom Shattuck of Central Florida 8-6, 6-3.

Jackson's Ed Waits whipped Jay Davis of Columbus, Ga., 1-6, 6-1, 6-3 to take the singles title.

In consolation singles, Tim Barrett of St. Petersburg, Fla., defeated Ted Creager of Flint, Mich., 6-2, 5-7, 6-3.

Central Florida was third in tennis with 15 points. Columbus had 10.

Molina Decisions Tony Perez

Molina, 137½, of San Jose scored the only knockdown of the fight when he decked Perez, 138, of Mexico, with a right hand in the first round. Perez took the mandatory eight-count.

Referee Frankie Carter, the only official, scored it six rounds for Molina to three for Perez with one round even. The crowd of 2,000 booed the decision. Molina was penalized one point in the ninth round for swinging after the bell.

Wall Street Report

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market rallied sharply early this afternoon from its steep decline of the previous session. Trading was active.

Blue chips were picked up on a broad front by traders and investors who figured they were cheap at present, relatively low prices.

Steels, motors, airlines, chemicals, utilities, oils, office equipments and electronics were among the gainers.

The market was steady to higher at the start and widened its gains as the pace of trading grew faster than it was during recent declining markets.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up .8 at 301.1 with industrials up 1.2, rails up .4 and utilities up .6.

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was up 4.78 at 807.22, recovering about half of the 9.22-point loss it took Thursday.

Texas Gulf Sulphur, which yielded only ¼ Thursday as most-active stock, spurted 2 points.

Lukens Steel rose 2. The major steel producers all added fractions.

Sperry Rand, the only volume leader to resist loss in Thursday's session, spurted more than a point in response to its boosted profits.

Xerox rebounded 3 points. IBM, Polaroid and Control Data gained 2 each.

Prices advanced on the American Stock Exchange.

Security Council To Send Probe To Cambodia

By WILLIAM N. OATIS

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Security Council President Arsene Assouan Usher was expected to name Brazil, the Ivory Coast and Morocco today to make an on-the-spot investigation of the border troubles between Cambodia and South Viet Nam.

Usher, the Ivory Coast's delegate, was holding formal consultations with other council members on the makeup of the study group. But diplomatic sources said the three countries had been agreed on.

The council called for the study Thursday in a resolution that also deplored South Vietnamese incursions into Cambodia, the subject of a Cambodian complaint that had been under debate since May 19.

The resolution, sponsored by the Ivory Coast and Morocco, was adopted unanimously. The Soviet Union and Czechoslovakia voted for it after abstaining on the provision for a U.N. study.

The council directed the investigation group to report back within 45 days.

Soviet Delegate Nikolai T. Fedorenko said he was abstaining on that provision because a U.N. mission was unjustified. He said the International Control Commission created by the 1954 Geneva conference was already on the scene.

Fedorenko did not repeat a previous demand that the resolution blame the United States along with South Viet Nam.

He said he was voting for the whole resolution because the greater part of it reflected Cambodia's wishes.

Other parts of the resolution (1) deplored "incidents caused by the penetration" of South Vietnamese army units into Cambodia; (2) asked fair compensation for Cambodia; (3) invited "those responsible to prevent any further violation of the Cambodian territory; and (4) requested "all states and authorities to recognize and respect Cambodia's neutrality and territorial integrity."

U.S. Delegate Adlai E. Stevenson, Nationalist Chinese Delegate Yu Chi Hsueh, and South Vietnamese spokesman Vu Van Mau said they hoped the mission would bring about a U.N. patrol or international police force for the border.

Annual Summit Meet Proposed by Wilson

LONDON (AP)—Labor party leader Harold Wilson returned today from a four-day visit to Moscow and said he thought the Western powers should support the idea of annual summit meetings.

"I think it is the experience of anyone who has dealt with the Soviet leaders that the decisions are taken right at the top," he told newsmen.

CHICAGO (AP) — Light to moderate selling became general in the grain futures market today and prices of nearly all commodities turned weak in fairly active dealings.

Brokers ascribed most of the pressure to reports of heavy rainfall overnight in much of the Midwest and forecasts of more over the weekend.

Top Runners To Compete At Compton

COMPTON, Calif. (AP)—Long distance runner Bill Baillie of New Zealand heads a topnotch field of international track and field stars Friday night in the annual Compton invitational meet.

Baillie returns to one of his favorite distances, the 5,000 meters—the 10,000 is the other—in the final race of his first American visit.

He is due for a rousing, perhaps straining, farewell from a field that includes Bruce Kidd of Toronto, Can., Gerry Lindgren, the high school youngster from Spokane, Wash., Bob Schul from Miami, Ohio, and—

Little Jim Beatty, who is fighting his way back into shape in the hope of again becoming this nation's finest distance runner and potential Olympic Games winner at Tokyo this fall.

Kidd set the meet record here two years ago in 13:43.8, a time which the 32-year-old Baillie has beaten this year.

The mile occupies another important part of the program, featuring another battle between Dyrol Burleson of the Oregon Emerald Empire club and youthful Tom O'Hara of Loyola University at Chicago.

The seasoned Burleson defeated O'Hara in a blazing finish two weeks ago in the Modesto, Calif., Relays, and O'Hara obviously is looking for friendly revenge.

Not to be forgotten in the mile is Cary Weisiger, a teammate of Beatty from the North Carolina Track Club, who shares the distinction with O'Hara and Burleson of cracking four minutes in the mile.

Other talent includes Henry Carr of Arizona State in the 200 meters, an event in which he holds the world record; long jumper Ralph Boston, 400-meter specialist Adolph Plummer and hammer thrower Hal Connolly.

AAU Jumps Back Into Fire; Blasts NCAA Federations

NEW YORK (AP)—The AAU fired back at the NCAA's sponsored athletic federations Thursday and said it "will fight for the basic rights of every boy and girl to have a free will in participating in open competiton conducted by the recognized sports governing bodies of the United States."

This was announced by AAU President Jay-Ehret Mahoney following a special meeting of Mahoney's advisory committee here.

Mahoney pointed to action at a meeting of the Big Ten faculty representatives and athletic directors last May when it was voted to declare ineligible any of its athletes competing after Nov. 1 in open competition not sanctioned by the NCAA's sponsored federations in track and field, basketball and gymnastics.

"Not only has this college conference interfered with established practices, but these same college leaders would deprive these youngsters from ever representing their own country in important international competitions including the Olympic and Pan American Games," Mahoney said in a prepared statement.

The AAU is the recognized American representative in 11 International sports federations.

The NCAA's sponsored federations hope to succeed the AAU as the recognized body in track and field, basketball, gymnastics and baseball.

Both the AAU and the NCAA agreed to a truce agreement, hammered out by the late Gen. Douglas MacArthur, so the American effort would not be hampered in the Tokyo Games, Oct. 10-24.

Meanwhile, the NCAA is girding for the battle when the truce ends, Nov. 1.

"The AAU has always recognized the right of the colleges to regulate their own school programs," explained Mahoney. "However we have been charged with the direct responsibility from the International Amateur Athletic Federation to administer open competition. This action by the Big Ten must be considered in international circles as a complete disregard for established rules and regulations."

Bettors Cash Win Tickets On Fourth Horse

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP) — What a sight! People cashed win tickets on a horse that finished third, place tickets were good on the fourth finisher and show tickets paid off on the fifth horse.

The occasion was Thursday night's feature at the Lexington trots when a four-horse entry trained by Frank Ervin was barred from the betting. Two of the four were first to the finish line.

This made third-place Short Stop pay $5.40, $3.40 and $2.80; fourth-place Song's Key return $7 and $3 and fifth finisher Mr. Hunter pay $3.

Speedy Day won the race with Sickle second.

The last time Ervin put in a gang enrty, the best he could do was second. But it resulted in minus place and show pools costing the track money — so Ervin's horses were barred this time.

A minus pool comes when there isn't enough money bet to pay the necessary 10 cents on the dollar to winning bettors. The track has to put up the shortage.

Not only does this upset the track's owners, but it all but drives bettors with place and show tickets mad. Dilemma, the colt who beat the five - horse Ervin entry last week, paid $61.80, $2.20 and $2.20.

Trials Set Today For 200-Mile Sports Car Race

ORONO, Ont. (AP) — A field of 34 drivers headed into the qualifying trials today to determine the all-important starting-grid positions in Saturday's 200-mile International sports-car race at nearby Mosport Park.

It was a safe bet that big horsepower would decide who would have the front positions. For the first time in four years of racing at Mosport, heavy engines dominated the field.

Even the little British Lotus 19s, hose 270-horsepower Coventry Climax engines have pushed them to five victories in the last six International events here, are powered with 370-horsepower motors this year.

Jim Clark of Duns, Scotland, reigning world champion driver, is driving a Lotus 19b with a Ford V-8 motor. A. J. Foyt of Texas, winner of last Saturday's 500-mile Memorial Day race at Indianapolis, is entered with a Scarab driven by a big Chev V-8.

The big power indicated that some records would fall. Dan Gurney of Costa Mesa, Calif., set the lap record of 1:31.5 over the 2.45-mile circuit in a Lotus 19 two years ago. This year he has a Ford-powered Lotus 19B.

Last year Chuck Daigh of Long Beach, Calif., set the record for the 200 miles of 2:09:39.6 in a Lotus 19. He is not entered this year.

The race, worth as much as $3,000 for the winner, starts at 1 p.m., EST, and will be run in two heats. There was some grumbling among the drivers about the split race.

Richardson Collects Five Hits

ST. PAUL - MINNEAPOLIS (AP)—The littlest Yankee is the hottest hitter of them all right now.

Second baseman Bobby Richardson cracked out five hits in as many trips to the plate Thursday as New York outslugged the Minnesota Twins 9-7 to even a four-game series at two wins apiece.

Richardson accounted for nearly half of the Yankee hit total of 11, although it was a pair of three-run homers by Joe Pepitine and Roger Maris that gave the Yanks the victory.

It was the second time this season that the seven-year veteran, rated as one of the American League's best second baseman, has rapped five hits in one game. He did it at Cleveland three weeks ago when he went 5-for-6 in the first game of a doubleheader.

His five hits Thursday gave Richardson 10-for-18 in the four-game series here, raising his season average to .310.

You'd think Richardson would be above that with two such hot games at this point in the season.

"You've got to remember," Richardson cautioned, "that I went 0-for-5 in the second game of that Cleveland doubleheader, and that I was 1-for-15 in the Kansas City series before we came here."

Richardson deosn't think he's been hitting extremely well. "I've just been getting a piece of the ball," he said. "I'm not as hot as I was at the start of 1962 when I hit in each of our first 17 games."

When someone commented that Richardson was "down" to .283 when the series with Minnesota opened, the second baseman corrected the phraseology:

"You shouldn't say 'down' to .283 . . . that's 'up' for me."

Richardson carries a .272 lifetime batting average in the American League, and twice has hit over .300—with .301 in 1959 and .302 in 1962. With the start he's got in 1964, he thinks he has a chance to make it three times over .300.

Johnny Dee will be Notre Dame's new basketball coach next season.

Bryant Convenes Third Grid Coaching Clinic

TUSCALOOSA, Ala. (AP) — Fifty-six professional, college and high school football coaches—all former players under Alabama Coach Paul Bryant—convened today for Bryant's unique third annual closed door football clinic.

Closed door? Well, when he conceived of the idea about four years ago, Bryant decided that the note-exchanging clinics could be attended only by those who played under him and are now coaches.

The idea caught on. Some are back for the third time. Their only worry is hiding expanding waistlines from Bryant, a stickler for physical fitness in his players—and a teaser of loose waistlines spotted on former charges.

"You know it's real funny, but some of the fellows try to be standing in a crowd when Coach Bryant walks up," said Virginia Tech Coach Jerry Claiborne, who played for Bryant at Kentucky.

The year's clinic has drawn some of the nation's best. About 60 per cent of those attending represent high schools, the rest professional and college football. From the pro ranks, for example, come Minnesota Viking line coach Walt Yowarsky and Dallas Cowboy assistant coach Ermal Allen.

Oklahoma State head Coach Phil Cutchin, another player for Bryant at Kentucky, brought four of his assistants, also former players, to the clinic for the sessions.

"We wouldn't miss this for anything. It is a lot of fun, and you would be surprised at the ideas you can pick up," Chutchin said.

Serious topics include discussion on the slot-T, defensive linebacking, and lectures on the 5-4 defense. Also scheduled for today's agenda are discussions on Alabama and Texas high school football.

Loyd Taylor of Karnes City, Tex., High School was to tell coaches about football in Texas. He was a member of Bryant's 1957 championship squad at Texas A&M.

Taylor said this session is valuable "because at a lot of clinics the guys lecturing are talking strictly about pro or college stuff and it is hard to adapt it to the high school level. We don't have those fast 250-300 pound tackles in high school. Here the fellows who lecture get down to your level."

Red Sox Sign Versatile Young Player

Sorry, he's already in the Boston Red Sox organization.

Grebeck, called a "one-man platoon" by Kenney, is a 5-foot-10, 175-pounder.

"Mike was catching for Wellsville this season but then Statesville needed a catcher in a hurry and we moved him there, but not as a demotion," Kenney said. "By the time Mike arrived, Statesville had infield problems, so he's playing shortstop, right-handed."

GORDON'S
DISTILLED
GIN

Can you name the 6 reasons Martini devotees prefer the glorious Gordon's Martini?

① To this day, the ancient pot still method is used in distilling Gordon's Gin. ② Only gin from the heart of the run is bottled for Gordon's. ③ Gordon's uses only juniper berries and other choice botanicals aged to the peak of maturity. ④ Gordon's is extraordinarily dry. ⑤ Gordon's has a distinctively delicate flavour. ⑥ Gordon's maintains its exceptional quality because it still harks back to Alexander Gordon's original formula created in England in 1769. Reasons enough for enjoying a Glorious Gordon's Martini soon, wouldn't you say?

Scranton, Nixon Won't Join Stop Goldwater Drive

By BERNIE GOULD

GARDEN CITY, N.Y. (AP)—Former Vice President Richard M. Nixon says Gov. William W. Scranton of Pennsylvania would be the Republican party's best candidate for vice president if Sen. Barry Goldwater wins the presidential nomination.

Nixon said Thursday Scranton's liberalism would balance the Arizona senator's conservatism and that the ticket, "perhaps the strongest team" available to the Republicans, would also be balanced geographically.

Earlier in the day, Scranton told a news conference in Harrisburg, Pa., he would run with Goldwater only if there were a genuine draft by convention delegates.

He had been asked to comment on GOP National Chairman William E. Miller's recent statement that Scranton would make a good running mate for Goldwater.

Nixon gave his views at a new conference before speaking at a testimonial for Rep. Steven B. Derounian, R-N.Y., in this city on Long Island.

He said: "The chances of any Republican beating Johnson today are considered remote by the pollsters, by the television commentators and by all the political experts. All that I can say is this: That the polls have been wrong in New Hampshire, Oregon and California (primaries)."

He called 1964 a year of upsets and added that a "slam-bang" campaign by the GOP could defeat Johnson.

The next two weeks, he said, are critical in the campaign for the Republican nomination and a bandwagon psychology could develop for Goldwater.

"You'll know in two weeks if a Goldwater blitz will succeed," he said.

He said he was not going to endorse any candidate and that if any "stop-Goldwater" movement developed, "I certainly would not become a party to it, and I would instruct my aid not to join it."

As for his own future, Nixon said: "I don't anticipate a draft will take place for me."

Asked if he would accept the nomination for vice president, he said: "No one who says he will be a candidate for president would decline the vice presidential nomination."

Nixon said he would support any nominee the Republican convention chooses.

Asked if he thought a Nixon-Goldwater ticket would be a good one, he said: "I think the best ticket would be a Goldwater-Scranton ticket. It gets the combination of the Goldwater experience on the national scene and the combination of a big eastern state."

VICTOR F. ALLEN

Victor Allen Opens Photo Service At 19 E. Platte

A new business, Colorado Camera, has been opened at 19 E. Platte Ave. by Victor F. Allen, who has been in photography for 20 years.

Colorado Camera will offer stock photographs from all parts of Colorado, and will act as a photographers and artists agent for local persons wishing to sell their work.

Allen said the photos are mostly scenic from throughout Colorado for use for publicity, advertising, commercial brochures, calendars and other purposes where scenic views may be applied.

Black and white photographs and paintings will be available to private and civic organizations needing fillers or photographic backgrounds for their publications, and assignments will be taken for specific photographic work.

Allen said Colorado Camera will seek to publicize the state as widely as possible, featuring mostly the recreational, scenic and sports activities in Colorado. Three feature articles have been submitted to Outdoor Life magazine, Sports Afield and Field and Stream, and featurettes are being considered py Readers Digest, Modern Photography and the Saturday Evening Post, Allen said.

Allen, a native of Colorado Springs, has had his work published in many national magazines and in newspapers. He recently taught adult classes in photo journalism and practical photography for the Colorado Springs YMCA where he was employed for 15 months.

Student sales in the last three journalism classes, he said, totaled more than $1,800.

Allen was a medical research photographer for the Atomic Energy Commission at Los Alamos, N. M., for three and one-half years and is a graduate of the Progressive School of Photography in New Haven, Conn.

Allen and his wife, Joyce, have three sons, Vic Jr., Cary Scott and Chris. The family resides at 1919 E. Jackson St.

Battleline Drawn Between CORE, Bank of America

By SAM CAMPBELL

If any company in California—or for that matter in the country — can understand the ethnic situation and deal with it successfully, that company is the Bank of America.

Founded by an Italian vegetable broker in San Francisco, Bank of America grew to become the greatest in the United States and in the process elevated Californians of Italian ancestry to a status of prestige and esteem.

Yet, in spite of that remarkable background, the bank is having its difficulties on the ethnic question.

Specifically, the bank is the current target of the Congress of Racial Equality, more commonly known as CORE. It is the victim of assorted demonstrations by CORE.

According to the bank, the area of disagreement with CORE centers around CORE's continued demand for certain personal and statistical data that the bank refuses to give out.

CORE wants to know the names and addresses of certain personnel in ethnic groupings who have been hired, promoted, and terminated by the bank.

The militant Negro organization also is demanding statistics on the bank's turnover by job classification on a statewide basis and for a statistical breakdown of employes' race by job classification and by location.

In addition CORE is asking for a statistical tally of all individuals who apply for positions in the bank, by race, job classification and location, and for the number of individuals interviewed, tested, hired, and rejected.

The character of the data which CORE demands suggests that the purpose of the demand is to enable CORE to "zero in" on the personnel already in the employ of the bank.

Yet another CORE demand is that the bank sign a written agreement with CORE. Such a written document is useful to the organization as a selling showpiece in the recruitment of members and finances.

The bank management has met with CORE leaders a number of times and has agreed verbally to many of its suggestions. In fact, according to the bank, "most of CORE's demands were actually in effect before CORE had any formal discussions with us. Some of them, we felt were worthwhile suggestions and were accepted by us."

But as to the insistence on disclosure of the personal information and the vital statistical matter and the written agreement, the bank says "no."

"Their demand for a signed agreement and for the statistical data are the only ones which we refused to consider. And we will not consider them in the future regardless of demonstrations or other pressures" stated Frank E. Young, assistant to the president.

So the battleline is drawn between an enterprise which rose to eminence from an ethnic base and another ethnic force which is exerting physical demonstration to achieve what its leaders call "racial equality."

In evaluating the relative merit of the two sides of the issue, it will be helpful to give some consideration to what each of the two organizations has contributed toward the progress of its own ethnic associates.

Two Riders Hurt When Motorbike Overturns

Two men sustained injuries when the motorcycle on which they were riding overturned at Main Street and Norman Drive in Security Thursday evening, the State Patrol reported.

The driver, Lynn Anthony Sample, 21, of Denver, suffered cuts on his arms and a possible fractured elbow. He was taken to St. Francis Hospital by E and E Ambulance. Ronald D. Castle, 21, of Security Mobile Homes, received cuts on his knee and hands. He was also taken to St. Francis.

State Patrolman Gordon W. Baumgardner said the motorcycle was going east on Main when it failed to negotiate a curve and skidded 63 feet before jumping a curb. The vehicle traveled for 35 feet on the sidewalk, then fell on its left side and skidded across Norman Drive for 32 feet.

Damages Awarded In Death Suit Case

Mr. and Mrs. Hilario V. Franco, 913 S. Cascade Ave. were awarded $1,763.60 damages Friday in a wrongful death suit they brought against Lloyd Allen Sullivan, 2418 W. Platte Ave.

Originally Mr. and Mrs. Franco sued for $18,438.38 and alleged that their 8-year-old daughter, Eva, was killed July 26, 1963, when a vehicle driven by Sullivan hit the child at a South Hancock Avenue crossing.

They alleged Sullivan was employed by the board of county commissioners at the time and the board was also named as a co-defendant.

The case against them was dismissed however by Judge G. Russell Miller Feb. 5 when the board filed a motion that under state laws El Paso County is "immune from suit by reason of negligence."

The palmyra palm of Ceylon and India, estimated to have 800 different uses, probably is the world's most useful plant.

Ford Executive Reports Auto Sales Soaring

A free-wheeling economy, a rapidly increasing number of young people, a growing number of multiple car families, and a population with money to spend are pushing automobile sales to record levels, a Ford executive said here Thursday night.

Jack S. Straub, general field manager in the Denver district sales office, Ford Division, Ford Motor Company, described an expanding market in a speech to a dinner meeting of the Colorado Springs Junior Chamber of Commerce at the Palmer House.

Straub said the industry is on its way to the first eight million car-buying year, and industry planners are working on blue prints for even higher sales years ahead.

He characterized the nature of the current automobile market as one of constant change that "keeps the lights burning nightly in Detroit and Dearborn."

Straub said, "We're dealing with a changing America, an increasingly sophisticated America.

"For example, by 1970 seven million young people will be attending college — nearly double the 1960 enrollment."

He noted that college-educated people buy cars at a much higher rate than non-college people and that "their taste in automobiles is becoming more specialized. They want cars that are just right for them—literally tailored to their needs."

To make sure his audience was aware of how one company was approaching the market, Straub invited 15 members of the audience to "test drive" new Ford cars for a week. The 15 cars included a number of Ford's new Mustangs, which Straub described as a good example of a product designed to meet the current demand of consumers for specialized products, for "cars that are just right for them."

Discussing his company's decision to bring out the Mustang, he said that marketing studies were carried on in depth to determine the current need in styling, produce features, size of package and price.

"We finally came up with these product objectives

"The Mustang should be soundly and exquisitely styled.

"It should offer a wide range of features — engines, transmissions, accessories — particularly those which would enable the buyer to indulge his taste for sportiness.

"It should seat four passengers and have front bucket seats, to complement the overall sporty appearance of the car. It also should have a good-size trunk.

"Finally," he said, "it should be as low-priced as possible to compete in the volume segment of the market."

With the car's objectives set in the fall of 1961, a series of small, sporty idea cars was shown throughout the country to test public reaction and to assist Ford management in making final decisions leading to introduction of the new Mustang, Straub said.

U.S. Business Takes New Look At Red Trade

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP) — American business is taking a new look at trade with the Communist nations. It also is assessing its manner of dealing with Communist threats to its markets in other lands. The Red bloc offers both opportunities and pitfalls to American business planners as well as to shapers of political policy.

Romania and the United States have just widened the door to trade between them—with the final dollar volume yet to become apparent.

The Soviet Union is reported seeking more North American wheat, chiefly in Canada where it hopes for better terms.

Western European nations are pushing sales to Eastern Europe, some of which Washington frowns upon; and also to Cuba, which Washington deplores. All this leads many American businessmen to want a slice of the pie.

But in exploring trade opportunities with the Communists, U.S. industrialists have two problems in particular: How they'll be paid, since the Red bloc is short on foreign exchange; and what products this country could take in barter, since the Soviet Union especially has little that the American market wants.

In a wider field of competition in world markets, American business has still other problems. The Soviets can, and sometimes do, dump commodities such as oil on carefully chosen markets at prices that the American profit system can't match.

And Communist propaganda in some developing countries where Americans have traditional markets can upset Yankee sales, and even lead to appropriation of American investments. How to counter this propaganda?

"We try to outsell communism, not out-yell it," says M. J. Rathbone, board chairman of Jersey Standard Oil with stakes in many lands.

"We believe out best contribution against communism is to do our job well, thereby helping to strengthen the economy of the host country and showing what free enterprise can do for free people."

Security Council To Send Probe To Cambodia

By WILLIAM N. OATIS

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Security Council President Arsene Assouan Usher was expected to name Brazil, the Ivory Coast and Morocco today to make an on-the-spot investigation of the border troubles between Cambodia and South Viet Nam.

Usher, the Ivory Coast's delegate, was holding formal consultations with other council members on the makeup of the study group, but diplomatic sources said the three countries had been agreed on.

The council called for the study Thursday in a resolution that also deplored South Vietnamese incursions into Cambodia, the subject of a Cambodian complaint that had been under debate since May 19.

The resolution, sponsored by the Ivory Coast and Morocco, was adopted unanimously. The Soviet Union and Czechoslovakia voted for it after abstaining on the provision for a U.N. study.

The council directed the investigation group to report back within 45 days.

Soviet Delegate Nikolai T. Fedorenko said he was abstaining on that provision because a U.N. mission was unjustified. He said the International Control Commission created by the 1954 Geneva conference was already on the scene.

Fedorenko did not repeat a previous demand that the resolution blame the United States along with South Viet Nam.

He said he was voting for the whole resolution because the greater part of it reflected Cambodia's wishes.

Other parts of the resolution (1) deplored "incidents caused by the penetration" of South Vietnamese army units into Cambodia, (2) asked fair compensation for Cambodia, (3) invited "those responsible to prevent any further violation of the Cambodian territory," and (4) requested "all states and authorities to recognize and respect Cambodia's neutrality and territorial integrity."

U.S. Delegate Adlai E. Stevenson, Nationalist Chinese Delegate Yu Chi Hsueh, and South Vietnamese spokesman Vu Van Mau said they hoped the mission would bring about a U.N. patrol or international police force for the border.

Annual Summit Meet Proposed by Wilson

LONDON (AP)—Labor party leader Harold Wilson returned today from a four-day visit to Moscow and said he thought the Western powers should support the idea of annual summit meetings.

"I think it is the experience of anyone who has dealt with the Soviet leaders that the decisions are taken right at the top," he told newsmen.

Looking At Hollywood

By HEDDA HOPPER

ETHEL WILL MAKE MOVIE BEFORE HER HONEYMOON

"It really won't interfere with our honeymoon," she told me, "because Ernie won't finish his series until the end of June."

Karl Malden gets a starring role in "The Cincinnati Kid" with Spencer Tracy and Steve McQueen, who'll do some motorcycle racing in Germany before it starts. Based on a best seller, it's about those card sharps who make poker playing a way of life. Sam Pekinpaugh, who had a time of it in Mexico, with "Dundee," directs. Should be a breeze.

Well, whatta you know. Bob Montgomery and Ralph Wheelwright are writing a musical comedy laid in the court of Queen Victoria (She won't appear). They've spoken to Richard Rodgers about writing the score. Bob would direct and play an Englishman. The fellows worked on it in Bob's boat, which sleeps eight, in Maine. It's a backward step from Ike to Queen Victoria.

Steve Boyd made his greatest hit playing a heavy, so he'll go the villain route again in "The Golden Horde," with Omar Sharif playing Ghengis Khan, James Mason's in it, too, and the girl with these three gents will most likely be Michele Mercier, who parlez-voused Bob Hope in his last one. Picture will be shot in Yugoslavia and London.

I hope everybody reads a little book called "None Dare Call It Treason," by John A. Stormer. It's a carefully documented story of America's retreat from victory.

If you're going to be introduced to a new public, Jimmy Durante's the one to do it. Sergio Franchi, the singing sensation, teams with Durante for appearances in Portland, Vancouver and Seattle.

You'd think after making "Iguana" in Puerto Vallarta, Sue Lyon would have had her fill of the place; but she's taking a 10-day vacation there with her husband who was booted out while the film was being made. After the rest, she goes touring for the picture.

Gilbert Roland joins Max von Sydow in "The Reward," a western set in Mexico which will be shot in Death Valley. Can't wait to start work with French Director Serge Bourguignon. Roland and Charlton Heston won the motion picture tennis tournament, which will be an annual event to benefit our relief fund home.

Jimmy Stewart was told it would be impossible to get Brigette Bardot for his "Erasmus with Freckles." He suggested the studio try. After they got her, he was warned she'd be difficult. Jimmy didn't know what to expect when he arrived in Paris for three days' work with her, even though he's managed to get along with every girl he's ever met (with the possible exception of Margaret Chase Smith). Well, he and BB hit it off great — language barrier and all. "Whatever it is that makes her a big star is apparent the minute you meet her," he told me. "These girls (BB, Marilyn Monroe) don't get their reputations by accident. She studied dancing and knows her way around a movie set."

Scranton, Nixon Won't Join Stop Goldwater Drive

By BERNIE GOULD

GARDEN CITY, N.Y. (AP)—Former Vice President Richard M. Nixon says Gov. William W. Scranton of Pennsylvania would be the Republican party's best candidate for vice president if Sen. Barry Goldwater wins the presidential nomination.

Nixon said Thursday Scranton's liberalism would balance the Arizona senator's conservatism and that the ticket, "perhaps the strongest team" available to the Republicans, would also be balanced geographically.

Earlier in the day, Scranton told a news conference in Harrisburg, Pa., he would run with Goldwater only if there were a genuine draft by convention delegates.

He had been asked to comment on GOP National Chairman William E. Miller's recent statement that Scranton would make a good running mate for Goldwater.

Nixon gave his views at a new conference before speaking at a testimonial for Rep. Steven B. Derounian, R-N.Y., in this city on Long Island.

He said: "The chances of any Republican beating Johnson today are considered remote by the pollsters, by the television commentators and by all the political experts. All that I can say is this: That the polls have been wrong in New Hampshire, Oregon and California (primaries)."

He called 1964 a year of upsets and added that a "slam-bang" campaign by the GOP could defeat Johnson.

The next two weeks, he said, are critical in the campaign for the Republican nomination and a bandwagon psychology could develop for Goldwater.

"You'll know in two weeks if a Goldwater blitz will succeed," he said.

He said he was not going to endorse any candidate and that if any "stop-Goldwater" movement developed, "I certainly would not become a party to it, and I would instruct my aid not to join it."

As for his own future, Nixon said: "I don't anticipate a draft will take place for me."

Asked if he would accept the nomination for vice president, he said: "No one who says he will be a candidate for president would decline the vice presidential nomination."

Nixon said he would support any nominee the Republican convention chooses.

Asked if he thought a Nixon-Goldwater ticket would be a good one, he said: "I think the best ticket would be a Goldwater-Scranton ticket. It gets the combination of the Goldwater experience on the national scene and the combination of a big eastern state."

Victor Allen Opens Photo Service At 19 E. Platte

A new business, Colorado Camera, has been opened at 19 E. Platte Ave. by Victor F. Allen, who has been in photography for 20 years.

Colorado Camera will offer stock photographs from all parts of Colorado, and will act as a photographers and artists agent for local persons wishing to sell their work.

Allen said the photos are mostly scenic from throughout Colorado for use for publicity, advertising, commercial brochures, calendars and other purposes where scenic views may be applied.

Black and white photographs and paintings will be available to private and civic organizations needing fillers or photographic backgrounds for their publications, and assignments will be taken for specific photographic work.

Allen said Colorado Camera will seek to publicize the state as widely as possible, featuring mostly the recreational, scenic and sports activities in Colorado. Three feature articles have been submitted to Outdoor Life magazine, Sports Afield and Field and Stream, and featurettes are being considered by Readers Digest, Modern Photography and the Saturday Evening Post, Allen said.

Allen, a native of Colorado Springs, has had his work published in many national magazines and in newspapers. He recently taught adult classes in photo journalism and practical photography for the Colorado Springs YMCA where he was employed for 15 months.

Student sales in the last three journalism classes, he said, totaled more than $1,800.

Allen was a medical research photographer for the Atomic Energy Commission at Los Alamos, N. M., for three and one-half years and is a graduate of the Progressive School of Photography in New Haven, Conn.

Allen and his wife, Joyce, have three sons, Vic Jr., Cary Scott and Chris. The family resides at 1919 E. Jackson St.

By SAM CAMPBELL

If any company in California—or for that matter in the country — can understand the ethnic situation and deal with it successfully, that company is the Bank of America.

Founded by an Italian vegetable broker in San Francisco, Bank of America grew to become the greatest in the United States and in the process elevated Californians of Italian ancestry to a status of prestige and esteem.

Yet, in spite of that remarkable background, the bank is having its difficulties on the ethnic question.

Specifically, the bank is the current target of the Congress of Racial Equality, more commonly known as CORE. It is the victim of assorted demonstrations by CORE.

According to the bank, the area of disagreement with CORE centers around CORE's continued demand for certain personal and statistical data that the bank refuses to give out.

CORE wants to know the names and addresses of certain personnel in ethnic groupings who have been hired, promoted, and terminated by the bank.

The militant Negro organization also is demanding statistics on the bank's turnover by job classification on a statewide basis and for a statistical breakdown of employes' race by job classification and by location.

In addition CORE is asking for a statistical tally of all individuals who apply for positions in the bank, by race, job classification and location, and for the number of individuals interviewed, tested, hired, and rejected.

The character of the data which CORE demands suggests that the purpose of the demand is to enable CORE to "zero in" on the personnel already in the employ of the bank.

Yet another CORE demand is that the bank sign a written agreement with CORE. Such a written document is useful to the organization as a selling showpiece in the recruitment of members and finances.

The bank management has met with CORE leaders a number of times and has agreed verbally to many of its suggestions. In fact, according to the bank, "most of CORE's demands were actually in effect before CORE had any formal discussions with us. Some of them, we felt were worthwhile suggestions and were accepted by us."

But as to the insistence on disclosure of the personal information and the vital statistical matter and the written agreement, the bank says "no."

"Their demand for a signed agreement and for the statistical data are the only ones which we refused to consider. And we will not consider them in the future regardless of demonstrations or other pressures" stated Frank E. Young, assistant to the president.

So the battleline is drawn between an enterprise which rose to eminence from an ethnic base and another ethnic force which is exerting physical demonstration to achieve what its leaders call "racial equality."

In evaluating the relative merit of the two sides of the issue, it will be helpful to give some consideration to what each of the two organizations has contributed toward the progress of its own ethnic associates.

Two Riders Hurt When Motorbike Overturns

Two men sustained injuries when the motorcycle on which they were riding overturned at Main Street and Norman Drive in Security Thursday evening, the State Patrol reported.

The driver, Lynn Anthony Sample, 21, of Denver, suffered cuts on his arms and a possible fractured elbow. He was taken to St. Francis Hospital by E and E Ambulance. Ronald D. Castle, 21, of Security Mobile Homes, received cuts on his knee and hands. He was also taken to St. Francis.

State Patrolman Gordon W. Baumgardner said the motorcycle was going east on Main when it failed to negotiate a curve and skidded 63 feet before jumping a curb. The vehicle traveled for 35 feet on the sidewalk, then fell on its left side and skidded across Norman Drive for 32 feet.

Damages Awarded In Death Suit Case

Mr. and Mrs. Hilario V. Franco, 913 S. Cascade Ave. were awarded $1,763.60 damages Friday in a wrongful death suit they brought against Lloyd Allen Sullivan, 2418 W. Platte Ave.

Originally Mr. and Mrs. Franco sued for $18,438.38 and alleged that their 8-year-old daughter, Eva, was killed July 26, 1963, when a vehicle driven by Sullivan hit the child at a South Hancock Avenue crossing.

They alleged Sullivan was employed by the board of county commissioners at the time and the board was also named as a co-defendant.

The case against them was dismissed however by Judge G. Russell Miller Feb. 5 when the board filed a motion that under state laws El Paso County is "immune from suit by reason of negligence."

The palmyra palm of Ceylon and India, estimated to have 800 different uses, probably is the world's most useful plant.

Ford Executive Reports Auto Sales Soaring

A free-wheeling economy, a rapidly increasing number of young people, a growing number of multiple car families, and a population with money to spend are pushing automobile sales to record levels, a Ford executive said here Thursday night.

Jack S. Straub, general field manager in the Denver district sales office, Ford Division, Ford Motor Company, described an expanding market in a speech to a dinner meeting of the Colorado Springs Junior Chamber of Commerce at the Palmer House.

Straub said the industry is on its way to the first eight million car-buying year, and industry planners are working on blue prints for even higher sales years ahead.

He characterized the nature of the current automobile market as one of constant change that "keeps the lights burning nightly in Detroit and Dearborn."

Straub said, "We're dealing with a changing America, an increasingly sophisticated America.

"For example, by 1970 seven million young people will be attending college — nearly double the 1960 enrollment."

He noted that college-educated people buy cars at a much higher rate than non-college people and that "their taste in automobiles is becoming more specialized. They want cars that are just right for them—literally tailored to their needs."

To make sure his audience was aware of how one company was approaching the market, Straub invited 15 members of the audience to "test drive" new Ford cars for a week. The 15 cars included a number of Ford's new Mustangs, which Straub described as a good example of a product designed to meet the current demand of consumers for specialized products, for "cars that are just right for them."

Discussing his company's decision to bring out the Mustang, he said that marketing studies were carried on in depth to determine the current need in styling, produce features, size of package and price.

"We finally came up with these product objectives:

"The Mustang should be soundly and exquisitely styled.

"It should offer a wide range of features — engines, transmissions, accessories — particularly those which would enable the buyer to indulge his taste for sportiness.

"It should seat four passengers and have front bucket seats, to complement the overall sporty appearance of the car. It also should have a good-size trunk.

"Finally," he said, "it should be as low-priced as possible to compete in the volume segment of the market."

With the car's objectives set in the fall of 1961, a series of small, sporty idea cars was shown throughout the country to test public reaction and to assist Ford management in making final decisions leading to introduction of the new Mustang, Straub said.

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP) — American business is taking a new look at trade with the Communist nations. It also is assessing its manner of dealing with Communist threats to its markets in other lands. The Red bloc offers both opportunities and pitfalls to American business planners as well as to shapers of political policy.

Romania and the United States have just widened the door to trade between them—with the final dollar volume yet to become apparent.

The Soviet Union is reported seeking more North American wheat, chiefly in Canada where it hopes for better terms.

Western European nations are pushing sales to Eastern Europe, some of which Washington frowns upon; and also to Cuba, which Washington deplores. All this leads many American businessmen to want a slice of the pie.

But in exploring trade opportunities with the Communists, U.S. industrialists have two problems in particular: How they'll be paid, since the Red bloc is short on foreign exchange; and what products this country could take in barter, since the Soviet Union especially has little that the American market wants.

In a wider field of competition in world markets, American business has still other problems. The Soviets can, and sometimes do, dump commodities such as oil on carefully chosen markets at prices that the American profit system can't match.

And Communist propaganda in some developing countries where Americans have traditional markets can upset Yankee sales, and even lead to appropriation of American investments. How to counter this propaganda?

"We try to outsell communism, not out-yell it," says M. J. Rathbone, board chairman of Jersey Standard Oil with stakes in many lands.

"We believe out best contribution against communism is to do our job well, thereby helping to strengthen the economy of the host country and showing what free enterprise can do for free people."

WHERE HISTORY
WALLS A LIBRARY—
INSIDE AND OUT!

Books in the library of the University of Mexico cover that country's history back to the great Mayan Empires, centuries before Christ.

Outside, its walls are covered by Juan O'Gorman's colorful mosaic (made of more than 7½ million separate stones) depicting the history and culture of Mexico.

The school itself dates back to 1551, but its campus is one of the world's most modern. Built in 1954, it was designed by a team of Mexico's finest architects.

Even in a country known for its architecture, on a campus that is a collective example for the world, the library stands out.

Weddings Aboard Ships May Face Legal Hazard

By NEIL GILBRIDE

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Seafarers' Union has a word of warning for lovers who think it would be romantic to get married at sea: "The ocean-bound wedding may be more romantic than binding."

Couples who let ship captains tie the marital knot in the middle of the ocean may find themselves still legally at sea when they return to port, says an article in the union's "Seafarer's Log."

The maritime trades department in AFL-CIO headquarters here said it didn't know if some of its sailor members had been having trouble following shipboard marriages.

But whatever prompted the article, it hinted it virtually takes an international lawyer to be certain a seagoing marriage is legal.

"Lovestruck couples involved in such an at-sea idyll would do well to check the laws of the nation whose flag the ship flies and also take a look at the laws of the state of the vessel's port of registry before they decide to ask the ship's captain to tie the knot," it said.

The article cautions: "Contrary to popular belief, the captain of a ship has no special authority to merge ocean-bound lovers."

If the ship is registered in New York, for instance, "state law may well consider the marriage to be null and void" because it specifically excludes ship captains as legal matchmakers.

In states that do not specifically forbid the captain to play cupid, a couple may have a valid common law marriage.

While federal law requires the captain of every ship making a voyage between U.S. and foreign ports to officially log "every marriage taking place on board," it doesn't necessarily mean the skipper has the authority to perform the ceremony the article said.

It quotes U.S. Coast Guard Capt. Frederick Arzt, an authority on marine law, as saying the federal statute has "resulted in an erroneous widespread belief that it authorizes the masters of vessels to perform marriage ceremonies."

Another Boost Given To Scranton Race

DES MOINES, Iow (AP)—Robert Ray, Iowa Republican chairman, says he hopes Pennsylvania Gov. William W. Scranton will become an active candidate for the GOP presidential nomination.

Ray made public Thursday a letter he sent to Scranton, saying: "If you actively seek the presidential nomination, win or lose, your participation would strengthen the Republican cause."

Ray told newsmen he believes Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona could carry Iowa but that Scranton would be an even better vote-getter in this state.

The chairman said he—and he hoped all Republicans—will support whoever is the party nominee.

Work Completed on 29-Unit Hathaway Apartment House

Construction work has been completed on Hathaway Apartments, 625 Hathaway Dr., which will be shown to city and county officials and business leaders at a private "open house" between 4 and 7 p.m. today.

The new building, located near Western Electrodynamics, has 29 three-bedroom units, each with one and a half baths, living room, dining area and complete electric kitchen with steel cabinets and disposal units.

Kitchens and bathrooms have vinyl tile floors, and other rooms are carpeted. The rooms also are draped.

All of the apartments face the mountains in the three-story building, which also has a community room. Five stairways lead from the garden level to the second and third floors and are located so that each apartment may be reached without occupants having to walk past another apartment.

The building is equipped with coin-operated washers and dryers and has hot water central heat. It was constructed according to city building codes, although it is located in the county.

Each room also has a TV outlet.

The building, constructed of concrete and concrete blocks with a brick veneer, is 232 feet long and 51 feet wide, including the cantilevered balconies. The balconies provide each apartment with a 7½-foot wide porch.

Hathaway Apartments are located in the Cherokee Water District and get water from the Cherokee line. All wiring is underground to the building.

The apartment building was designed by Louis E. Rico, Colorado Springs architect, and is owned by Cimarron Development Co. of Colorado Springs. It will be open for inspection Saturday and Sunday.

Police Probe Scenes of Three Burglaries

Police this morning were investigating three bruglaries which occurred since Wednesday night.

Two pinball machines were pried open and $40 in coins stolen after thieves entered Colt's Corner, 131 E. Bijou St. About $100 in damage was done to the machines. The breakin took place Wednesday night or Thursday morning. The victim is Charles Everitt Whale, 813 W. Colorado Ave.

Thieves broke into the home of Zelma Harris, 1019 S. El Paso St., and took $5 in pennies from a piggy bank and jar. The intruders entered through a bedroom window sometime Thursday.

Nemith's El Tejon Restaurant, 1005 S. Tejon St., was burglarized Thursday night or early this morning and a cigaret machine coin box emptied of its contents. Thieves pried open the front door to enter. The amount of the loss was not known.

Two Injured In Three Car Accident

A three-car accident at the intersection of Mill Street and Nevada Avenue Thursday evening resulted in injuries to two persons and an estimated $1,500 worth of damage, police reported.

The driver of one car, John B. Berndsen, 51, of 1928 Roanoke St., sustained five fractured ribs and was taken to St. Francis Hospital. His condition this morning was reported to be good.

The driver of a second car was taken to the Ft. Carson Hospital with unknown injuries. The driver's name was not available.

Police said the Berndsen car was eastbound on Mill, crossing Nevada, and the second car was southbound on Nevada at the time of the collision. The second car traveled 24 feet and hit a car driven by Miles E. Lindskog, 49, of 605 Fontanero St. Lindskog was not injured.

Three Persons Hurt in Car-Truck Crash

The driver of the truck, Guy Stoner, 55, of Shawnee Mission, Kan., suffered a slight concussion and a possible chest injury. He was taken to Penrose Hospital by E and E Ambulance.

The driver of the car, William G. Stolarcek, 20, of 219 N. Wahsatch Ave., sustained bruises and abrasions. He was released at the scene. A passenger in the car, Alexander Lauck, 20, of Ft. Carson, was taken to the post hospital with a possible concussion and a cut above his right eye. Another passenger, Billy G. Price, 24, of 624 N. Weber St., was not injured.

The State Patrol report stated that both vehicles were traveling south when the pickup truck was struck on the rear by the car. The truck went out of control and veered off the right side of the road into a building materials storage area, hitting cinder blocks and three trees. Damage in the accident was estimated at over $1,000 worth.

The Colorado Springs Fine Arts Center has announced the appointment of Robert L. Shalkop as the new Curator of the Taylor Museum.

Shalkop replaces Dr. George Mills, a member of the Fine Arts Center staff for 15 years, who leaves this week for Lake Forest, Ill. where he will join the faculty of Lake Forest College next fall as Associate Professor of Anthropology.

Shalkop, who also has specialized in anthropology and native arts, comes here from Memphis, Tenn. where he was Director of Brooks Memorial Art Gallery. Prior to that he was Director of the Everhart Museum in Scranton, Pa., a large institution with substantial collections in both art and science and a circulating art exhibition program.

A native of Milford, Conn., Shalkop studied at Maryville College in Tennessee and received a Masters degree in anthropology at the University of Chicago. During that time he was one of the few students selected to take an intensive course in museum management and technique administered by the Anthropology Department of the Chicago Museum of Natural History.

He did extensive work in the field as an archaeologist under the direction of the Smithsonian Institute. He had experience in Arabia and in France and took courses at the Sorbonne. He has traveled extensively in Europe.

Shalkop has had considerable experience in dealing with the native art field, working with collections of American Indian, Pre-Columbian and African and Oceanic art as well as with early American folk art.

Shalkop will be joined by his wife and 16-year-old son, Andrew Goforth.

The Taylor Museum is a separate collection within the Fine Arts Center, of Southwestern art, named for the late Alice Bemis Taylor founder and benefactor of the Fine Arts Center. The Museum contains probably the finest collection of Santos, Southwestern religious objects, anywhere in the country.

During Dr. Mills' tenure at the Taylor Museum, the Santos collection has been exhibited and added to, mainly through the efforts of H. H. Garnett of Colorado Springs, who has been gathering these objects since the early days of the Taylor Museum.

Dr. Mills, who has also served as Assistant to Director Fred S. Bartlett, is a graduate of Harvard University where he received both his Masters and Doctors degrees in social anthropology.

He has written two books and a number of pamphlets and brochures on Indian art and culture.

Flight to Cuba Made After All, Exile Declares

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)— An anti-Castro group says government investigators coerced a member o ftheir organization to deny he made a flight from Florida to Cuba.

Stung by a Pentagon statement that branded reports of the flight a "complete and utter hoax," the International Anti-Communist Brigade insisted the flight was made.

A statement said the plane took off from Florida on a flight plan to the Bahamas, landed at a base "outside U.S. territory" and then flew to Cuba.

The group said the plane returned to Florida, again on a flight plan, after dropping a field hospital to guerrillas and leaflets on Santiago de Cuba.

The statement said that Frank Fiorini, a member of the group, denied only that he personally made the flight.

"The reason for that denial is that he and six other Americans are under an executive order to cease and desist any action against the Cuban Communist government or be faced with a two-year prison sentence and a $25,000 fine for each offense. In view of this threat, which was made by government investigators, Fiorini signed a statement."

The executive order was given, Fiorini said, because he and the other Americans made several bombing raids on Cuba in 1963.

The organization added that it did not penetrate radar on the flight. However, it said such penetrations could be made and offered to fly government officials through the radar if given immunity.

Deputy Secretary of Defense Cyrus Vance reported Thursday Fiorini signed a statement for Pentagon investigators saying: "To the best of my knowledge a so-called 'Operation Phantom,' a raid in Cuba on May 25, 1964, did not take place. I declared that U.S. radar defenses were not violated while entering or leaving U.S. territory."

Malaysia to Mobilize Military Forces

KUALA LUMPUR, Malaysia (AP)—Malaysia announced today 12,000 to 15,000 men and women will be called up immediately for military service and civil defense in the first phase of a nationwide draft.

Minister Khaw Kai Boh, whose portfolio includes manpower, said those picked for military service would undergo two weeks basic training and then go on active duty or be placed in reserve.

The announcement came as Malaysia and Indonesia sparred over terms for meeting at a second tripartite summit with the Philippines in an attempt to end the Jakarta-Kuala Lumpu feud.

Indonesia recently sent units of a volunteer brigade to the Borneo frontier with Malaysia and said they might be sent across later as guerrillas. Indonesia already has about 5,000 combat troops on the jungle border.

Youth Charged With Threatening Johnson

CAMDEN, N.J. (AP)—Michael Allen Young, 18, of Wildwood, N.J., was arrested by Secret Service agents Thursday night and charged with threatening the life of President Johnson.

Young was jailed in default of $20,000 bond.

Agent Donald C. Brett testified before Charles L. Rudd, U.S. commissioner, that Young wrote and mailed a letter to the President that allegedly threatened to "get" Johnson "like Lee Harvey Oswald got Kennedy."

Brett said the letter, mailed on May 27 from Rio Grande, N.J., was not signed, but was traced to Young. He testified that a .22 caliber rifle and a .32 caliber pistol were found in the youth's bedroom.

Under questioning by Rudd, Young said he belonged to no organization or gang.

Young, who dropped out of school after the eighth grade, had been employed for a week as stockboy at a food market. He lives with his mother, a waitress.

Young's mother said he recently got an honorable discharge from the Navy after serving only three weeks.

The modern Olympic games were revived in 1896, by a French sportsman, Baron Pierre de Coubertin.

ETHEL WILL MAKE MOVIE BEFORE HER HONEYMOON

"It really won't interfere with our honeymoon," she told me, "because Ernie won't finish his series until the end of June."

Karl Malden gets a starring role in "The Cincinnati Kid" with Spencer Tracy and Steve McQueen, who'll do some motorcycle racing in Germany before it starts. Based on a best seller, it's about those card sharps who make poker playing a way of life. Sam Pekinpaugh, who had a time of it in Mexico, with "Dundee," directs. Should be a breeze.

Well, whatta you know. Bob Montgomery and Ralph Wheelwright are writing a musical comedy laid in the court of Queen Victoria (She won't appear). They've spoken to Richard Rodgers about writing the score. Bob would direct and play an Englishman. The fellows worked on it in Bob's boat, which sleeps eight, in Maine. It's a backward step from Ike to Queen Victoria.

Steve Boyd made his greatest hit playing a heavy, so he'll go the villain route again in "The Golden Horde," with Omar Sharif playing Ghengis Khan. James Mason's in it, too, and the girl with these three gents will most likely be Michele Mercier, who parlez-voused Bob Hope in his last one. Picture will be shot in Yugoslavia and London.

I hope everybody reads a little book called "None Dare Call It Treason," by John A. Stormer. It's a carefully documented story of America's retreat from victory.

If you're going to be introduced to a new public, Jimmy Durante's the one to do it. Sergio Franchi, the singing sensation, teams with Durante for appearances in Portland, Vancouver and Seattle.

You'd think after making "Iguana" in Puerto Vallarta, Sue Lyon would have had her fill of the place; but she's taking a 10-day vacation there with her husband who was booted out while the film was being made. After the rest, she goes touring for the picture.

Gilbert Roland joins Max von Sydow in "The Reward," a western set in Mexico which will be shot in Death Valley. Can't wait to start work with French Director Serge Bourguignon. Roland and Charlton Heston won the motion picture tennis tournament, which will be an annual event to benefit our relief fund home.

Jimmy Stewart was told it would be impossible to get Brigette Bardot for his "Erasmus with Freckles." He suggested the studio try. After they got her, he was warned she'd be difficult. Jimmy didn't know what to expect when he arrived in Paris for three days' work with her, even though he's managed to get along with every girl he's ever met (with the possible exception of Margaret Chase Smith). Well, he and BB hit it off great — language barrier and all. "Whatever it is that makes her a big star is apparent the minute you meet her," he told me. "These girls (BB, Marilyn Monroe) don't get their reputations by accident. She studied dancing and knows her way around a movie set."

Weddings Aboard Ships May Face Legal Hazard

By NEIL GILBRIDE

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Seafarers' Union has a word of warning for lovers who think it would be romantic to get married at sea: "The ocean-bound wedding may be more romantic than binding."

Couples who let ship captains tie the marital knot in the middle of the ocean may find themselves still legally at sea when they return to port, says an article in the union's "Seafarer's Log."

The maritime trades department in AFL-CIO headquarters here said it didn't know if some of its sailor members had been having trouble following shipboard marriages.

But whatever prompted the article, it hinted it virtually takes an international lawyer to be certain a seagoing marriage is legal.

"Lovestruck couples involved in such an at-sea idyll would do well to check the laws of the nation whose flag the ship flies and also take a look at the laws of the state of the vessel's port of registry before they decide to ask the ship's captain to tie the knot," it said.

The article cautions: "Contrary to popular belief, the captain of a ship has no special authority to merge ocean-bound lovers."

If the ship is registered in New York, for instance, "state law may well consider the marriage to be null and void" because it specifically excludes ship captains as legal matchmakers.

In states that do not specifically forbid the captain to play cupid, a couple may have a valid common law marriage.

While federal law requires the captain of every ship making a voyage between U.S. and foreign ports to officially log "every marriage taking place on board," it doesn't necessarily mean the skipper has the authority to perform the ceremony the article said.

It quotes U.S. Coast Guard Capt. Frederick Arzt, an authority on marine law, as saying the federal statute has "resulted in an erroneous widespread belief that it authorizes the masters of vessels to perform marriage ceremonies."

HATHAWAY APARTMENTS

Work Completed on 29-Unit Hathaway Apartment House

Construction work has been completed on Hathaway Apartments, 625 Hathaway Dr., which will be shown to city and county officials and business leaders at a private "open house" between 4 and 7 p.m. today.

The new building, located near Western Electrodynamics, has 29 three-bedroom units, each with one and a half baths, living room, dining area and complete electric kitchen with steel cabinets and disposal units.

Kitchens and bathrooms have vinyl tile floors, and other rooms are carpeted. The rooms also are draped.

All of the apartments face the mountains in the three-story building, which also has a community room. Five stairways lead from the garden level to the second and third floors and are located so that each apartment may be reached without occupants having to walk past another apartment.

The building is equipped with coin-operated washers and dryers and has hot water central heat. It was constructed according to city building codes, although it is located in the county.

Each room also has a TV outlet.

The building, constructed of concrete and concrete blocks with a brick veneer, is 232 feet long and 51 feet wide, including the cantilevered balconies. The balconies provide each apartment with a 7½-foot wide porch.

Hathaway Apartments are located in the Cherokee Water District and get water from the Cherokee line. All wiring is underground to the building.

The apartment building was designed by Louis E. Rico, Colorado Springs architect, and is owned by Cimarron Development Co. of Colorado Springs. It will be open for inspection Saturday and Sunday.

Police Probe Scenes of Three Burglaries

Police this morning were investigating three bruglaries which occurred since Wednesday night.

Two pinball machines were pried open and $40 in coins stolen after thieves entered Colt's Corner, 131 E. Bijou St. About $100 in damage was done to the machines. The breakin took place Wednesday night or Thursday morning. The victim is Charles Everitt Whale, 813 W. Colorado Ave.

Thieves broke into the home of Zelma Harris, 1019 S. El Paso St., and took $5 in pennies from a piggy bank and jar. The intruders entered through a bedroom window sometiime Thursday.

Nemith's El Tejon Restaurant, 1005 S. Tejon St., was burglarized Thursday night or early this morning and a cigaret machine coin box emptied of its contents. Thieves pried open the front door to enter. The amount of the loss was not known.

Two Injured In Three Car Accident

A three-car accident at the intersection of Mill Street and Nevada Avenue Thursday evening resulted in injuries to two persons and an estimated $1,500 worth of damage, police reported.

The driver of one car, John B. Berndsen, 51, of 1928 Roanoke St., sustained five fractured ribs and was taken to St. Francis Hospital. His condition this morning was reported to be good.

The driver of a second car was taken to the Ft. Carson Hospital with unknown injuries. The driver's name was not available.

Police said the Berndsen car was eastbound on Mill, crossing Nevada, and the second car was southbound on Nevada at the time of the collision. The second car traveled 24 feet and hit a car driven by Miles E. Lindskog, 49, of 605 Fontanero St. Lindskog was not injured.

Three Persons Hurt in Car-Truck Crash

Three persons suffered injuries in a car-pickup truck accident early this morning on U.S. Highway 85-87 at Monument.

The driver of the truck, Guy Stoner, 55, of Shawnee Mission, Kan., suffered a slight concussion and a possible chest injury. He was taken to Penrose Hospital by E and E Ambulance.

The driver of the car, William G. Stolarcek, 20, of 219 N. Wahsatch Ave., sustained bruises and abrasions. He was released at the scene. A passenger in the car, Alexander Lauck, 20, of Ft. Carson, was taken to the post hospital with a possible concussion and a cut above his right eye. Another passenger, Billy G. Price, 24, of 624 N. Weber St., was not injured.

The State Patrol report stated that both vehicles were traveling south when the pickup truck was struck on the rear by the car. The truck went out of control and veered off the right side of the road into a building materials storage area, hitting cinder blocks and three trees. Damage in the accident was estimated at over $1,000 worth.

Shalkop Named Curator of Taylor Museum

The Colorado Springs Fine Arts Center has announced the appointment of Robert L. Shalkop as the new Curator of the Taylor Museum.

Shalkop replaces Dr. George Mills, a member of the Fine Arts Center staff for 15 years, who leaves this week for Lake Forest, Ill. where he will join the faculty of Lake Forest College next fall as Associate Professor of Anthropology.

Shalkop, who also has specialized in anthropology and native arts, comes here from Memphis, Tenn. where he was Director of Brooks Memorial Art Gallery. Prior to that he was Director of the Everhart Museum in Scranton, Pa., a large institution with substantial collections in both art and science and a circulating art exhibition program.

A native of Milford, Conn., Shalkop studied at Maryville College in Tennessee and received a Masters degree in anthropology at the University of Chicago. During that time he was one of the few students selected to take an intensive course in museum management and technique administered by the Anthropology Department of the Chicago Museum of Natural History.

He did extensive work in the field as an archaeologist under the direction of the Smithsonian Institute. He had experience in Arabia and in France and took courses at the Sorbonne. He has traveled extensively in Europe.

Shalkop has had considerable experience in dealing with the native art field, working with collections of American Indian, Pre-Columbian and African and Oceanic art as well as with early American folk art.

Shalkop will be joined by his wife and 16-year-old son, Andrew Goforth.

The Taylor Museum is a separate collection within the Fine Arts Center, of Southwestern art, named for the late Alice Bemis Taylor founder and benefactor of the Fine Arts Center. The Museum contains probably the finest collection of Santos, Southwestern religious objects, anywhere in the country.

During Dr. Mills' tenure at the Taylor Museum, the Santos collection has been exhibited and added to, mainly through the efforts of H. H. Garnett of Colorado Springs, who has been gathering these objects since the early days of the Taylor Museum.

Dr. Mills, who has also served as Assistant to Director Fred S. Bartlett, is a graduate of Harvard University where he received both his Masters and Doctors degrees in social anthropology.

He has written two books and a number of pamphlets and brochures on Indian art and culture.

Flight to Cuba Made After All, Exile Declares

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)— An anti-Castro group says government investigators coerced a member o ftheir organization to deny he made a flight from Florida to Cuba.

Stung by a Pentagon statement that branded reports of the flight a "complete and utter hoax," the International Anti-Communist Brigade insisted the flight was made.

A statement said the plane took off from Florida on a flight plan to the Bahamas, landed at a base "outside U.S. territory" and then flew to Cuba.

The group said the plane returned to Florida, again on a flight plan, after dropping a field hospital to guerrillas and leaflets on Santiago de Cuba.

The statement said that Frank Fiorini, a member of the group, denied only that he personally made the flight.

"The reason for that denial is that he and six other Americans are under an executive order to cease and desist any action against the Cuban Communist government or be faced with a two-year prison sentence and a $25,000 fine for each offense. In view of this threat, which was made by government investigators, Fiorini signed a statement."

The executive order was given, Fiorini said, because he and the other Americans made several bombing raids on Cuba in 1963.

The organization added that it did not penetrate radar on the flight. However, it said such penetrations could be made and offered to fly government officials through the radar if given immunity.

Deputy Secretary of Defense Cyrus Vance reported Thursday Fiorini signed a statement for Pentagon investigators saying: "To the best of my knowledge a so-called 'Operation Phantom,' a raid in Cuba on May 25, 1964, did not take place. I declared that U.S. radar defenses were not violated while entering or leaving U.S. territory."

Malaysia to Mobilize Military Forces

KUALA LUMPUR, Malaysia (AP)—Malaysia announced today 12,000 to 15,000 men and women will be called up immediately for military service and civil defense in the first phase of a nationwide draft.

Minister Khaw Kai Boh, whose portfolio includes manpower, said those picked for military service would undergo two weeks basic training and then go on active duty or be placed in reserve.

The announcement came as Malaysia and Indonesia sparred over terms for meeting at a second tripartite summit with the Philippines in an attempt to end the Jakarta-Kuala Lumpu feud.

Indonesia recently sent units of a volunteer brigade to the Borneo frontier with Malaysia and said they might be sent across later as guerrillas. Indonesia already has about 5,000 combat troops on the jungle border.

Youth Charged With Threatening Johnson

CAMDEN, N.J. (AP)—Michael Allen Young, 18, of Wildwood, N.J., was arrested by Secret Service agents Thursday night and charged with threatening the life of President Johnson.

Young was jailed in default of $20,000 bond.

Agent Donald C. Brett testified before Charles L. Rudd, U.S. commissioner, that Young wrote and mailed a letter to the President that allegedly threatened to "get" Johnson "like Lee Harvey Oswald got Kennedy."

Brett said the letter mailed on May 27 from Rio Grande, N.J., was not signed, but was traced to Young. He testified that a .22 caliber rifle and a .32 caliber pistol were found in the youth's bedroom.

Under questioning by Rudd, Young said he belonged to no organization or gang.

Young, who dropped out of school after the eighth grade, had been employed for a week as stockboy at a food market. He lives with his mother, a waitress.

Young's mother said he recently got an honorable discharge from the Navy after serving only three weeks.

The modern Olympic games were revived in 1896, by a French sportsman, Baron Pierre de Coubertin.

Florence Council Okays Cigarette Tax Ordinance

The Florence City Council formally approved the city cigarette tax ordinance Monday night at its regular session which will hike the price of the luxury item 2 cents per pack effective July 1.

The ordinance was passed without changes despite a verbal protest offered by Lynn Wilcox, owner of Wilcox Grocery, who objected to the annual licenses fee tagged to all retail outlets. Wilcox, pointing out that he is highly in favor of the tax in all respects, objected to the renewal fee of $2 per year per retail outlet. He claimed that the low margin of profit on the sale of cigarettes makes the license fee an unwarranted burden if assessed each year.

In other business, the city council approved the purchase of 496 shares of Union Ditch company water stock from Phillip Lobach at a price to be finally determined between the seller and City Manager Frank Carochi. The possible purchase of an additional 189 shares of Rainbow Park company water stock was also reviewed.

Mayor Charles Cristelli appointed a committee of councilmen to investigate and study the matter of a municipal swimming pool. The committee includes B. A. Lopez, chairman, Gale Decker and Roy Palmer.

The council also voted $75 to the fire department to help defray convention costs at the state conclave at Boulder, June 9-12.

Reporting for various department heads, City Manager Carochi noted that the fire department has received 500 feet of new 2½-inch hose and answered three city fire calls during the month.

Quoting Chief of Police John Camerlo's monthly report, Carochi indicated that the department answered 145 calls during the month of May including 66 complaints. A total of three traffic accidents were reported and 13 tickets issued with fines totaling $120.

Reporting on a recent Colorado Municipal League meeting held in Pueblo, Carochi urged the council to back a sales tax petition being circulated by the league seeking a constitutional amendment increasing the state-wide sales tax one per cent for the benefit of local government.

Endorsed by the league's executive board, the petition now needs 60,000 signatures from Colorado voters in order to place the amendment on the November election ballot.

Purpose of the proposed sales tax hike was listed as follows:

1. Provide additional revenue for operation of local government.

2. Provide needed relief for property taxpayers, since one-half of all money received by any governmental unit must be used for property tax reduction.

3. Give all cities, towns and counties the authority to levy local option sales taxes after approval is given by the qualified voters of the city, town, or county.

4. Unless the local governing body votes unanimously to increase the property tax or qualified property taxpaying electors vote to increase it, cities, towns and counties will be limited to their 1964 property tax levies.

The petitions, now in the hands of the city, must be signed and delivered to the league headquarters before July 1, it was noted.

In other business, Carochi told the council that the Thompson Pipe and Machinery company, suppliers of the new sprinkling system for Pioneer Park, are currently drawing up plans for the system and that most of the main connections and pipe have been delivered for summer installation.

Solons Dispute New Plan for Foreign Aid

By GEOFFREY GOULD

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Democratic foreign aid spokesman in Congress came down hard today on a Republican proposal for a "special fund at the disposal of the President" for short-run foreign aid objectives.

Rep. Thomas E. Morgan, D-Pa., chairman of the House Foreign Affairs Committee, said enlarging the President's contingency fund in the present foreign aid program would accomplish the same objective.

Rep. Otto E. Passman, D-La., chairman of the Foreign Aid Appropriations subcommittee and no friend of foreign aid, also criticized the Republican proposal.

"Congress should make the decisions," Passman said. "I don't want to give the President blanket powers. When you give a slush fund like this it is not the President who decides how to use it—he's much too busy. It is the bureaucrats and spenders."

The special fund suggestion was in a policy statement issued by the Republican Critical Issues Council, headed by Dr. Milton Eisenhower, the former president's brother. The group has issued eight reports on major issues. Eisenhower plans to present the papers to the Republican Platform Committee at the GOP convention in San Francisco.

The task force which produced the current foreign aid policy statement was headed by former Rep. Walter Judd, of Minnesota, an influential spokesman on behalf of foreign aid when he was in Congress.

It makes several broad-brush suggestions for improving foreign aid, such as limiting it to "countries that have made up their minds on fundamental directions."

But the special presidential fund for short-range objectives stood out as a specific proposal.

The statement said short run purposes "include using aid in the hope of encouraging or enlarging cracks in the solidarity of international communism, as the aid previously given to Yugoslavia. Another example is 'to keep a foot in the door,' or 'to provide an alternative to Communist-bloc aid,' as in Cambodia. Aid also should not be given in the hope that it will win to the free world governments still on the fence."

Morgan said he felt most of the suggestions in the republican statement "fall in the definition of the President's contingency fund," which is already part of the bill.

"This fund is under continual attack by the enemies of foreign aid," Morgan added. "If the program were fragmented by providing a separate fund it would just make it more vulnerable."

Senate Is Set On Cloture in Civil Rights

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate is set to vote next Tuesday on cloture in the civil rights debate.

Here are some questions and answers on what is involved:

What is cloture?

How is it applied?

By the approval of two-thirds of the senators present and voting — 67 if all 100 are on hand.

Has it ever been used?

Never successfully when a civil rights bill was being filibustered; five times on other measures the last on Aug. 14, 1962 to break a filibuster against a bill to set up the Communications Satellite Corporation.

Why a cloture vote now?

The Southern filibuster against the civil rights bill is now in its 71st day and already is the longest on record. Senate leaders are convinced its primary objective is to stall action, and other Senate business long has been delayed. Besides, this is a presidential election year and President Johnson wants the civil rights bill passed.

How do Southerners view cloture?

As an attempt to gag them. They claim their long discourse against the bill serves an "educational" purpose — directing attention to what many of them charge is an unconstitutional measure. They cite, too, the long Senate tradition of free debate.

What happens if the cloture vote carries?

Senate leaders will move to call up the bill and each senator will be limited to one hour of talk on it and any amendments.

What happens if the cloture vote does not carry?

The Southerners will be free to continue their filibuster and will be able, if they so desire to prevent Senate action on this or any other bill for the remainder of the session.

Fifty-seven per cent of Washington, D.C.'s, residents were born outside the city, the Population Reference Bureau reports.

Florence Council Okays Cigarette Tax Ordinance

The Florence City Council formally approved the city cigarette tax ordinance Monday night at its regular session which will hike the price of the luxury item 2 cents per pack effective July 1.

The ordinance was passed without changes despite a verbal protest offered by Lynn Wilcox, owner of Wilcox Grocery, who objected to the annual licenses fee tagged to all retail outlets. Wilcox, pointing out that he is highly in favor of the tax in all respects, objected to the renewal fee of $2 per year per retail outlet. He claimed that the low margin of profit on the sale of cigarettes makes the license fee an unwarranted burden if assessed each year.

In other business, the city council approved the purchase of 496 shares of Union Ditch company water stock from Phillip Lobach at a price to be finally determined between the seller and City Manager Frank Carochi. The possible purchase of an additional 189 shares of Rainbow Park company water stock was also reviewed.

Mayor Charles Cristelli appointed a committee of councilmen to investigate and study the matter of a municipal swimming pool. The committee includes B. A. Lopez, chairman, Gale Decker and Roy Palmer.

The council also voted $75 to the fire department to help defray convention costs at the state conclave at Boulder, June 9-12.

Reporting for various department heads, City Manager Carochi noted that the fire department has received 500 feet of new 2½-inch hose and answered three city fire calls during the month.

Quoting Chief of Police John Camerlo's monthly report, Carochi indicated that the department answered 145 calls during the month of May including 66 complaints. A total of three traffic accidents were reported and 13 tickets issued with fines totaling $120.

Reporting on a recent Colorado Municipal League meeting held in Pueblo, Carochi urged the council to back a sales tax petition being circulated by the league seeking a constitutional amendment increasing the state-wide sales tax one per cent for the benefit of local government.

Endorsed by the league's executive board, the petition now needs 60,000 signatures from Colorado voters in order to place the amendment on the November election ballot.

Purpose of the proposed sales tax hike was listed as follows:

1. Provide additional revenue for operation of local government.

2. Provide needed relief for property taxpayers, since one-half of all money received by any governmental unit must be used for property tax reduction.

3. Give all cities, towns and counties the authority to levy local option sales taxes after approval is given by the qualified voters of the city, town, or county.

4. Unless the local governing body votes unanimously to increase the property tax or qualified property taxpaying electors vote to increase it, cities, towns and counties will be limited to their 1964 property tax levies.

The petitions, now in the hands of the city, must be signed and delivered to the league headquarters before July 1, it was noted.

In other business, Carochi told the council that the Thompson Pipe and Machinery company, suppliers of the new sprinkling system for Pioneer Park, are currently drawing up plans for the system and that most of the main connections and pipe have been delivered for summer installation.

HUNTING and FISHING

By DICK MOORE

Comments originating from Game, Fish & Parks Department wildlife conservation officers throughout southeastern Colorado indicates that fishing has fallen off temporarily.

BONNY DAM, Dean Weyerman — Walleyes, crappies, white bass and blue gills are making up fair to good catches. Some good northern pike are being caught as are some drum. The roads have been recently graded and their condition commensurate with the weather. Bonny Reservoir is full.

HUGO, Don Lengel — Kenny and Karvel Lakes are fair for fishing on baits according to Lengel.

TRINIDAD, Edward Bechaver — Reporting on Monument and North Lakes, WCO Bechaver said that heavy rains have increased the water level althought the water level still remains five feet below normal. All roads to both lakes are open and good for traveling. Rains have reduced fishing to fair.

BEULAH-RYE, William Kent —Fishing has tapered off to just fair, Kent said. It has been rainy and stormy all week with lots of feed being washed into the lake. Paved and gravel roads are okay. Other roads are wet and muddy. The St. Charles River and Willis and Greenhorn Creeks are providing fair fishing. Most all fishing at this time is bait fishing due to rainy weather. Roads in the area, with the exceptions of pavement and gravel roads are wet and muddy.

WALSENBURG, J. Frank Cordova — Reporting on Martin and Horseshoe lakes at Lathrop State Park west of Walsenburg, Cordova said fishing has been fair to good. La Veta City Lakes is fair to good fishing for trout using baits. Lilly Lake in the high country is frozen. Huerfano River provides fair catches. The Cucharas River and Blue Lake are providing less than fair fishing. Roads in the area are generally good.

WESTCLIFFE, Dan Riggs — De Weese Reservoir water is low and dark colored with generally poor fishing. Balman Reservoir west of Hillside is low and clear. Rainbow Lake above Balman is free of ice. Riggs reported that roads in the area are dry and rough, indicating that rains of the past few days did not affect that area. The balance of the high lakes on the Sangre de Cristo Range are frozen. All streams in the Wet Mountain Valley are high and roily and generally poor fishing exists.

FREMONT - TELLER COUNTIES, Pret Steele — The Arkansas River water is high and muddy, providing only bait fishing. Eleven Mile Canyon is high and clear. Fishing poor. Beaver and Badger Creeks running a normal amount of water and are fair fishing for small fish.

Eleven Mile Reservoir, Wrights Reservoir and Brush Hollow Reservoir, waters are low and going down. Fishing success cannot even be classed as fair. Roads in these areas are wet and muddy.

BUENA VISTA-LEADVILLE Cody Jordan — apparently fishing activity in this area was practically non-existent for Jordan was unable to formard a report on conditions. However, Jordan did say that Cottonwood Pass is now open to four-wheel drive vehicles. A one-way track has been plowed through the existing snow.

Seasons and bag limits for hunts on deer, elk, antelope, big horn sheep, and for the first time on the Rocky Mountain Goat were set by the Colorado Game, Fish and Parks Commission May 28.

The Western Slope, including North Park, will open for deer hunting Oct. 17, and will be open through Nov. 5. Most of the Western Slope will be hunter's choice, two license, two deer areas. A large area around Craig, the Piceance Creek-Rangely area, the area west of the Laramie River and a section northeast and southeast of Gunnison have been restricted to one deer, hunter's choice.

The majority of the Eastern Slope including the San Luis Valley will open Oct. 24, and run through Nov. 1, and will be one deer, hunter's choice. Game Management Units 92 and 93 in the east central and northeastern sections of the state will open for a one deer, hunter's choice season Oct. 26, 27 and 28.

The only three deer areas slated for Colorado next fall, pre, post and regular, are seasons for the Southern Ute Indian Reservation, in the southwest corner of the state.

The commission approved four quality deer hunts this year. These seasons will be open for bucks only and will run Aug. 29 through Sept. 13 in the Mount Zirkel Wild Area, the Rawah Wild Area, the Sangre de Cristo Mountains and the San Juan Primitive Area.

A number of post seasons running from November into late December were approved for various sections of the state.

Archers will get a crack at one deer, hunter's choice, statewide, from Aug. 15 through Sept. 13. From Sept. 5 through Sept. 13 a regular elk license will allow archers to take one elk, hunter's choice, from the San Luis Valley only.

Regular elk season will get underway Oct. 17, including North Park, the San Luis Valley and that portion of Game Management Unit 7 west of the Laramie River. The season will run through Nov. 5.

The Eastern Slope elk season begins Oct. 24 in the northern section of the state and runs through Oct. 28. In the southern section of the Eastern Slope, the regular elk season begins Oct. 28, and continues through Nov. 1. One elk, antlered only, is the bag limit.

A total of 10,340 hunter's choice elk permits will be issued for the taking of either antlered or antlerless elk this year. 9810 were issued last year.

The antelope season will run from Sept. 19 through Sept. 21. 5685 permits have been authorized for the hunt, and the regulation preventing successful applicants for last year's permits to apply again this year, was rescinded by the commission for antelope only.

The bighorn sheep season will run from Aug. 22 through Sept. 27. Seasons in the Poudre and Watertown areas were set for Nov. 21 through Dec. 6.

Colorado's first season on the Rocky Mountain goat was set to run concurrent with the August - September sheep season. Areas 48 and 56 north of Chalk Creek in the Collegiate Peaks Range will be open for this season. Six permits are allowed for the season. The permits will be drawn at the same time as the sheep permits. Cost is $25, and the permits are limited to residents of the state.

The commission set the Colorado rabbit season to open with the regular opening days of the '64 deer season and to continue statewide through Feb. 28, 1965.

Two "hot spot" fishing reservoirs near here suffered severe winterkills this year, nearly wiping out the fishery resource in each.

La Jara Reservoir, southwest of Monte Vista, experienced a heavy loss of trout, leaving only a remnant of its normal population. Road Canyon Reservoir, west of Monte Vista, probably lost its entire trout population over the winter, according to Dave Lemons, southwest regional fisheries biologist with the Colorado Game, Fish and Parks Department.

Lemons set gill nets in each lake recently to check the extent of the fish kill. In La Jara his nets caught 4 brook trout and a number of suckers. Under normal conditions he says there would have been at least 25 trout in the net. At Road Canyon the nets captured only trash fish — no trout at all.

The fisheries biologist reports that La Jara will be re-stocked with brook trout fingerlings as soon as possible. No catchable trout will be put in the lake, as all that are produced are scheduled for other waters, plus the fact that it would take a tremendous amount of trout to even begin to re-populate a reservoir the size of La Jara.

Road Canyon, traditionally a brook trout lake, will receive a total of 3,000 pounds of catchable rainbows over the year. Brook trout fingerling will be planted there also.

Winter kill occurs when a weed-choked lake is covered so heavily with ice and snow that sunlight fails to reach the plants. The weeds, which normally release oxygen into the water as they grow, die and decay and absorb all the available oxygen as the decay proceeds. Without the necessary oxygen, fish actually smother, with the trout population the first casualty.

Trout fishermen are reminded that as of June 1, the daily bag and possession limit on trout jumps to 10. From that day through Oct. 31, fishermen may have in their possession 10 trout, or 10 silver salmon, or a combination of the two not exceeding 10. Silver salmon have been stocked experimentally in Parvin Lake and Lake Granby.

Daily bag and possession limits for other species are: walleye, 6; largemouth bass, 10; crappie, drum, white bass, yellow perch, bullhead catfish, 30 fish in the aggregate; channel catfish, 6 east of the Divide, 20 west of the Divide.

Solons Dispute New Plan for Foreign Aid

By GEOFFREY GOULD

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Democratic foreign aid spokesman in Congress came down hard today on a Republican proposal for a "special fund at the disposal of the President" for short-run foreign aid objectives.

Rep. Thomas E. Morgan, D-Pa., chairman of the House Foreign Affairs Committee, said enlarging the President's contingency fund in the present foreign aid program would accomplish the same objective.

Rep. Otto E. Passman, D-La., chairman of the Foreign Aid Appropriations subcommittee and no friend of foreign aid, also criticized the Republican proposal.

"Congress should make the decisions," Passman said. "I don't want to give the President blanket powers. When you give a slush fund like this it is not the President who decides how to use it—he's much too busy. It is the bureaucrats and spenders."

The special fund suggestion was in a policy statement issued by the Republican Critical Issues Council, headed by Dr. Milton Eisenhower, the former president's brother. The group has issued eight reports on major issues. Eisenhower plans to present the papers to the Republican Platform Committee at the GOP convention in San Francisco.

The task force which produced the current foreign aid policy statement was headed by former Rep. Walter Judd, of Minnesota, an influential spokesman on behalf of foreign aid when he was in Congress.

It makes several broad-brush suggestions for improving foreign aid, such as limiting it to "countries that have made up their minds on fundamental directions."

But the special presidential fund for short-range objectives stood out as a specific proposal.

The statement said short run purposes "include using aid in the hope of encouraging or enlarging cracks in the solidarity of international communism, as the aid previously given to Yugoslavia. Another example is 'to keep a foot in the door,' or 'to provide an alternative to Communist-bloc aid,' as in Cambodia. Aid also should not be given in the hope that it will win to the free world governments still on the fence."

Morgan said he felt most of the suggestions in the republican statement "fall in the definition of the President's contingency fund," which is already part of the bill.

"This fund is under continual attack by the enemies of foreign aid," Morgan added. "If the program were fragmented by providing a separate fund it would just make it more vulnerable."

Senate Is Set On Cloture in Civil Rights

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate is set to vote next Tuesday on cloture in the civil rights debate.

Here are some questions and answers on what is involved:

What is cloture?

How is it applied?

By the approval of two-thirds of the senators present and voting — 67 if all 100 are on hand.

Has it ever been used?

Never successfully when a civil rights bill was being filibustered; five times on other measures the last on Aug. 14, 1962 to break a filibuster against a bill to set up the Communications Satellite Corporation.

Why a cloture vote now?

The Southern filibuster against the civil rights bill is now in its 71st day and already is the longest on record. Senate leaders are convinced its primary objective is to stall action, and other Senate business long has been delayed. Besides, this is a presidential election year and President Johnson wants the civil rights bill passed.

How do Southerners view cloture?

As an attempt to gag them. They claim their long discourse against the bill serves an "educational" purpose — directing attention to what many of them charge is an unconstitutional measure. They cite, too, the long Senate tradition of free debate.

What happens if the cloture vote carries?

Senate leaders will move to call up the bill and each senator will be limited to one hour of talk on it and any amendments.

What happens if the cloture vote does not carry?

The Southerners will be free to continue their filibuster and will be able, if they so desire to prevent Senate action on this or any other bill for the remainder of the session.

Fifty-seven per cent of Washington, D.C.'s, residents were born outside the city, the Population Reference Bureau reports.

HUNTING and FISHING

By DICK MOORE

Comments originating from Game, Fish & Parks Department wildlife conservation officers throughout southeastern Colorado indicates that fishing has fallen off temporarily.

BONNY DAM, Dean Weyerman — Walleyes, crappies, white bass and blue gills are making up fair to good catches. Some good northern pike are being caught as are some drum. The roads have been recently graded and their condition commensurate with the weather. Bonny Reservoir is full.

HUGO, Don Lengel — Kenny and Karvel Lakes are fair for fishing on baits according to Lengel.

TRINIDAD, Edward Bechaver — Reporting on Monument and North Lakes, WCO Bechaver said that heavy rains have increased the water level althought the water level still remains five feet below normal. All roads to both lakes are open and good for traveling. Rains have reduced fishing to fair.

BEULAH-RYE, William Kent —Fishing has tapered off to just fair, Kent said. It has been rainy and stormy all week with lots of feed being washed into the lake. Paved and gravel roads are okay. Other roads are wet and muddy. The St. Charles River and Willis and Greenhorn Creeks are providing fair fishing. Most all fishing at this time is bait fishing due to rainy weather. Roads in the area, with the exceptions of pavement and gravel roads are wet and muddy.

WALSENBURG, J. Frank Cordova — Reporting on Martin and Horseshoe lakes at Lathrop State Park west of Walsenburg, Cordova said fishing has been fair to good. La Veta City Lakes is fair to good fishing for trout using baits. Lilly Lake in the high country is frozen. Huerfano River provides fair catches. The Cucharas River and Blue Lake are providing less than fair fishing. Roads in the area are generally good.

WESTCLIFFE, Dan Riggs — De Weese Reservoir water is low and dark colored with generally poor fishing. Balman Reservoir west of Hillside is low and clear. Rainbow Lake above Balman is free of ice. Riggs reported that roads in the area are dry and rough, indicating that rains of the past few days did not affect that area. The balance of the high lakes on the Sangre de Cristo Range are frozen. All streams in the Wet Mountain Valley are high and roily and generally poor fishing exists.

FREMONT - TELLER COUNTIES, Pret Steele — The Arkansas River water is high and muddy, providing only bait fishing. Eleven Mile Canyon is high and clear. Fishing poor. Beaver and Badger Creeks running a normal amount of water and are fair fishing for small fish.

Eleven Mile Reservoir, Wrights Reservoir and Brush Hollow Reservoir. waters are low and going down. Fishing success cannot even be classed as fair. Roads in these areas are wet and muddy.

BUENA VISTA-LEADVILLE Cody Jordan — apparently fishing activity in this area was practically non-existent for Jordan was unable to formard a report on conditions. However, Jordan did say that Cottonwood Pass is now open to four-wheel drive vehicles. A one-way track has been plowed through the existing snow.

Seasons and bag limits for hunts on deer, elk, antelope, big horn sheep, and for the first time on the Rocky Mountain Goat were set by the Colorado Game, Fish and Parks Commission May 28.

The Western Slope, including North Park, will open for deer hunting Oct. 17, and will be open through Nov. 5. Most of the Western Slope will be hunter's choice, two license, two deer areas. A large area around Craig, the Piceance Creek-Rangely area, the area west of the Laramie River and a section northeast and southeast of Gunnison have been restricted to one deer, hunter's choice.

The majority of the Eastern Slope including the San Luis Valley will open Oct. 24, and run through Nov. 1, and will be one deer, hunter's choice. Game Management Units 92 and 93 in the east central and northeastern sections of the state will open for a one deer, hunter's choice season Oct. 26, 27 and 28.

The only three deer areas slated for Colorado next fall, pre, post and regular, are seasons for the Southern Ute Indian Reservation, in the southwest corner of the state.

The commission approved four quality deer hunts this year. These seasons will be open for bucks only and will run Aug. 29 through Sept. 13 in the Mount Zirkel Wild Area, the Rawah Wild Area, the Sangre de Cristo Mountains and the San Juan Primitive Area.

A number of post seasons running from November into late December were approved for various sections of the state.

Archers will get a crack at one deer, hunter's choice, statewide, from Aug. 15 through Sept. 13. From Sept. 5 through Sept. 13 a regular elk license will allow archers to take one elk, hunter's choice, from the San Luis Valley only.

Regular elk season will get underway Oct. 17, including North Park, the San Luis Valley and that portion of Game Management Unit 7 west of the Laramie River. The season will run through Nov. 5.

The Eastern Slope elk season begins Oct. 24 in the northern section of the state and runs through Oct. 28. In the southern section of the Eastern Slope, the regular elk season begins Oct. 28, and continues through Nov. 1. One elk, antlered only, is the bag limit.

A total of 10,340 hunter's choice elk permits will be issued for the taking of either antlered or antlerless elk this year. 9810 were issued last year.

The antelope season will run from Sept. 19 through Sept. 21. 5685 permits have been authorized for the hunt, and the regulation preventing successful applicants for last year's permits to apply again this year, was rescinded by the commission for antelope only.

The bighorn sheep season will run from Aug. 22 through Sept. 27. Seasons in the Poudre and Watertown areas were set for Nov. 21 through Dec. 6.

Colorado's first season on the Rocky Mountain goat was set to run concurrent with the August - September sheep season. Areas 48 and 56 north of Chalk Creek in the Collegiate Peaks Range will be open for this season. Six permits are allowed for the season. The permits will be drawn at the same time as the sheep permits. Cost is $25, and the permits are limited to residents of the state.

The commission set the Colorado rabbit season to open with the regular opening days of the '64 deer season and to continue statewide through Feb. 28, 1965.

Two "hot spot" fishing reservoirs near here suffered severe winterkills this year, nearly wiping out the fishery resource in each.

La Jara Reservoir, southwest of Monte Vista, experienced a heavy loss of trout, leaving only a remnant of its normal population. Road Canyon Reservoir, west of Monte Vista, probably lost its entire trout population over the winter, according to Dave Lemons, southwest regional fisheries biologist with the Colorado Game, Fish and Parks Department.

Lemons set gill nets in each lake recently to check the extent of the fish kill. In La Jara his nets caught 4 brook trout and a number of suckers. Under normal conditions he says there would have been at least 25 trout in the net. At Road Canyon the nets captured only trash fish — no trout at all.

The fisheries biologist reports that La Jara will be re-stocked with brook trout fingerlings as soon as possible. No catchable trout will be put in the lake, as all that are produced are scheduled for other waters, plus the fact that it would take a tremendous amount of trout to even begin to re-populate a reservoir the size of La Jara.

Road Canyon, traditionally a brook trout lake, will receive a total of 3,000 pounds of catchable rainbows over the year. Brook trout fingerling will be planted there also.

Winter kill occurs when a weed-choked lake is covered so heavily with ice and snow that sunlight fails to reach the plants. The weeds, which normally release oxygen into the water as they grow, die and decay and absorb all the available oxygen as the decay proceeds. Without the necessary oxygen, fish actually smother, with the trout population the first casualty.

Trout fishermen are reminded that as of June 1, the daily bag and possession limit on trout jumps to 10. From that day through Oct. 31, fishermen may have in their possession 10 trout, or 10 silver salmon, or a combination of the two not exceeding 10. Silver salmon have been stocked experimentally in Parvin Lake and Lake Granby.

Daily bag and possession limits for other species are: walleye, 6; largemouth bass, 10; crappie, drum, white bass, yellow perch, bullhead catfish, 30 fish in the aggregate; channel catfish, 6 east of the Divide, 20 west of the Divide.

Miss Day, Former Suffragette, Dies

HARTFORD, Conn. (AP)—Miss Katharine Seymour Day, former suffragette who was largely responsible for preserving Mark Twain's Hartford home, died Thursday in her home—a former residence of Harriet Beecher Stowe.

Miss Day, 94, was descended from Thomas Hooker, the Congregational clergyman who was among the founding fathers of Hartford. She also was related to the famed Beecher family.

During her suffragette days she once rode on horseback from house to house to rally support for women's voting rights.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

MEDICAL BROWSING

Baboons are becoming man's best friend. They are too expensive to substitute for guinea pigs in the laboratory but no other animal produces experimental data so applicable to humans. These apes are preferred in studying such problems as neurosis, heart and lung diseases, and gynecological disorders.

Many top scientists advocate their use for medical research even tho they are not plentiful and cost $150 to $200 each. According to the Journal of the American Medical Association, these animals develop arteriosclerosis similar to that in man even though they are vegetarians. They are not susceptible to the usual viruses that plague other primates. Females have a 30 day menstrual cycle and a 27 week gestation period.

Neurotic baboons often develop hypertension and coronary heart disease that are similar to these conditions in humans. They become nervous when the daily routine is changed, pacing about the cage and swinging their head in a pendulum-like fashion.

Gasoline and flames make a dangerous combination. The power lawn mowers brings more and more gasoline cans into basements and utility rooms. Young children playing in the room may overturn a container and the pilot light in the gas water heater ignites the gasoline. Parents must be alert to this death trap.

An Ohio surgeon is working on a mechanical heart that is strapped to the side of the body and connected to the blood vessels. Dr. Donald B. Effler, of the Cleveland Clinic Foundation, has used this unit on calves and it has functioned as long as 22 hours.

A mechanical heart of this type has unlimited possibilities, especially if it can be perfected to the point where it will work indefinitely. Life could be prolonged in hospitalized patients who happen to encounter what otherwise might be a fatal heart attack. The compact cardiac unit might be used as a temporary measure while an ailing heart is recuperating from coronary thrombosis.

Dr. Van Dellen will answer questions on medical topics if stamped, self - addressed envelope accompanies request.

Contraceptive Pills

S. S. writes: Will taking birth control pills for a few years prevent pregnancy after they are discontinued?

Reply

No. According to studies, fertility is not diminished after terminating this form of contraception. In some instances, the chance of becoming pregnant is enhanced, possibly because the ovaries have been at rest while taking the pills.

No Effect On Eyes

B. L. writes: Will plastic surgery on the nose affect the eyes of a person who wears contact lenses?

Reply

No. The lenses are made to fit the corneas of the eyes. Plastic surgery on the nose will not affect these structures.

Exercise In Hypertension

H. M. writes: Is it harmful for a person with high blood pressure to stay out in the sun and swim and do other exercises?

Reply

No—in moderation.

Warm Bath

Mrs. W. R. writes: Should a child in a convulsion be given a warm or a cold bath?

Reply

Warm. But bathing may not be necessary unless the convulsion is prolonged.

Leg Shingles

H. L. G. writes: Can shingles occur around the ankle?

Reply

Yes.

Jack Ruby Takes Tranquilizer Pills

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Condemned slayer Jack Ruby has started taking tranquilizer pills recommended by psychiatrists for what they call his "psychotic depression," a doctor said Thursday.

Ruby, 53, under death sentence for killing accused presidential assassin Lee Harvey Oswald, refused the first mind-easing drugs earlier this week.

A source close to the Ruby family said the former night club operator claimed the pills were poison.

Judge Joe B. Brown authorized mental treatment for Ruby in his jail cell while he decides whether to order a sanity hearing. The judge has called a show-cause hearing with lawyers June 19.

U.S. Negotiates With France on Asian Issues

By JOSEPH E. DYNAN

PARIS (AP)—U.S. Undersecretary of State George W. Ball arrived in Paris today to confer with President Charles de Gaulle on the situation in Southeast Asia.

Ball, the State Department's No. 2 man, was to meet with Foreign Minister Maurice Couve de Murville and then see De Gaulle at the president's Elysee Palace. He goes to London over the weekend for talks with British officials.

By coincidence, De Gaulle will receive Communist China's first ambassador to France, Huang Chen, for the first time Saturday. The envoy will present his credentials.

Asked about published reports that relations between the U.S. and French governments are worsening, Ball replied, "We remain firm allies."

Secretary of State Dean Rusk and Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara, who attended the Honolulu session, reported earlier this week to Johnson on the situation in South Viet Nam, Laos and the rest of Southeast Asia—an area where American and French policies differ. Ball sat in on the White House meeting.

American officials said that if Johnson has made any decisions on further U.S. action in Southeast Asia, Ball with relay them to De Gaulle.

The United States is committed to continuance of the war in South Viet Nam against the Communist Viet Cong until the anti-Communist government can defend itself without help. The French argue that a military solution is impossible and have called for a neutralization of the area endorsed by Red China.

Miss Day, Former Suffragette, Dies

HARTFORD, Conn. (AP)—Miss Katharine Seymour Day, former suffragette who was largely responsible for preserving Mark Twain's Hartford home, died Thursday in her home—a former residence of Harriet Beecher Stowe.

Miss Day, 94, was descended from Thomas Hooker, the Congregational clergyman who was among the founding fathers of Hartford. She also was related to the famed Beecher family.

During her suffragette days she once rode on horseback from house to house to rally support for women's voting rights.

U.S. Negotiates With France on Asian Issues

By JOSEPH E. DYNAN

PARIS (AP)—U.S. Undersecretary of State George W. Ball arrived in Paris today to confer with President Charles de Gaulle on the situation in Southeast Asia.

Ball, the State Department's No. 2 man, was to meet with Foreign Minister Maurice Couve de Murville and then see De Gaulle at the president's Elysee Palace. He goes to London over the weekend for talks with British officials.

By coincidence, De Gaulle will receive Communist China's first ambassador to France, Huang Chen, for the first time Saturday. The envoy will present his credentials.

Asked about published reports that relations between the U.S. and French governments are worsening, Ball replied, "We remain firm allies."

Secretary of State Dean Rusk and Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara, who attended the Honolulu session, reported earlier this week to Johnson on the situation in South Viet Nam, Laos and the rest of Southeast Asia—an area where American and French policies differ. Ball sat in on the White House meeting.

American officials said that if Johnson has made any decisions on further U.S. action in Southeast Asia, Ball with relay them to De Gaulle.

The United States is committed to continuance of the war in South Viet Nam against the Communist Viet Cong until the anti-Communist government can defend itself without help. The French argue that a military solution is impossible and have called for a neutralization of the area endorsed by Red China.

MEDICAL BROWSING

Baboons are becoming man's best friend. They are too expensive to substitute for guinea pigs in the laboratory but no other animal produces experimental data so applicable to humans. These apes are preferred in studying such problems as neurosis, heart and lung diseases, and gynecological disorders.

Many top scientists advocate their use for medical research even tho they are not plentiful and cost $150 to $200 each. According to the Journal of the American Medical Association, these animals develop arteriosclerosis similar to that in man even though they are vegetarians. They are not susceptible to the usual viruses that plague other primates. Females have a 30 day menstrual cycle and a 27 week gestation period.

Neurotic baboons often develop hypertension and coronary heart disease that are similar to these conditions in humans. They become nervous when the daily routine is changed, pacing about the cage and swinging their head in a pendulum-like fashion.

Gasoline and flames make a dangerous combination. The power lawn mowers brings more and more gasoline cans into basements and utility rooms. Young children playing in the room may overturn a container and the pilot light in the gas water heater ignites the gasoline. Parents must be alert to this death trap.

An Ohio surgeon is working on a mechanical heart that is strapped to the side of the body and connected to the blood vessels. Dr. Donald B. Effler, of the Cleveland Clinic Foundation, has used this unit on calves and it has functioned as long as 22 hours.

A mechanical heart of this type has unlimited possibilities, especially if it can be perfected to the point where it will work indefinitely. Life could be prolonged in hospitalized patients who happen to encounter what otherwise might be a fatal heart attack. The compact cardiac unit might be used as a temporary measure while an ailing heart is recuperating from coronary thrombosis.

Dr. Van Dellen will answer questions on medical topics if stamped, self - addressed envelope accompanies request.

Contraceptive Pills

S. S. writes: Will taking birth control pills for a few years prevent pregnancy after they are discontinued?

Reply

No. According to studies, fertility is not diminished after terminating this form of contraception. In some instances, the chance of becoming pregnant is enhanced, possibly because the ovaries have been at rest while taking the pills.

No Effect On Eyes

B. L. writes: Will plastic surgery on the nose affect the eyes of a person who wears contact lenses?

Reply

No. The lenses are made to fit the corneas of the eyes. Plastic surgery on the nose will not affect these structures.

Exercise In Hypertension

H. M writes: Is it harmful for a person with high blood pressure to stay out in the sun and swim and do other exercises?

Reply

Warm Bath

Mrs. W. R. writes: Should a child in a convulsion be given a warm or a cold bath?

Reply

Warm. But bathing may not be necessary unless the convulsion is prolonged.

Leg Shingles

Reply

Yes.

Jack Ruby Takes Tranquilizer Pills

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Condemned slayer Jack Ruby has started taking tranquilizer pills recommended by psychiatrists for what they call his "psychotic depression," a doctor said Thursday.

Ruby, 53, under death sentence for killing accused presidential assassin Lee Harvey Oswald, refused the first mind-easing drugs earlier this week.

A source close to the Ruby family said the former night club operator claimed the pills were poison.

Judge Joe B. Brown authorized mental treatment for Ruby in his jail cell while he decides whether to order a sanity hearing. The judge has called a show-cause hearing with lawyers June 19.
